Hour Time Limit on Debate May Push CR Through by Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today, in a history-shattering move, to choke off the 75-day old Southern filibuster against the civil rights bill.

Each senator's time to debate the bill and all amendments will now be limited to one hour. This appears to assure Senate passage of the far-reaching bill, possibly before the end of next week.

The House passed the bill on Feb. 10 by a vote of 290-130. The Senate has been battling over it since March 9, with Southern opponents mounting a record - breaking filibuster against it.

Galleries Packed

The Senate's public galleries were packed as the crucial vote on cloture was taken. Tight security was maintained around the Capitol as additional persons pressed for a chance to get in.

The vote followed an all-night session of the Senate at which Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., made a marathon speech attacking the civil rights bill and urging his colleagues not to shut off the debate.

The vote to apply the Senate's debate - limiting cloture rule was 71 to 29. This was four more votes than the required two-thirds majority.

Byrd began his speech at 7:38 p.m. and continued until 9:52 a.m. When he finally quit, the Senate took an eight-minute recess, then went back into session. It had agreed Tuesday to meet at 10 a.m. today.

Failed in Past

Since the adoption of the cloture rule in 1917, all previous attempts to use it to cut off a filibuster against a civil rights bill had failed.

Leaders of both parties became convinced in the face of the all-out opposition of the Dixie forces to the present bill that debate-limitation had to be obtained if the bill was to pass.

Just before the vote, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois introduced the leaders' substitute bill worked out with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Wins Crucial GOP Votes

Overnight, the substitute had been revised further to include the jury trial amendment adopted 51-48 in the Senate Tuesday.

The adoption of the amendment, sponsored by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., was credited with winning some crucial Republican votes for cloture.

Off-the-floor maneuvering continued right up to the hour of the vote.

Leadership hopes of mustering the two-thirds majority were bolstered by the Senate's rejection Tuesday of three amendments by substantial margins after a jury trial amendment was adopted by 51 to 48 count.

A chance to vote on the amendments before the cloture showdown was demanded by a group of Republican senators, led by Sen. Bourke B. Hickelooper of Iowa, whose support was regarded as essential if cloture was to be obtained.

Hickenlooper, chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee, said after the amendments were acted on that he would vote for cloture .Not to do so, he said, would be "only a delaying tactic."

Nearly 500 amendments have been proposed in addition to a package of amendments which Democratic and Republican leaders have drafted as a substitute for the House - passed measure.

Supporters of the civil rights measure won their biggest victories Tuesday in votes on the equal employment opportunity section, regarded as perhaps the most controversial part of the legislation.

By a vote of 64 to 33, the Senate defeated an amendment by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to strike out this section prohibiting discrimination in employment on account of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. It would apply to employers, labor unions and employment agencies.

Official Count Made For Bush, Newcombe; Other Primary Polls

The Official canvass of the vote cast on Primary Day, June 2, shows that State Senator E. Ogden Bush (R) of DeLancey lost Ulster County to his opponent Lloyd A. Newcombe, Catskill business wan and former Kingston resident, by 500 votes.

While Newcombe carried his own county of Greene by close to 3,500 votes and came out ahead by 500 votes in Ulster County, he was defeated by Senator Bush for the nomination of state senator.

Wins Delaware, Sullivan

Both Delaware County, Senator Bush's home county, and Sullivan County gave Senator Bush a good plurality. Unofficial figures from Delaware County indicate Dr Bush carried his home county by 4,296 and Sullivan County also gave Dr. Bush a good plurality.

In Ulster County the Town of Saugerties, which adjoins Greene County to the south, gave Newcombe 851 votes while Senator Bush received 417. In the Town of Hurley Newcombe received 490 votes and Senator Bush 87. However, another trend was found in the Town of Shandaken where Senator Bush, the "regular" Republican candidate, received 236 votes and Newcombe only 41.

The City of Kingston gave Newcombe a total of 995 votes and Senator Bush received 726, Newcombe carrying the city by 296 votes.

Official canvass of the vote for the county and city of Kingston gives Newcombe 4,722 votes, Senator Bush 4,222. Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, received eight votes, Arthur DeWitt Jr., 1. The total vote cast was 9,792 with 272 blank and 576 void ballots.

Wilson Wins

In the contest for Republican delegates to the National Convention, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock received 5,757 and Myrtle Tinkelpaugh of Columbia County 4,954 to win over their opponents, supporters of Senator Barry Goldwater, Kent Leavitt of Millbrook, Dutchess County, and Lewis Irwin Hall of West Hurley.

Leavitt received 3,103 votes and Hall 2,777. There were 2,061 blank ballots and 926 void ballots. Orville E. Norman received one vote, M. Richard Terwilliger one, Richard Nixon two votes, John C. Lodge one vote and Henry C. Lodge one vote. There were 19,584 votes cast.

In the Conservative Party contest for State Senator, Newcombe received 72 votes to win that party designation over Senator E. Ogden Bush who received 19 votes. There was a total of 116 votes cast of which three were void and eight were blank. Again Supervisor George Majestic (D), Town of Gardiner supervisor, had his name written in by 11 voters, Howard Fox received a vote and Bernard Singer received two votes.

In a close contest for Democratic State Committeewoman the incumbent, Harriett Allen Kerr of New Paltz received 1504 votes to defeat her opponent, Dorothy Narel of West Hurley who received 1458 votes, by 46 votes. There were 3186 votes cast. There were 23 blank and 201 void ballots.

Report Conservative Vote

Eric M. Rickard of Woodstock received 90 votes of the Conservative Party total to defeat Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R) of Woodstock for the Conservative Party choice for assemblyman on the Conservative Party ticket. There was a total of 116 ballots with 11 blanks and three void.

The Board of Elections completed the official canvass of the Primary Vote on Monday.

Notes Dim U.S. View On Crisis

Rusk Aide Also Going to Ankara

GENEVA (AP) — President Johnson has ordered Undersecretary of State George W. BAll to fly to Athens to warn the Greek government of the serious view the United States takes of the sharpening crisis over Cyprus, American officials said today.

Ball was to leave Geneva in an American military plane today.

May Go to Ankara

He may go later to Ankara for talks with Turkish leaders. He was due back in Washington on Thursday to report to the President.

Ball has been in Geneva since Monday for the closing stage of the United Nations trade and development conference.

President Makarios of Cyprus, leader of the Greek Cypriots, callled Tuesday night for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council meeting to "denounce threats of the Turkish government to invade our island."

Says Forces Deployed

In a note to heads of state and government he charged that Turkey "has now amassed a a great number of naval and air forces ready for immediate invasion of Cyprus."

He accused the Turks of repeatedly violating air space over Cyprus and dropping arms to Turkish Cypriots.

Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou, dispatched by Makarios to arrange for the council meeting, told newsmen he planned to see Council President Arsene Assouan of the Ivory Coast today.

Anticipate Trouble

Kyprianou, whose plane landed in Boston because of weather conditions over New York, said Cyprus was relatively calm, but "in view of statements and information we have, we anticipate trouble from Turkey."

Makarios called for council action after repeated invasion alarms had been sounded in both Nicosia and Athens.

There was no indication in Turkey that an invasion force was poised to attack the island where Turkish and Greek Cypriot factions have been engaged in a bitter struggle. The Ankara government has warned, however, that it would invade if it considered it necessary to protect the rights of Turkish Cypriot minority.

Ellenville Votes School Budget, Others to Ballot

Ellenville Central School District voters on Tuesday approved a $1,898,755 budget for 1964-65 by a vote of 400-283. The original budget of $1,903,330 had been defeated twice prior to slight reductions made by the Board of Education.

Two Ballot Today

Rhinebeck and Marlboro Central School Districts today are voting on new school propositions. Voting at Marlboro was scheduled at the Central High School in that community from 1 to 9 p. m., and at Rhinebeck the voting hours at the high school were scheduled from 2 to 9 p. m.

Voters in Ellenville approved the budget after about $4,500 had been slashed, including items for musical instruments. A motion to cut an $8,000 item for transportation for students residing within 1½ miles of the school was defeated by an overwhelming vote.

Beaten Twice in May

Ellenville's original budget of $1,903,330, an increase of $70,358 over the current 1963-64 budget, was defeated on May 26 by a vote of 548-412. The proposed budget on May 5 was defeated by a slim margin—241-212.

The Board of Education had slashed increments for non-teaching personnel of the school by one-third, as well as those of the secretaries, totaling $2,241.29.

It's A Girl For Russian Space Gal

MOSCOW (AP) — The world's only space woman, Valentina Nikolayevna - Tereshkova, gave birth to a daughter last Sunday, the Soviet news agency Tass announced today.

The baby's father is Soviet spaceman Andrian Nikolayev, who orbited the earth in August 1962, with Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich. Valentina orbited the earth in company with Valery Bykovsky in June 1963.

Both Doing Well

Both mother and daughter are well, Tass said.

Usually reliable sources said the baby weighed nearly 7 pounds.

Valentina and Nikolayev were married in Moscow last Nov. 3 and spent their honeymoon touring South Asian countries.

Although the baby is the first born to an astronaut couple, Gherman Titov was the first astronaut to become a father after orbiting the earth. His wife gave birth to a daughter, Tanya, last September.

Valentina, whose married name according to Russian custom is Nikolayevna-Tersehkova, is 27. Nikolayev is 34.

Goldwater Eyes Four From East Likely for Vice President Spot

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater — standing on the threshold of the Republican presidential nomination — is eying four Eastern GOP leaders as he thinks about a running mate.

To his closest associates, Goldwater has mentioned these names as possible vice-presidential choices:

—Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.

—Rep. William E. Miller of New York.

—Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio.

Goldwater hasn't ruled anybody in or out of the running, a source close to the Arizona senator said today.

But Goldwater has said he thinks the Republican National Convention will want to balance the ticket—if he heads it—with a moderate Republican from the East.

Avoids Mention

The four men associates say Goldwater has mentioned all fit that pattern.

Publicly, Goldwater usually bypasses questions about a vice-presidential choice. "I'm looking for delegates, not vice presidents," is his stock reply.

He has talked about Scranton, suggesting the Pennsylvania governor would be well advised to consider the vice-presidential nomination.

That way, Goldwater said Sunday, if the ticket lost, the governor would be in a position to capture the presidential nomination in 1968.

Scranton questioned wether a ticket paring him with Goldwater would make sense. He said they would disagree on how best to implement some Republican principles.

But Goldwater described their areas of disagreement as very minor.

With his delegate strength mounting steadily toward the 655 votes he needs for the nomination, Goldwater was said by an aide to be viewing the vice-presidential spot in terms of how best to strengthen the ticket (Continued on Page 39, Col., 5)

Attack Made On Marchers In Fla. City

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Gangs of screaming white men and youths attacked white and Negro marchers with fists and feet in bold defiance of the law in this old city.

The slugging, kicking attackers moved in on their victims—marching two abreast on a downtown sidewalk—and then fled when policemen armed with clubs moved in Tuesday night.

About a dozen demonstrators were assaulted. The violence ended when marchers returned to the church where they began their protest.

No Arrests

Police headquarters said there were no arrests.

The march came within a few hours after a federal judge in Jacksonville ordered police to lift their ban on night demonstrations and to reduce bail for a group of marchers arrested earlier.

"Despite what happened, we are going to continue protest- (Continued on Page 39, Col., 8)

Walker Quoted As Powerless in Ole Miss Riot

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)— A witness presented by Edwin A. Walker quoted the former Army major general as saying Walker was powerless to stop the University of Mississippi student riot if he had wanted to.

The trial of the $2-million civil libel suit Walker filed against The Associated Press resumed today.

Talmadge Witt, 43, former Pontotoc, Miss., deputy sheriff, testified Tuesday he was near Walker on the University of Mississippi campus the night of Sept. 30, 1962 during a night-long riot over admission of Negro James H. Meredith. Witt said he heard an Episcopalian minister, the Rev. Duncan Gray beg Walker to stop the student attacks on rioting U.S. marshals who fired tear gas in return.

Witt quoted Walker as saying: "I'm not here to break it up. I didn't come here to break it up. I couldn't break it up if I wanted to."

Witt said, on cross-examination by J. A. Gooch, an Associated Press attorney, that Walker later told a group of the rioting students: "Protest all you want to. They (the marshals) may run out of (tear) gas. Help is on the way thousands are coming."

Rockefeller Going Before Convention for Nov. Run

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's present plan is to have his name placed in nomination for president before the Republican convention, a close political associate said today.

"That was the idea all along, and there's no change," said Fred A. Young, the GOP state chairman.

Rockefeller said after his defeat in the California presidential primary that he was not dropping out of the White House race. There has been some doubt, however, over how far he would persist in the face of steady gains by Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Young commented in an interview as New York's delegation to the convention prepared to gather here Thursday for a formal organizational meeting.

Although Rockefeller is conceded to have 86 of the 92 delegates on an informal basis, Young said there were no plans to put the delegation formally on record now.

At the same time, Young confirmed previous reports that Rockefeller would lead the delegation personally as chairmen—a post not normally held by active presidential contenders.

Custom dictates that potential nominees not appear on the convention floor until after the balloting is ended.

It was expected that Young would be named vice-chairman and occupy Rockefeller's seat during any absence from the floor.

The delegation will meet Thursday after a business session of the Republican State Committee, some of whose members also are delegates.

Fails Fifth Grade, But He's in Genius Class

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Billy Green, who is failing his fifth grade subjects, is going to college this summer.

Billy, 12, scored 200 on an intelligence test administered by the University of South Florida. The genius category starts at 140.

County school Supt. Woodrow Garden says Billy reads eight to 12 advanced science books a week but struggles with his fifth grade work, perhaps because it doesn't challenge him.

The board of Brevard Junior College voted Tuesday to allow Billy to enroll in one course.

Billy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Green of Eau Gallie, Fla., probably will take a mathematics or science course.

"We want to determine what kind of program he should have," said Garden.

Knife Near Tree Clue To Youth's Position

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A 15-year-old Atlanta youth was recovering Wednesday from injuries after he fell from a 75-foot tower and spent three days in a wooded area before he was found.

Police said the clue that saved Eugene Harold Thrailkill's life was the knife he stuck in the ground at the tower's base before he started to climb it.

Searchers found the knife Monday night and concentrated the hunt in that area. Thrailkill was discovered Tuesday in dense underbrush.

Doctors said the youth suffuered a slight concussion, a dislocated hip, cuts and bruises. His condition was described as satisfactory.

Uncle Sam Complains Water Bill Too High

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Uncle Sam took on the role of a private citizen here and complained about his water bill.

The director of the Veterans Administration domiciliary, E. C. McDaniel, told city officials the domiciliary's water bill had jumped 84 per cent under a new rate plan and he urgently needed an adjustment.

Otherwise, he said, he would be compelled to readjust his budget to the extent of firing at least one employe.

Police Say Boy, 4, Fatally Wounded Dad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police say a shot fired by a 4-year-old boy fatally wounded his father.

The father, Leonard Thierry, 32, forced his son, Glen, to shoot him after threatening to spank the boy with a belt, police reported.

Thierry died Tuesday.

He and his wife had quarreled Sunday night. She left home. Thierry asked two of the couple's older children to shoot him in the head. They refused.

Glen also refused until threatened with the spanking.

After the shooting, officers found Mrs. Thierry and returned the children to her care.

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising metal prices reflect both the increasing industrial demand and higher production costs. So far little of the rise has been passed along to the consumer. Manufacturers have been able to lower the labor cost per unit of output.

Metals Going Up

Thus basic commodity price increases in themselves don't necessarily spell general inflation.

Involved have been steel, aluminum, copper, zinc, lead, tin. The creeping advance has been stretched over the last 12 months.

At first the increases were on selected products in active demand. Weakness in other products has brought price cuts.

But basic metal prices are now beginning to rise. Latest are aluminum ingots which are going up half a cent to 24 cents a pound, or back to where they were in December 1962, but stilll short of the 26 cents a pound of September 1961.

The cautious approach in aluminum and some other metals has been dictated by competition both at home and abroad.

Rough Going Recently

Many metal producers have indicated no hurry to cripple demand by pricing their products higher than the substitutes which increasingly plague them.

Technological advances have brought individual metals in competition with each other for particular uses. Price often can be the determining factor with purchasing agents.

Metals also have had rough going in recent years as their markets were invaded by plastics, glass, concrete and wood.

Metals are peculiarly tied to developments in foreign lands. Sometimes this is surplus capacity to produce, so that foreign output rises automatically with world demand, leaving American producers right where they were competitively. Often cheaper production costs abroad threaten American metal price structures.

So small are some plots of terraced land on the island of Bali that they hold only four rice plants each.

770 Scouts Participate In Tri-Mount Camporee

Cope With Weather

Again this year the camping mettle of the Scouts and Explorers was put to the test by rainy weather conditions which prevailed during most of the weekend period. Just for the record, the great majority of the Scouts showed that they took the Scout motto, "Be Prepared," seriously, and thus were able to cope with the adverse weather condition.

Scouts and Explorers descended on Tri-Mount from all points of the compass starting Friday afternoon, and started to set up their unit campsites for the weekend camporee. By dusk the fields surrounding the new camp dining hall were well filled with colorful tent campsites and teeming with Scouts and Explorers engaged in various campcraft activities.

The Camporee officially opened with a flag-raising ceremony held on the camp parade ground Saturday morning. On hand to welcome the Scouts to the American Heritage Camporee was Council Commissioner Kenneth Magyar of Saugerties, who served as Camporee Chief for the weekend event.

The featured event Saturday morning and afternoon was a "Scouting Trail" program in which Scout patrols competed in 16 different Scoutcraft and physical fitness activities. The various stations along the trail were manned by Explorers, Senior Scouts and central Camporee staff members. Harry Slobodian, Boy Scout Roundtable Commissioner of the Saugerties District, was in charge of the Scouting Trail program.

Some 75 Scout Patrols competed in the Scouting Trail events. Following are the patrols which qualified for top honors:

Qualify for Honors

Nianque, Wowplaw Patrols, Troop 9; Mohawk and Falcon Patrols, Troop 3; Bat Patrol, Troop 11; Barracuda Patrol, Troop 6; Aquanaut Patrol, Troop 19; Vampire Bat Patrol, Troop 20 — all of the Kingston District. The Raven Patrol, Troop 63, Western District; the Pine Tree, Wolf and Flaming Arrow Patrols, Troop 70; the Eagle Patrol, Troop 72, and the Beaver Patrol, Troop 76 — all of the Southern District.

Due to the rain, which started Saturday afternoon and continued Saturday night, the outdoor American Heritage Pageant Campfire program was postponed until Sunday morning.

In accordance with the Twelfth Scout Law, "A Scout Is Reverent," boys of the Protestant or Catholic faiths attended worship services, which were held in the new camp dining hall due to the wet weather conditions.

Officiating at the Catholic Mass was the Rev. William Anderson of Mt. Saint Alphonsus Seminary, Esopus.

Protestant Church services were conducted by the Rev. Merton Cady of Hensonville.

Following church services the entire contingent assembled on the camp parade ground for an impressive Order of the Arrow "Tapout" ceremony conducted by Half Moon Lodge, Order of the Arrow, Advisor, Kenneth Magyar. A large group of Scouts and adult leaders were nominated for membership in the Order of the Arrow, which is a Camping Service and Honor Society.

Climaxing the weekend Camporee program Sunday morning was a colorful "Strengthen America's Heritage" Pageant, directed by Assistant District Commissioner Robert Tremper of Ulster Park.

Highlights of the pageant included an opening ceremony, portraying the Spirit of '76, with Scouts attired in colonial costumes and playing Yankee Doodle Dandy on their fifes and drums; and a most impressive reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by Eagle Scout William Daum of Troop 9, Kingston. Scout Daum was dressed as Lincoln, including his famous stove pipe hat. Appropriate recorded background music added to the impressiveness of the pageant. The program concluded with the singing of God Bless America by the 800 Scouts, leaders and parents who witnessed the stirring American Heritage Pageant.

Get Inspection Ribbons

In the Camporee inspection phase of the weekend program headed by David Bright of Blue Mountain, the following Troops and Posts were awarded blue ribbons attesting to their proficiency in camping: Troop 26, Port Ewen; Troops 9, 12, Kingston; Post 12, Kingston; Post 20, Hurley; Troop 76, Wallkill; Troop 700, Highland; Troop 34, Woodstock; Troop 22, Kerhonkson; Troop 28, Ellenville; Troop 63, Olive; Troop 163, West Shokan; and Troop 45, Coxsackie.

Serving on the 1964 Camporee Staff were: Sherwood Lasher, Thomas Orr, Louis Gerbon, Richard Waltman, Harold Harrison, all of Kingston; Robert Tremper, Ulster Park; Wallace Elston, Stone Ridge; Anthony Zinnanti, Catskill; Ira Smith, Ellenville; John Carlson, David Bright, Kenneth Magyar, Harry Slobodian, Seth Pope, Robert Gardner, all of Saugerties and Harrison Cornish, Port Ewen.

Representing the Rip Van Winkle Council professional staff were Council Scout Executive Alex Macdonald, Hurley; District Scout Executive John Vliet, Catskill and District Scout Executive Kenneth Malchow, Rosendale.

Cannes Festival Proves Hypo for Unwanted Film

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Last year it was "David and Lisa." This year "One Potato, Two Potato" is the Cinderella movie.

Both films were created against great odds by tyro movie makers using unknown actors and authentic backgrounds. Both were treated like orphans until film festival honors stirred interest in their commercial possibilities.

Made by Filmland Vets

"One Potato, Two Potato" was made by two veterans of Hollywood television — producer Sam Weston, 36, lookalike brother of comedian Jack Weston, and director Larry Peerce, 34, son of famed tenor Jan Peerce. Yet the film is not of Hollywood, nor does it deal with a subject that the major studios would ordinarily touch.

Its theme is miscegenation. A white Midwestern divorcee with a daughter marries a fellow factory worker who is a Negro. Her first husband appears after having deserted her, and he sues for custody of the child. The judge decides in favor of the father.

Two-Year Ordeal

Weston told about the two-year ordeal in getting "One Potato, Two Potato" financed, filmed and finally looked at.

First came the matter of money. With a large assist from Larry's mother, an expert fund raiser for charity, the two boys lined up a list of likely backers. They had to sell the prospects on contributing, then return to collect after they had organized as a limited partnership.

Filming started last August on the script, written by veteran author Raphael Hayes. It was shot in 34 days at Painesville, Ohio, which Weston remembered from his youth as a "typical, Grant Wood type of Midwest town." Actors were recruited from Hollywood and New York and in Painesville as well.

Ready to Reap Rewards

The novice film makers' troubles weren't over. After putting the movie together, they found they couldn't sell it.

"Distributors liked the picture but they didn't know what to do with it," said Weston. "And they were worried about losing the Southern market."

But an agent liked the film and showed it to British Lion, which bought the world rights. Then came the Cannes Film Festival, where "One Potato, Two Potato" drew the biggest ovation in nine years and Barbara Barrie was co-winner of the best actress award. Now Weston and Peerce are ready to reap the rewards of their adventure.

GOLDWATER IS CLOSE

The Associated Press figures that Senator Goldwater now has a firm grasp on 436 of the 655 delegate votes needed to win the Republican presidential nomination. Some of his supporters, with apparent reason, offer much more optmistic estimates than that. In any case, the California primary outcome has put Goldwater very close to being the GOP standard bearer in the coming election.

During the next few weeks there will be a vigorous effort behind the scenes to slow down the Goldwater bandwagon. This might be done, in the rather unlikely event that all the significant moderate and liberal forces in the Republican party were able to combine their forces. But at this writing the chances appear to be that the conservative wing of the party will at least send a candidate to the hustings.

Some of the most astute GOP leaders read the cards that way. Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, keynoter and temporary chairman of the Republican convention, said even before all the California votes were tallied that Goldwater appeared to have enough delegate strength to get the nomination. Sen. Thruston Morton noted that his Arizona colleague was now "'way out in front." And a Democrat of some renown as a political observer, none other than President Johnson, appeared convinced that his opponent next fall would be Goldwater.

If that is indeed the outcome, the nation will for the first time in decades have a clear choice betwen the strongly liberal and strongly conservative trends in American political philosophy. The ultimate impact of such a test on the direction of our national future would be profound and far-reaching.

FREEDOM'S SYMBOL

Distractions beset us and it is a good idea occasionally for the sake of our personal and national sense of direction to reserve a time for taking stock. This country will observe National Flag Week from June 14 through June 20 this year—let us renew the custom of showing the colors and recall the ideals for which they stand.

Whether snapping in a stiff breeze or hanging in dignified repose, it is impossible to look at the stars and stripes without seeing reflected in them both the glorious past, and the future which can belong to the great country they represent. A nation's strength has no meaning unless its use follows the will of a people with pride and integrity of purpose.

Responsible individuals with the freedom to think, create and move to meet fast changing circumstances built the United States. A free society capable of spawning and encouraging such citizens will have the versatile strength to steer a meaningful course in this fast shifting world. The American flag has always flown above such a land—let's keep it so.

MINNOW FOR A WHALE

Premier Khruschev has paid a stiff price for his vacation along the Nile.

The Russians are investing another $277 million in the future of Egypt, on top of $1 billion already advanced in military aid and $400 million for the Aswan High Dam.

It seems to have been another instance of, "If you don't give it to us, we know someone who will" — an argument the United States is only too familiar with.

It's nice for a change to see the Russians scurrying to shell out before the U. S. taxpayer can be called upon to do the same.

If the Arabs are as shrewd traders as they are reputed to be, Mr. Khruschev has been sold another minnow of Egyptian friendship for a whale of a lot of money.

EATING OUT WAY OUT

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman made a small but quite important point about the beef crisis the other day. He advised what might be called the knife and fork solution: "We'll have to eat our way out of our own overproduction."

There is more to the matter than that, obviously. European interest in buying American beef also is, as Freeman noted, an encouraging development.

Still, Freeman's proposal is attractive. It comes just at a time when backyard chefs are gearing up for a summer of grilled steaks and hamburgers and such.

Henry R. Luce quits as Life's editor-in-chief, but will remain as editorial chairman—possibly a hint to his successor that he's not quite turning him loose.

Boatmen are urged to check their outboards before launching. They also might check the urge to roar around the lake as though they were the only ones on it.

'These Days'

WHO'S AN ISOLATIONIST NOW?

"I've just been reading George Kennan's argument that we should disengage ourselves from confronting the Soviet Union in any Cold War concern over the satellites," said Topsy, 'and I am struck by a strange likeness between Mr. Kennan and the America First Committee of 1941."

"How can that be," said Turvy. "Kennan is the hero of the internationalists, The America Firsters were isolationists."

"That's what confuses me," said Topsy. "In 1941 you were an isolationist because you wanted to avoid war. In 1964 the same position makes you an internationalist."

"But Hitler was worse than Khrushchev," said Turvy. "After all, he had those concentration camps and practised genocide against the Jews."

"Haven't you heard," said Topsy, "that Khrushchev permits anti-Semitism in Russia? Yevtushenko, the poet, is a witness to this. Only Khrushchev is clever enough to call a Jew a cosmopolitan or a Trotskyist or a capitalist renegade before he gets rid of him. Does this make death or oppression any more palatable?"

"But Mr. Kennan has a point when he says Russia is involved in her troubles with China," said Turvy. "Doesn't this make Khrushchev less dangerous than Hitler?"

"The same sort of question was rhetorically posed by Herbert Hoover, Robert Taft and even Harry Truman when the Nazis got embroiled with Rusia in 1941," said Topsy. "But it was isolationist then to advocate, as Truman did, that we let the Nazis and the Comunists claw each other to pieces."

"But what's the matter with avoiding war?" asked Turvy. "It seems to me that keeping out of trouble is a good thing no matter what you are called."

"I couldn't agree with you more," said Topsy. "But the question is, does disengagement from Russia keep you out of trouble? It seems to me that when some one is pressing against you, it might help to keep him off balance to press back just a little bit harder."

"But that's brinkmanship," said Turvy.

"Not necessarily," said Topsy. "It's merely a question of what you regard as negotiable, his pawn or yours. Why is it brinkmanship to try to negotiate Khrushchev out of Cuba if he wants some machine tools delivered at Odessa? Why, for that matter, is it a 'war for liberation' when the North Vietnamese slip into South Vietnam by way of Laos jungle trails, and an 'imperialist plot' when anti-Castro Cubans slip into Cuba's Oriente province by way of Central America? What you call brinkmanship when we practice it can't just be the workings of progress when the Russians do it."

"What you say makes abstract sense," said Turvy. "But two great powers can't go on running bluffs against each other forever without risking a call sometime. It seems to me that Kennan thinks both sides might agree to stop bluffing."

"That's okay with me," said Topsy. "But why is it a bluff to say that we won't give anything without getting something tangible in return? Why is it a bluff or brinkmanship to offer long-term credits for chemical plants in return for dismantling the Berlin Wall? That's just a simple proposition."

"But there is the matter of face," said Turvy.

"I don't see it," said Topsy. "After all, trades can be secretly arrived at and then presented as a mutual accommodation. Just like when the Russians took their missiles out of Cuba and we dismantled bases in Turkey. Anyway, we've strayed from the main point, which is Kennan's isolationism. I still want to know why it gets called internationalism when it's the same thing that was advocated by Chester Bowles and Robert Hutchins and Sargent Shriver and Charles Lindbergh and Joseph P. Kennedy when they wanted to keep us out of war back in 1940 and 1941."

Pregnancy Tests Improve To Near-Perfect Accuracy

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Because there is no such thing as being a little bit pregnant, scientists have long searched for tests that will accurately determine whether or not a woman is pregnant. Tests that used frogs, rabbits and other animals were fairly accurate, but were expensive and required several days to perform.

We now have a number of greatly improved tests all based on a serologic reaction between three ingredients sheep's red blood cells that have been treated with an extract of human placenta, blood serum that contains antibodies against this extract and the freshly voided urine of the woman who suspects that she is pregnant. The different tests vary only in minor details.

In some cases, the test indicates pregnancy as early as four days after the skipped menstrual period. The tests are performed with controls that compare the reaction of the suspect's urine with that of urine from known pregnant and non-pregnant women. The results are said to be 95 to 100 per cent accurate.

In addition to greater accuracy than was possible with the older tests, the new tests have the advanage that they can be set up in a few minues and the results can be read in two hours or less.

Another difference is that, whereas inaccuracies in the older tests were sometimes reporting pregnancy when pregnancy did not exist, the new test sometimes reports negative results early in the course of a pregnancy. Results were improved when at least 30 days had elapsed since the skipped period.

Another entirely different type of test, which is said to be 98 per cent accurate, has been devised. When a woman suspects she might be pregnant, she takes one tablet of medroxyprogesteroen, a hormone derived from the ovaries, every day for five days. If she is not pregnant and there is no other cause for her skipped period, the normal menstrual cycle will be resumed within two to seven days after this treatment. Although the results cannot be judged as quickly with the test as with the serologic tests described, this test has the advantage of correcting many minor conditions that cause temporary cessation of menstruation.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Despite President's Johnson's denials, the United States is now seriously considering ways to bring military-economic pressure on Ho Chi Minh's North Viet Nam.

These plans will be held for use in an emergency.

One proposal would aim the first military moves at the north's already wobbly economy. There would be increasing sabotag of communications—bridges, roads, shipping. There would be partial land and sea blockade of Red Ho's supply lines.

VEILED THREATS of these U. S. actions would come first. But these threats would be coupled with suggestions of possible economic aid (principally rice and other foods) and trade. There would be hints of a willingness to guarantee Ho's borders.

It would be made clear that these promises would be fulfilled only if Ho would take his cadres out of Laos and tell the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam that they were now on their own.

Some tacticians favor parallel moves in the United Nations to guarantee the borders of Laos, South Viet Nam, Cambodia and North Viet Nam.

The program calls for a gradual step-up of harassment and threats of harassment, alternating with repeated promises of aid.

NEITHER SECRETARY OF STATE Dean Rusk's strategists nor Defense Secretary Robert McNamara's aides believe these moves would end the war either in Laos or in South Viet Nam.

They estimate the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam are now able to put up a strong fight without aid from Ho's northern Communist regime.

They think the Communist Pathet Lao troops in Laos could hold their own against the Lao neutralist and conservative troops without the aid of North Vietenamese cadres.

But a group of key government men do believe that if North Viet Nam would, under pressure, withdraw its support from the Red forces in Laos and in South Viet Nam, the two wars would become more manageable.

Some of these strategists also believe there is a chance that North Viet Nam's Ho could become an Asian Tito. These men believe it is worth a gamble to find out if this is so.

INFORMATION ARRIVING HERE from North Viet Nam is that Ho himself is not sold on co-operating with Red China and that his advisers are split fairly evenly on China versus Russia. About half favor an alliance with Khrushchev and the Soviet Union; the other half favor Red Mao Tse-tung of China. A recent decision to side with Mao is believed causing a struggle within the regime.

There are constant complaints from some of Ho's advisers about the economic drain of the South Vietnamese war. These men have in fact urged that the Viet Cong in the south be given words of praise, but told they will have to handle their own war.

Constitutional Changes—And Rights of the States

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Former President Eisenhomer has put his finger on one of the biggest weaknesses in the operation of the American Constitutional system today. In his latest pronouncement, he did not mention the arbitrary use of power by the Supreme Court, but he did emphasize the centralization of power in Washington by both the executive and legislative branches of the government.

As a remedy for this situation, Mr. Eisenhower, in speaking before the Conference of Governors held at Cleveland this week, called attention to a provision of the Constitution which has never been used but which could put an end to usurpation of power in Washington. No longer would the Supreme Court be able — if the states object — to continue to tell the state legislatures or county supervisors or governing councils of American cities that they must, in effect, appropriate money for this or that purpose—a ruling which was proclaimed only a few weeks ago and is unprecedented in American history. Nor would the court be able to go on telling the states how to apportion the districts in a state legislature — if the states decide by themselves to nullify these rulings by an amendment taking away such powers from the judiciary.

Mr. Eisenhower did not single out any particular government action, but referred in broad terms to the excesses of today when he said that if a provision in the present Constitution which has never been used were to be put into effect, "those in Washington power centers would never again feel at ease in their restless work to extend the Federal reach or to use tax money to attract votes."

The former President added that Presidential power is such today that an end should be put to "costly pork barrels — so beloved by self-serving politicians —and an end also to the many devices which centralize power in Washington."

Mr. Eisenhower was saying really that the best interests of the American people have not been served by the collusion between the executive and legislative branches in allocating public funds to certain states in order to attract their votes, while denying tax money for proper uses to other states.

The provision in Article V of the Constitution to which Mr. Eisenhower referred reads as follows:

"The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress. . . ."

Only one of the two methods prescribed in the above article has ever been used. After a two-thirds vote of both houses, Congress has submitted various amendments to the states for their ratification or rejection There has never been a Constitutional convention called by Congress at which one or more amendments could be proposed. Conventions have been called by the states themselves for purposes of ratifying an amendment approved by two-thirds of both houses of Congress. Indeed, the 21st Amendment, which repealed the 18th on the subject of prohibition, was ratified entirely by conventions called within each state.

The difficulty, however, with Article V quoted above is that Congress still remains as a part of of the amending process and at present could block the calling of a national Constitutional convention even if one were requested by the states. To overcome this, the National Council of State Governments—an unofficial body which has for many years been supported by charitable foundations in an effort to carry on non-political studies of ways and means to strengthen the state governments—came forth in 1962 with a resolution proposing a method which would not require any action by Congress itself. It would revise Article V to read in part as follows:

"Whenever applications from the legislatures of two-thirds of the total number of states of the United States shall contain identical texts of amendments to be proposed, the president of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall so certify, and the amendment as contained in the application shall be deemed to have been proposed, without further action by Congress. . . ."

The foregoing proposal has since been endorsed by at least a dozen state legislatures. But adoption of such an amendment first requires action by Congress. This means that only if public opinion in America now is sufficiently aroused against the usurpation of power in Washington can there be enough pressure exerted to cause Congress to pass an amendment to the Constitution that bestows upon the states their right to initiate a Constitutional amendment.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Nobody knows what a press agent goes through. His job, primarily, is to get free space in newspapers for his clients. Take a man like William V. Humphrey. I have never met him, but, judging from his letters, I feel that he is hard-working, energetic, maybe brilliant. Of all the accounts he could have drawn, the company for which he works—Theodore R. Sills & Co. —gave him Kraut Round Dog Week.

This is like trying to publicize Be Kind to Iguanas Week, or Let's Kick Liz Taylor Once More Day. Candidly, I have never heard of a Kraut Round Dog. Further, I feel no interest, round or oblong. And yet, I detect a quiet desperation in Mr. Humphrey's material; the artist at bay.

"Dear Mr. Bishop:" he writes. "I know you can hardly wait to learn when the country will be celebrating International Kraut Round Dog Week. This year it's June 4th to 13th, for ten long days.

"So that you can keep your readers well informed, we ar enclosig a number of column items you might want to consider. Please note that these items cover not only the 'week' itself, but also go into kraut history, current popularity, how many kraut servings are made annually, low calorie aspects of kraut, etc. . ."

One can assume that Mr. Humphrey is celebrating the week right now. Not wisely, I suspect. He may even be hitting the beer, which goes good with sauerkraut. The items he sent with the letter, when read between the kraut, contain a certain subtle disinterest:

"Now, a whole week has been set aside—June 4 to 13—to celebrate the Round Dog. So, let's all eat kraut round dog sandwiches to observe International Kraut Round Dog Week. What next?"

What next indeed. A shot to the moon, that's what. Another thing, Mr. Humphrey: 4th to the 13th is not a week. We are not all going to eat round dog sandwiches to observe anything. It is possible, of course, that all seven of my readers may want to hear Mr. Humphrey define a round dog. Here it is:

"Since the turn of the century when a sausage vendor first encased the tasty hot dog in a long bun to protect his patrons' fingers from the sizzling sausage, there has been no change in the traditional hot dog sandwich." This is not spectacular, but hold your fire a moment. "A few years ago, however, the National Kraut Association began telling the public about the Kraut Round Dog Sandwich."

Did they tell you? I haven't heard a word from them. "This is made with a regular frankfurter which is slit along the side so that it curls into a circle when cooked, thus producing a round dog. Served on a round bun, or a hamburger roll, and topped with kraut, it is one of the newest sandwiches—and a gourmet's delight."

I have never seen a delighted gourmet. They usually stare at food as though sickened. It is impossible to imagine any of them expressing delight over anything, much less a round dog.

The press agent might have done better if he had told the story of the unknown kraut packer who pioneered the breakthrough— slitting the long dog to make it curl.

Why should this hero remain unsung? Others, less worthy, get a free ride on the publicity merry-go-round. Eli Whitney, the inventor of the cotton gin, for example, is well known because he employed the right press agent. All he did was devise a method of straining 90 proof gin through cotton.

In Cherry Tree Week, a press agent used a kid named Washington for a publicity stunt. Fidel Castro kidnapped the right photagraphers from Life Magazine, and got his revolution off the ground. Pure publicity. In National Hearing Aid Week, look what LBJ did with those beagles! Who ever heard of a vicuna coat until Sherman Adams got to the White House?

Some of our senators hadn't even heard of girls until Bobby Baker took charge of their education. Josef Stalin was persuaded to die as a publicity stunt for Nikita Khrushchev. It worked, like sex and Profumo.

Why not kraut and the round dog? With a man like William Humphrey rapping out reams of imperishable prose, these items might replace vitamins. On picnics, the children may eat themselves in a complete circle. They have eaten everything except each other. And that's another press agent scheme.

Funny? Not at all. I remember, years ago, when George Evans was getting a hundred a week to publicize an unknown singer. At the Paramount Theatre in New York, he paid ten girls $5 apiece to faint when the singer started his first number. Evans waited in the lobby and counted 23 girls as they were carried out. The story put Sinatra on the front page.

Huh. I smile when I think of Mr. Humphrey writing: "I know you can hardly wait. . ."

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

In the Sunday, May 31, New York Times an item reads, a $2 million dollar, shopping center, known as Two Guys from Harrison, is coming to Orange, N. J. It will be a two-story building with 160,000 square feet of space and parking, covering nine acres set aside for commercial-industrial use in the Washington-Dodd urban renewal area. This store will have 300 to 400 employes and hopes to open by Nov. 1 in time for the Christmas business. They have other large shopping centers around Orange, N. J. and 30 small merchants were given a month to present a study by experts to the Housing Authority, which has charge of Urban Renewal, the effect this mammoth shopping center would have on their business. It is interesting to learn about other little cities like Kingston, who are going through the same phases all over the country.

I have a New York Weekly Witness, newspaper, of Dec. 5, 1888. Here are some items from it. "Boston wants a zoological garden . . . A revival of the tulip mania is threatened in Holland . . . Two young women have opened a drug-store in Buffalo . . . Mountain towns in California reflooded with counterfeit 50-cent pieces. . . Ice skates promise to be cheap this winter (1888-1889) as several of the patents have just run out."

Some of the other items, which interested the people of the country in 1888. "While a circus train was standing on the track at Chestertown, Md., a locomotive halted opposite the car on which the elephants were confined. Six of the elephants thrust their trunks into the water-tank on the locomotive tender, and, in a few minutes, had drained it dry."

Even in 1888 there were career women, for Hahnemann Medical College, of New York, had a class of 200 students, one third being women. And out west, in Dakota, a 12-year-old, Inda Drake, of Badus, ploughed 40 acres, with a sulky plough. In those days, the time-record across the Atlantic by boat was six days, 2 hours and 22 minutes.

Times have changed no end in this young country of ours. It seems Tennessee was once part of North Carolina and then broke away and called herself "Franklin." In a speech of Daniel Webster's on currency of 1838 are some laws passed by this "Franklin" State Legislature which may be interesting at election time. "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Franklin . . . that from the 1st day of January 1789, the salaries of the officers of this Commonwealth be as follows: His Excellency the Governor, per annum, 1,000 deer skins. His Honor the Chief Justice, per annum, 500 deer skins. The Secretary to His Excellency the Governor, per annum, 500 raccon skins. The Treasurer to the State, 450 raccon skins. Each County Clerk, 300 beaver skins. Clerk of House of Commons, 200 raccoon skins. Members of the Assembly, per diem, three raccon skins. Justices' fees for signing a warrant, one muskrat skin. To the constable for serving a warrant, one mink skin. Enacted into the law the 18th lay of October 1789, under the great seal of the State." Thus the constable's wife could assemble herself a nice mink coat in those days. That was our country only some 175 years ago, I wonder what those folks would save said about our present mammoth shopping centers. I can just imagine paying out at the check-out with raccon and muskrat skins.

Port Ewen Troops At Camp Weekend; Awards Court Friday

While there they conducted a memorial service. Cadette Scouts Kathleen Robinson, Nancy Potter, Barbara Finch and Jean Wenzel were flag bearers, raisers and guard of honor. All scouts assembled in uniform while the flag was raised then lowered to half staff.

Scouts sang America the Beautiful. Cadette Patricia McDonough gave a reading and Junior Scout Nancy Benson placed memorial flowers at the base of the flagpole. One minute of silence was observed.

During the remainder of the weekend each scout took part in activities which earned the troop camp badge. These and other badges will be awarded Friday 7:30 p. m. in ceremonies at Ross Park. In case of rain the meeting will be held June 19.

Scout leaders, Mrs. Genevieve Tinnie and Mrs. Mary Evelyn Hults were in charge of the camping weekend assisted by Harry Hults.

Dear Abby . . .
Double Grief

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When my father died we distributed his clothes to needy men all over town. Dad had a horse blanket type jacket he wore for fishing, which we gave to Old Rudy, the janitor who worked at our plant. One evening mother and I were walking down the street and I spied Old Rudy—who was exactly daddy's size—walking toward us in that familiar fishing jacket. My heart skipped a beat, and I tried to distract mother, not knowing how she would react. She saw him, of course, and then she said to me, "Oh, look. There's Old Rudy in dad's jacket. Wouldn't Dad be pleased to know that Old Rudy is getting some good out of it? Dad always thought so much of him!"

DAD'S GIRL IN WAUSAU

DEAR ABBY: As is usually the lot of the eldest daughter, I was called upon to dispose of all my mother's usable clothing after she had passed away. My mother, in her lifetime, had always been a very generous person, and she was forever giving to those less fortunate than herself. I distributed her clothing among those who were needy. I gave a fine winter wardrobe to mamma's laundress. Several of my friends recognized my mother's good winter coat being worn by this woman. One friend said to me, "Doesn't it bother you to see your mother's clothes again?" I answered, "If I never wanted to see them again, I'd have given everything to the Salvation Army."

NOT BOTHERED

DEAR ABBY: I read about the kind, considerate woman who was given a box of good clothing that once belonged to her dearest friend who had died. She asked you if you thought it might sadden members of her friend's family to see their mother's clothing being worn by someone else. I was pleased that you told her to go ahead and wear them as it would give them pleasure. I know. I lost a beautiful daughter in her early 20's. She had closetsful of lovely clothes. After she passed away, I divided them up and gave them to her friends. I was deeply hurt when I offered a brand new evening gown to one young woman and she replied. "Thanks a lot, but I don't think I could ever put it on. It would give me the creeps."

HURT DEEPLY

DEAR ABBY: Our mother was as pretty as a picture and was always dressed in the height of fashion and in the most elegant taste. Her weakness was beautiful hats, and she had dozens of them. She died, at 64, two years ago. We gave each of her friends one of mother's lovely hats. Some were ten years old, but still fashionable, and all were as good as new, in their original boxes and tissue. You cannot imagine the joy it brought us when we spotted eight of mother's beautiful hats in church on Easter Sunday.

Family Holdings Calculated at $9 Million

Johnsons Are Among Wealthiest Ever to Occupy White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's family is "one of the wealthiest ever to occupy the White House," with holdings calculated at $9 million, the Washington Evening Star said today.

In a lengthy report by staff writer John Barron, the newspaper asserted:

And More on Way

"And," the article added, "a ruling issued by the Federal Communications Commission last April could greatly increase their value."

The fortune, the newspaper said, "was amassed almost entirely while Mr. Johnson was in public office; mainly since he entered the Senate and began his rise to national power in 1948."

The White House had no immediate comment on the story. The Star noted the common version that the fortune is mainly due to Mrs. Johnson's acumen and energy in buying up a small, part-time, debt-ridden Austin, Tex., radio station in 1943 for $17,500 and developing it into a highly profitable TV-radio business.

"Mrs. Johnson," the newspaper continued, "doubtless has made impressive contributions. But there is strong evidence that Mr. Johnson himself has participated vigorously in the family business ventures.

"Several Texans who dealt with the Johnsons prior to last November say they always dealt with Mr. Johnson, never with his wife.

No LBJ Stock

"Mr. Johnson, it should be noted, owns no stock in the company which has title to most of the Johnson property and has provided the family with such amenities as limousiness, an airplane, a cabin cruiser and the LBJ Ranch itself. A majority of the family company stock, 84.45 per cent, is owned by Mrs. Johnson and her daughters.

"Last Nov. 29, a week after Mr. Johnson entered the White House, the family relinquished control of the company by putting the stock into a trust.

"The trust agreement stipulates that neither the President nor his wife shall receive any information on how the family property is administered.

"Since then, according to Washington attorney Abe Fortas, an old friend and personal legal adviser to the President, Mr. Johnson has not engaged in or discussed any family business. But in gathering material for this article, the Star has received allegations to the contrary."

Most From TV, Radio

The bulk of the Johnson fortune, the Star pointed out, has been derived from investments in Texas television and radio stations.

The newspaper noted that during his first term in the Senate, Johnson was a member of the Commerce Committee which has jurisdiction over the Federal Communications Commission. The FCC, in turn, regulates all television and radio stations.

"The public records of the FCC," the article continued, "show no evidence that Mr. Johnson ever sought preferential consideration from the regulatory agency."

The latest FCC ruling affecting the Johnson family fortunes came this spring. As the Star put it, "the commission voted to continue probably fatal restrictions upon an Austin television cable firm which is competing with one allied with the Johnson company."

If Capital Cable, the firm allied with the Johnson interests, succeeds in driving its competitor out of Austin, Capital's eventual worth could be between $5 and $10 million, according to broadcasting industry sources.

And an option agreement entitles the Johnson company to buy half of Capital Cable at a price which would be well under a million dollars.

The only Quaker to become President was Herbert Hoover.

Man Dies of Burns

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A 63-year-old man died Tuesday in Albany Medical Center Hospital of burns suffered last Friday when his clothing caught fire while he was sitting in a parked truck in the city.

Let Hoplessly Ill Die, Midwest Professor Urges

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A leading medical professor from the University of Minnesota believes physicians should not maintain the life of hopelessly illl patients.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez told the 60th annual State Health Conference Tuesday that members of the medical profession "keep living into their nineties the half-wits, the hopelessly insane, the hopelessly criminal, the good-for-nothings and the senescent and perhaps idiotic octogenarians who lie all day in bed, be-diapered and gazing open-mouthed at the ceiling.

"When these human vegetables get pneumonia, and try to die—perhaps if they are conscious, begging to be allowed to die—we physicians pour antibiotics into them, and proudly snatch them back to life," Dr. Alvarez said.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Nine-month-old Robert Richards was killed Tuesday by electric shock when, police said, he chewed on a television extension cord in his home.

Rochester Town Planners Enlist Advisory Group

Several area residents have agreed to serve in an advisory capacity to Town of Rochester Planning Board, it was announced at last week's meeting held in Accord Fire Hall.

Planning Board Chairman John W. Scribano reported that he had been in touch with a number of local people regarding their help in an advisory capacity and the following accepted: Albert Milliken, architect; Daniel Smiley, conservationist; Roy Conklin, historian; Etienne F. Messinger, surveying and maps; Sam Bank, sanitation; Ellsworth McDole, construction, and Saul Altholz, legal matters.

Present at the meeting were Town Supervisor Franklin Kelder, Justice of the Peace Raymond Lawrence, Town Superintendent of Highways Richard Gray and Messinger.

Board member Samuel Reavin spoke about the recent purchase of Woodland Farms by a group interested in the study and helping of brain-injured children, and the impact that such a program may have on the Town.

Scribano submitted a report on the Sheldon Development Road and the Stony Kill portion of road which had been abandoned in 1912. After some discussion it was decided to recommend to the Town Board that the Sheldon Development Road be accepted if it met the requirements of the Town Superintendent of Highways but that the taking over and development of the Stony Kill Road was not recommended at the present time although the matter should be restudied when the town-owned area of Hole 32 was developed into a recreational park, as a direct route into the area.

The new minimnm requirements for minor road construction, as drafted by Reavin, were taken up, item by item, and several changes were recommended by Town Superintendent of Highways Gray and Messinger. It was voted to incorporate such changes in the specifications and to send a revised copy to the Town Board for consideration at their next meeting.

ELIZABETH STEELE

English Student Coming to OCS In August

Sometime next August, the Malcolm Rose family of Bearsville will have the pleasure of welcoming their new member, Elizabeth Margaret Steele of the Town of Grays, County of Essex, England.

Miss Steele is the student selected by the New York office of the American Field Service as the Onteora Chapter's foreign student next year. She will attend Onteora as a member of the Class of 1965 and will graduate with that class.

From information received by the chapter, it appears that Miss Steele is a well-rounded person. She is particularly interested in background reading and research in connection with her school work. She does some writing. However, she is not all bookish. Outdoors, she is a tennis enthusiast and enjoys horseback riding.

In her personal statement, Miss Steele says that she hopes her visit will enable her to tell us more about her own country and at the same time gain a more intimate knowledge of the United States so that she may do her small part toward peace through understanding.

Artists Excel in Albany Exhibit

Four Woodstock Artists carried off four of the ten awards given by the 29th Regional Exhibition by artists of the Upper Hudson which opened June 4th at the Albany Institute of History and Art. Robert Angeloch won the Jurors' Choice with "Winter Night." Lyn Ot took first prize in oil with "Study for the Nude" while Gladys Brodsky (Mrs. W. Plate) took second place with "Winter Wood." Dan Gottschalk received a prize for "Other Media" with his "White-Memorial Clock."

The jurors were Sidney Laufman, painter of Woodstock, Ralph Menconi, sculptor of Pleasantville, N. Y. and John Pike, illustrator of Woodstock. In addition to the above mentioned, fifteen paintings were by the following, Franklin Alexander, Tommy Beere (Mrs. A. Zaidenberg), Brock (Brokenshaw from Shady), Bruce Currie, Ainslie Burke, B. Sturtevant Gardner, Carolyn Haeberline (Mrs. R. Wilson) Norbert Heerman, Ethel Magafan, Amy G. Small showing sculpture, Dudley Gloyne Summers, and Reginald Wilson.

The preview Thursday evening given for the exhibitors and members of the Institute and friends was well attended. The one hundred and one paintings and pieces of sculpture adequately filled the first floor of the Institute. The visitors then mounted to the second floor where Arthur Zaidenberg was having a one-man show. Two rooms were filled with paintings of a different sort being done with chemicals. The subject matter was unusual and varied. This exhibition will remain through June 28 while the Regional Show will stay until July 5.

Auxiliary Hears Several Plans

Reports of regular committees were given at the monthly meeting of Woodstock American Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Magda Moseman presided.

The chaplain reported that members of the unit participated in the parade and services at the Village Green and Woodstock Cemetery and the dedication of the memorial and dogwood trees for the late President Kennedy. They also worked at the open house later.

Mrs. Marge Styles, chairman of the Poppy sale, reported that the sale of poppies was quite successful this year. The junior members and other volunteer girls helped to make this project a success.

The "Pennies Project" is working for the Pan-American Society, it was announced.

To Attend Dinner

Mrs. Velma Grazier, chairman of Girls State reported that Miss Susan Witko, the auxiliary's delegate to Girls State, Mrs. Witko and Mrs. Grazier will attend a dinner on June 11 at Leherbs, Kingston, when all delegates of the county will be entertained by the Ulster County American Legion Auxiliary.

The nominating committee presented a slate of officers for the coming year. Election of new officers will be held at the next meeting on Sept. 1.

Mrs. Magda Moseman, the auxiliary president, was elected delegate to the conference of New York State American Legion Auxiliary to be held in Syracuse from July 30 to Aug. 1.

Cohn's Attorney Must State Case

NEW YORK (AP)—A judge has rejected a request by Roy M. Cohn's counsel to withdraw from Cohn's second trial on charges of perjury and obstruction of justice.

A jury of 11 men and one woman was selected Tuesday from 49 panelists. Four alternates are still to be chosen for the re-trial of Cohn, former Senate subcommittee aid to the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

Federal Judge Dudley B. Bonsal ruled that the interests of justice require a prompt re-trial and that attorney Frank G. Raichle of Buffalo will have to represent Cohn unless another lawyer is ready to proceed immediately.

The first trial ended in a mistrial because of the death of the father of one juror. The jury had deliberated four days.

Cohn and Murray E. Gottesman, New York lawyer, are accused of lying to a grand jury that was investigating why four admitted swindlers at first escaped indictment in a securities inquiry.

All 962 delegates to the Republican state convention, which opens Friday night, were to be invited to the Rockefeller reception at the new Hotel America, along with the 962 alternates.

Red Cross Moves To Alert Public On Choking Toll

Choking accidents kill more than 2,000 persons yearly, and the number is increasing, according to Daniel Morehouse, Ulster County Red Cross First Aid Chairman. Among children under five, the leading cause of death is choking on food or foreign objects. Because of these facts, all Red Cross first aid instructors are being requested to place renewed stress on the dangers of accidental choking. Special teaching material and information for the more than 79,000 American Red Cross first aid instructors to use in teaching prevention of choking-type accidents are to be distributed by the Red Cross to its chapters throughout the country.

The move is being undertaken in cooperation with medical and dental organizations as part of a campaign to alert the public to choking hazards. The program was initiated by the American Broncho-Esophagological Association at the suggestion of Dr. Paul G. Bunker, Aberdeen, S. D., physician and one-time first aid chairman of the St. Paul, Minn. Chapter. Other organizations joining the educational effort include the Committee on Broncho-Esophagology of the American College of Chest Physicians, the Committee for the Prevention of Accidents of the American Academy of Pediatrics, and the American Dental Association.

Report Marines Missing, May Be Viet Cong POW

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. Marine Corps enlisted men were reported missing and may have been captured by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

An American military spokesman announced today the two men, assigned to a Marine helicopter unit at Danang, 380 miles north of Saigon, have been missing since Sunday when they went on a beach picnic.

Their disappearance raises to 14 the number of American military personnel missing since December 1961.

Identification of the two has been withheld.

IUE Ratifies Michigan Pact

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — National Guard troops packed up their gear today as striking workers prepared to return to the Essex Wire Corp., scene of a violent 102-day-strike.

Hillsdale, a city of some 7,600 in southern Michigan, began reverting to normal late Tuesday when members of Local 810 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, ratified a new four-year contract by an 83-34 vote.

Italo Bragalone, manager of the Essex plant, said about 100 men would be recalled immediately. He said others would be called back as production picks up.

George Gould, international representative of the IUE, reported that the members would receive a wage increase of 36½ cents an hour spread over the four-year period. The first year of the contract calls for a 10-cent boost, he said.

Comb Fishkill Woods

State police at Fishkill, aided by Beacon authorities and troopers from area sub-stations, this afternoon were combing the woods in the vicinity of the Fishkill troopers barracks for an alleged automobile thief. It was reported a Fishkill man was being taken to headquarters for questioning about a car he was driving that resembled a stolen vehicle, when he suddenly bolted and fled into the nearby woods. Troopers said the man, wanted on a charge of grand larceny, is believed to have eluded capture and escaped in another car that was stolen in Fishkill village early today.

Protests Poles' Rough Handling Of Air Attache

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—U.S. Ambassador John M. Cabot has protested to Polish authorities that plainclothes police roughed up the U.S. Air Force attache here last month.

An informed source said the attache, Col. George Carey of Boston, Mass., suffered a bruised and scratched arm, his shirt was torn, and his camera case was damaged in scuffles on May 23.

Western military attaches in Poland are constantly shadowed but this was the first reported incident involving force.

It was said to have started when Carey noticed outside the U.S. Embassy that he was being followed by plainclothesmen and started to photograph them.

The source said two agents ran up to the colonel and made several unsuccessful attempts to take his camera from him.

Shokan

SHOKAN — Arthur Lussier was among Greene County residents calling in the hub of the reservoir country Monday. The Haines Falls young man had been on a trip to New England.

Also here early in the week was Craig Vosburgh, Shady, whose paternal ancestors were early settlers in Town of Woodstock.

Frank Jackson has received news of the death, June 1, at Jacksonville, Fla., of his uncle, Charles H. Jackson, a former Shokan resident. Burial took place at Zepher Hills. Mr. Jackson is also survived by a sister, Mrs. F. L. Thompson, Walden, five nephews and two nieces and his wife, Isabella, who resides in Florida. Mr. Jackson, a Spanish-American War veteran, was present at the signing of the Russian-Japanese Peace Treaty Sept. 5, 1905, at Portsmouth, N. H. navy yard.

Mrs. Otto Stahl, Kingston, spent Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hoyt Adickes, in the village center.

Also in town were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Estey, Livingston, N. J. couple who formerly had a summer home on Route 212 near Willow. The Esteys planned to spend much of their time fishing while staying a week at a Mt. Tremper motel.

Membership of the Greene County Historical Society reached a total of 1,135 on May 31, of 1,000 more than in 1960. Mrs. Walter Smith, financial secretary of the organization, gives credit for the remarkable increase to the zeal of 16 zone chairmen in enlisting new members in a recent drive.

Town of Marbletown residents calling here Monday included Axel Carlson who lives some three miles south of Olive Bridge in the Atwood area.

It All Looks So Different Now

Battlefield Return No More Than a Stroll Into Legend

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody remembers war altogether as it happened. No one can tell the truth of a battlefield.

They forget its actuality as they grow older, and change it to suit their age.

Nobody can find out the true story of combat, not even five minutes after an event occurs.

No One Has Full Story

A battlefield is a great mystery while it is being fought. No one has the full story then or later.

There is an involvement with the enemy. The chaos of clash is immediate; it can never be accurately reassembled by recall. Too much happens all at once.

That is why I feel a bit sorry for those who went back to Normandy last week for the 20th anniversary of one of mankind's more memorable military adventures.

Going back to a place you knew in war is a journey even more lonesome in peace than it was when the ignition of danger and the purpose of a mutual endeavor threw a glare upon the commonplace. You can never quite find what you look for.

I found this to be true when I went back to France five years after it was invaded by the Allies. I found it even more true when I went back 10 years after.

It was my wish to return again last week two decades after those strident days of thunder and nights of flare when the breaking of the St. Lo position wheeled the Allies toward victory.

Can Never Go Home Again

But I knew it would be a visit into the lost, a stroll into legend.

The moment a situation in war changes, it is gone forever. The fact of war defeats the recognition of it.

In combat, more than anywhere else in life, you can never go home again. There are too many variances of viewpoints for them ever to be fully reconciled.

Two return to the scene of action. Even if it be but an hour all is different. What actually happened there? One knows a part of it, another knows another part of it, and neither knows all.

Once the bodies are picked up, the blood is dried, the position is changed, the vehicles are regrouped, the possible truth is forever gone.

Give a battlefield a few days, or months, or years, and what really happened there is even more impossible to find out.

The soldier returns and looks across a field where the grass and trees have renewed their greenery and forgotten their scars; where the stinking bodies of cows inflated by death have been removed, where a farmer walks in duty where a foe once held a direness.

Clouded by Conjecture

The soldier says: "Yes, it was there that I, we, or, no, was it over there that? Anyway, I'll never forget—Don't you remember that the both of us—I think you were with me when—It all comes back so clear that—"

But his honest reach for the truth is clouded by conjecture. It all looks so different.

Landscapes forget the people who fight across them. People who try to remember the landscapes they fought across can never come back afterward and be quite sure that this is the exact place where once they felt they learned more about life and death than they ever could afterward.

Museum Group's Organizational Meeting Slated

The steering committee for the proposed Mid-Hudson-Catskills Museum met recently in its new temporary headquarters and scheduled an organizational meeting for Friday, June 26 at 8 p. m. in George Washington School, 67 Wall Street.

The old West Park Schoolhouse was recently offered to the committee by the Town of Esopus for use as temporary headquarters.

The purpose of the meeting will be to establish an official membership list and election of a board of trustees. A slate of candidates including all members of the steering committee will be announced at the meeting. Additional nominations will be heard from the floor.

A tentative program of free films, lectures and exhibits was suggested for operation of the temporary headquarters this summer.

C. Michael Darcy, a guest speaker from the New York State Museum assured the committee of the state museum's intent to support the summer program by making films and exhibits available.

Copies of the proposed by-laws for the new organization will be distributed for approval by the membership. After the business meeting the Disney film, Beaver Valley will be shown.

CHEVELLE by Chevrolet
FRISKY AS IT CAN BE...FINE A BUY AS YOU CAN GET (even finer now!)

Trade 'N' Travel Time is running out at your Chevrolet dealer's. This is about your last chance to get in a whole summerful of fun with a beautiful buy like a Chevelle Malibu wagon.

Allow us to point out some of its less obvious pleasures.

It has curved side windows—not just for looks, but to give you more shoulder room. It has 86 cu. ft. of cargo space, so you can go on vacation with everything but the kitchen sink if you have to.

It has a Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish for protection against the sun, road tar and chipping.

It has those self-cleaning rocker panels beneath the doors that resist rust by flushing themselves free of salt and dirt.

CHEVROLET TRADE 'N' TRAVEL TIME FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS

Inside, the upholstery over its wide foam-cushioned seats is soft, durable color-keyed vinyl. All vinyl. The floor carpeting is deep-twist and long-wearing, door to door.

We don't want anything playing havoc with Chevelle's good looks if we can help it.

All in all, there are 11 different Chevelles being offered during Trade 'N' Travel Time. Spacious station wagons, coupes, Super Sports with bucket seats, convertibles, sedans. One's as beautiful a buy as the other. It's up to you. But hurry, whatever you do!

Price of Aluminum Increases on Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — A half-cent increase in the price of aluminum ingot to 24 cents a pound, effective next Monday, became almost unanimous Tuesday.

Second - ranked Reynolds Metals Co., third-ranked Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., and the leading international factor, Aluminium Ltd. of Canada, all announced increases.

They joined top-ranked Aluminum Co. of America, which acted Monday, and fourth-ranked Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., which began the wave last week.

The rise is the third since last fall, when Reynolds initiated a cent increase from 22½ cents. These rises have come close to restoring cuts that began in 1961, when the price slipped from 26 cents to 24. It hit a depth of 22½ in December 1962, when excess capacity caused price - cutting competition.

Spring Will Come

KAYCEE, Wyo. (AP) — The old Indian rainmaker has nothing on the Kaycee and Gillette B basketball squads.

They were scheduled to play Feb. 7, but the game was postponed because of snow. It was rescheduled and postponed again —snow. Finally they got together on another snowy night and Kaycee won 73-62.

Then came the return game. It snowed again. They gave up and canceled the game.

Hudson Approves School Budget, Rates Will Drop

A budget totaling $1,459,546.38 was adopted Tuesday night by the Hudson Board of Education. The 1964-65 budget will result in a reduction in school tax rates of $1.55 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

A public hearing to discuss the budget items was attended only by seven persons. Mrs. Irene Burton, chairman of the Taxpayer-Rentpayer Association, reviewed most of the estimated expenditures with the Board.

The approved budget is $2,000 less than the original estimates. If the original budget was adopted the tax rate reduction would have been $1.41 per $1,000. The elimination of the towel laundry service, brought about an additional slash of 14 cents per $1,000.

Although the budget shows a total appropriation of $1,459,546.38, which is $75,921 higher than the present one, the tax rate is lower because of an increase in anticipated revenues totaling $99,440.

No Defrosting Ever with a
FROSTLESS
REFRIGERATOR - FREEZER

Frost can't form with the wonderful Frostless Refrigerator-Freezers —neither in the big zero-degree freezer, nor in the refrigerator section. And the new refrigerator-freezers give you much more usable space inside with no increase in overall size.

You can forget about food and ice trays that stick or cubes that have to be battered apart ... your FROSTLESS keeps frost out and cubes so cold they can't stick together.

You can really stock up on sale items, knowing that when you want to use them they'll be as fresh as the day you bought them and you won't have to chop them out of the freezer, not with a FROSTLESS!

You can cook and freeze an entire meal against the day when unexpected guests drop by, and the whole tasty menu will pop out of the freezer as easily (and free from ice) as when you put it in!

You can have the peace of mind that comes from knowing you have a supermarket right in your kitchen, full of frozen delights that you can bring out for any culinary emergency. (And without the slightest trace of icing up, thanks to your FROSTLESS!)

Two Seniors Are Among Six Told To Leave Hobart

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — Two seniors scheduled to graduate from Hobart College Sunday are among six college students ordered by a judge to leave this Finger Lakes city by today.

The students admitted in court Tuesday that they damaged a Hobart fraternity house last week after a visit to a tavern. Damage to the building was more than $300, police said.

Five of the students are enrolled at Hobart, but the college refused to say if any disciplinary action had been taken or if the seniors would be graduated.

The students refused to comment.

Judge Joseph Caito of City Court ordered the students out of Geneva within 24 hours. Caito set no time limit on the ban.

Police had charged them with third-degree burglary and malicious mischief, but the judge dismissed the burglary charge and reduced the malicious mischief charge to disorderly conduct, to which the six pleaded guilty and were given six-month suspended jail sentences.

The Hobart students are:

Robert E. Harrington, 22, of Baltimore, Md. and Peter L. Smith, 22, of Port Washington, the seniors; Robert Magosci, 21, of York, Maine, and Wesley A. Henderson, 22, of Watertown, both juniors; and Michael D. Saunders, 20, of Watertown, a sophomore.

The sixth student, from an out-of-town college, was visiting Hobart at the time of the incident.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

EXCISES: The way has been cleared for the House to vote this week on repealing excise taxes on some of the items dear to women: furs, cosmetics, jewelry and luggage and handbags.

Republicans want to halve the 10 per cent tax this year and eliminate it entirely next year.

In an action Tuesday, the Rules Committee made it possible for the GOP proposal to be taken up in conjunction with a bill—cleared for debate Thursday—to extend a variety of excise taxes for another year.

ARMS CONTROL: President Johnson called Tuesday for redoubled efforts toward gaining effective arms controls as the Geneva disarmament conference resumed its sessions.

He instructed William C. Foster, chief U.S. negotiator at the 17-nation conference, to leave no stone unturned in attempting to find safeguarded alternatives to the arms race.

EXTRA FUNDS: President Johnson signed Tuesday a $1,336,687,143 emergency appropriations bill which included $41,370,000 to help Alaska recover from its recent earthquake.

The largest allotment, however, was $1,003,200,000 for the cost of military pay raises voted last year.

Tribune Reports Carlino's Ouster Move Still Alive

NEW YORK (AP) — Several Republican leaders in Nassau County have declared their support of state Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino as county GOP leader.

A delegation of Nassau party chieftains welcomed him at La Guardia Airport as he arrived from Buffalo Tuesday.

Today's New York Herald Tribune said:

"Despite the public display, party sources said the move to oust Mr. Carlino as county leader remained alive."

Tuesday, the newspaper said Carlino would be out as leader within two weeks. It attributed this largely to some GOP organization losses in the June 2 primary and to leaders' fears about the November general election.

As Carlino arrived from a a speaking engagement in Buffalo, he noted that he had said previously he would remain as county chairman until after the November election, and he added: "I see no reason to change my mind now."

He said the report of a party rift "was founded on misinformation" and the dissatisfaction over the primary results has been "distorted out of all proportion."

Carlino, of Long Beach, became county GOP leader in June 1961.

Shakespeare Year Display Here

In 400 years, little has changed in Stratford Upon Avon. There was only one Bard of Avon-genius like this comes only once in a nation's history; there is only one Homer, one Cervantes, one Shakespeare.

The half-timbered house on Henley Street where William Shakespeare was born to John Shakespeare and Mary Arden still stands. The homes of his mother at Wilmcote, his daughter, Susannah — Hall's Croft in Old Town — and his wife, Anne Hathaway, are excellent examples of 16th century architecture and are now administered in the public interest by the Shakespeare Memorial Trust.

The Anne Hathaway Cottage is situated at Shottery, just over a mile from the center of Stratford Upon Avon, a picturesque thatched farmhouse, now popularly referred to as "The Cottage." Part of the building dates back to the fifteenth century, and as a specimen of early domestic architecture it has few equals. Its structure is of stone, timber-framing, wattle and brick and there has been little restoration.

A replica of "The Cottage" and its surrounding gardens is now on display in the window of Greenwald's Travel Service at 286 Fair Street. Over seven feet in breadth, the model was constructed in England in 1963 and was shipped to New York where, until recently, it was on display in the Fifth Avenue window of British Overseas Airways Corporation. Built to scale, both house and landscape are exact except for the removal of some trees and shrubbery to permit closer inspection of structural details. Commemorative brochures detailing Britain's plans for celebrating Shakespeare Year are available without charge at the Greenwald office.

Senecas Refuse To Quit Homes, By Dam Site

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP)—Seneca Indians near the Kinzua Dam site have refused to move from their present homes until next year, although the gates of the dam are scheduled to close Oct. 1 and flood their land.

George Heron, president of the Seneca Nation, said Tuesday it was "useless" to try to relocate before next year the 127 families now living in the path of the 29-mile long dam.

"Two months of ideal construction weather are now behind us without one new home having been started," Heron said. Money cannot be appropriated by the Indians to begin construction of the housing until the U.S. Senate and House get together on an $11-million difference on how much the Indians will be paid, Heron said.

"The Seneca Council is reluctant to award any building contract without some assurance that we will have the funds to pay for the homes once they are completed," Heron said.

Legislation that would give the Indians $20.1-million for rehabilitation and compensation was passed by the House Feb. 7, but the funds were cut to $9.1-million in a bill approved by the Senate March 25.

Jaycees List Independence Day Program, Parade July 4

This year's Saugerties July 4 weekend celebration will be the largest ever sponsored by Saugerties Jaycees, according to Richard Cyr, newly elected president.

An all out effort is being made to add additional features to every portion of the program, he said.

The weekend will start off with a Hootenanny at Simmons Plaza on the evening of July 3 sponsored by Saugerties Jaycees. Pete Williams of Channel 6 TV fame, will head the all-star program. Co-feature on the program will be a performance by Miss Saugerties, Jane Markovsky, folk songs by Sebastian Vos from High Woods, and "The Group" folk singers from New Paltz.

July 4th a nine division parade will step off at 10 a. m. The parade will feature such bands as the Criterions of Kingston, the Paulettes, all girl drum and glockenspeil corps from New York City, sponsored by the Saugerties Savings Bank, the Village Volunteers, a drum and fife corps from Delmar and the latest addition to the list of outstanding bands, the Troop 12 Indians from Kingston.

In order to increase float participation this year the number of trophies to be awarded has been increased and in addition an individual float category has been added. All persons or groups entering floats desiring parade information or having suggestions pertaining to the parade are urged to contact Charles Hass.

The afternoon activities will start with an exhibition by the Criterions and the Troop 12 Indians at Cantine Field, followed by a dog show and model airplane flying by a model plane club from Hyde Park.

A Donkey ball game will be featured in mid-afternoon. The participating teams will be announced later. Additional activities will include a watermelon eating contest, Little League ball game and several other activities, which are now in the planning stages.

The evening of the fourth will be topped off with the largest fireworks display ever presented by the Jaycees. This year Saugerties National Bank and Trust Company are the co-sponsors of the fireworks.

The weekend celebration will end on Sunday with what may well be the largest gathering of antique cars Saugerterians have ever seen for the Antique Auto Meet sponsored by the Antique Auto Club of Saugerties.

Hooks Auxiliary's Pete Williams Show Is Saturday

The Pete Williams Show sponsored by Washington Hook and Ladder Auxiliary will appear at Saugerties Municipal Auditorium Saturday 8 p. m.

Tickets may be obtained at the door or from members of the auxiliary. Following a one-hour show, there will be round and square dancing for three hours. Refreshments will be on sale.

The annual banquet of the Washington Hook and Ladder Auxiliary was held June 4 at Stonewall Hotel. Following the dinner the new officers for the coming year were installed by Mary Breithaupt, installing officer.

Installed were president, Peggy Wade; first vice president, Barbara Wade; second vice president, Rose Lechner; secretary, Maryanne Maines; treasurer, Peggy Van Etten.

It was voted to hold the annual picnic on Sunday, Aug. 2, starting at 12:30 p. m. at Seamon Park. Members and their families are invited to attend. Each member will be asked to bring a covered dish. Rose Lechner was appointed chairman for the picnic.

List Committee For Centerville Firemen's Bazaar

The committee and officers for the firemen's bazaar of Centerville Fire Company scheduled July 1 through 4 at the firehouse grounds, Route 212 between Saugerties and Woodstock were announced this week by John C. Paige, general chairman.

Assistant Chief Granville Scotty Myer and Donald G. Rice were named bazaar treasurers.

Others on the committee include Harold Chase, Warren Gilmensen, Carlton Sperl, Thomas Brennan, Werner Hegner, Atwater Valk, Chief Robert Thein, Richard Kime, Bruce Leard, Howard Wittenbecker and Albert Cawein.

A bus load of high school students from Alabama, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina on their way to the United Nations is due in Saugerties on Saturday.

They will be served supper by Odd Fellows of William H. Raymond Lodge No. 59 at the lodge hall, Main Street, Saugerties.

The young people are a contingent of the nearly 1,200 high school students taking part in the 15th annual "United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth" sponsored by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of America. While in New York the students have the opportunity to observe the United Nations in action. They will study at close hand some of the issues facing the United Nations.

While here they will view the city from the top of the Emp,ire State Building; take a boat ride around Manhatan Island, and see a performance at Radio City Music Hall. This year, a day at the New York World's Fair offers a fascinating sidelight.

The students taking part in the UN Pilgrimage for Youth are generally selected by competition from among 16 and 17 year olds, sophomores or juniors in high school, who vie with one another through examinations, interviews, and public speaking contests.

The winning award includes the paying by the Odd Fellow and/or Rebekah lodges of a town, district, or state, of the expenses while in New York and the cost of the bus tour that takes them to New York and home again.

Frank Short, noble grand of William H. Raymond Lodge, Bernard Drefin and Robert Herb are in charge of local arrangements.

Msgr. Montano gave an interesting narration on the life of St. Teresa of Avila, the Carmelite nun.

In order to evaluate the accomplishments of this remarkable nun, Msgr. Montano read excerpts from her letters which described how against tremendous opposition, she reorganized the Carmelite order. This dedicated, dynamic nun, later to be cannonized a saint relied on militant action to accomplish the things she believed in, the Monsignor said.

Prefect Louise Johnson thanked all for the honor of being able to serve as prefect during the past year and welcomed Laura Buono, the newly elected prefect.

The breakfast was prepared and served by the Holy Name men.

Programs Urged To Help Dropouts

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo has called on local officials to press harder for locally developed solutions to local problems.

Lomenzo cited the problem of school dropouts and rehabilitation for young persons who found themselves in trouble with the law.

Lomenzo commented Tuesday in a speech at the four-day annual convention of the New York State Supervisors Association. More than 350 persons are attending the meeting, which began Monday.

Lomenzo said automation would complicate the problem posed by pupils who left school before graduation.

"Local governments have the responsibility to initiate programs within their local educational departments to attract these dropouts and to train them in a skill that will enable them to get a job," Lomenzo said.

He also said rehabilitation programs were needed for youngsters who break the law and are placed on probation instead of going to prison.

Elks Will Mark Flag Day Sunday

Kingston Lodge 550, BPO Elks, will hold a public observance of the Lodge's Flag Day ceremonies Sunday, June 14, at 4 p. m. in the lodge room at Elk's Home, 264 Fair Street.

George Karabinos, Exalter Ruler of the Lodge, extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Principal speaker will be Frederic Snyder of Kingston, well-known lecturer and world traveler.

The program will include the Flag Day Ritual, as performed by the officers and members of the Lodge, and the display of the Minute Man Figure, which was designed and made through the efforts of Warrant Officer Edio G. Ferrari and Major Frank Fabbie of the local unit of the 156th Artillery Battalion. Also on display during the ceremonies will be the only bronzed staffed U. S. flag in this area. The flag was obtained for the occasion by Frederic Snyder.

Exalter Ruler Karabinos said that Kingston Lodge 550, BPOE will be one of more than 2,000 Elks Lodges across the country honoring the flag on the 187th anniversary of its creation by the Continental Congress June 14, 1777.

Kingston Lodge also will participate in the July 4 "Let Freedom Ring" observance. Bells across the nation will be rung simultaneously to commemorate the 188th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The bell ringing observance was first held last year.

Kingston Lodge's Flag Day program is in charge of its Americanization Committee under the chairmanship of Past Exalter Ruler Bruce Miller. Other members of the committee are Charles A. Ryan, P.D.D. Robert M. Smith, P.D.D.; Oscar Newkirk and Joseph Epstein.

Lyonsville

LYONSVILLE — Reformed Church worship service begins at 11:15 a. m. with summer messages to be delivered by Bernhardt Ryder, student pastor.

Kenneth Smith and mother have returned to their home in Yonkers after spending a ten-day vacation at their home here.

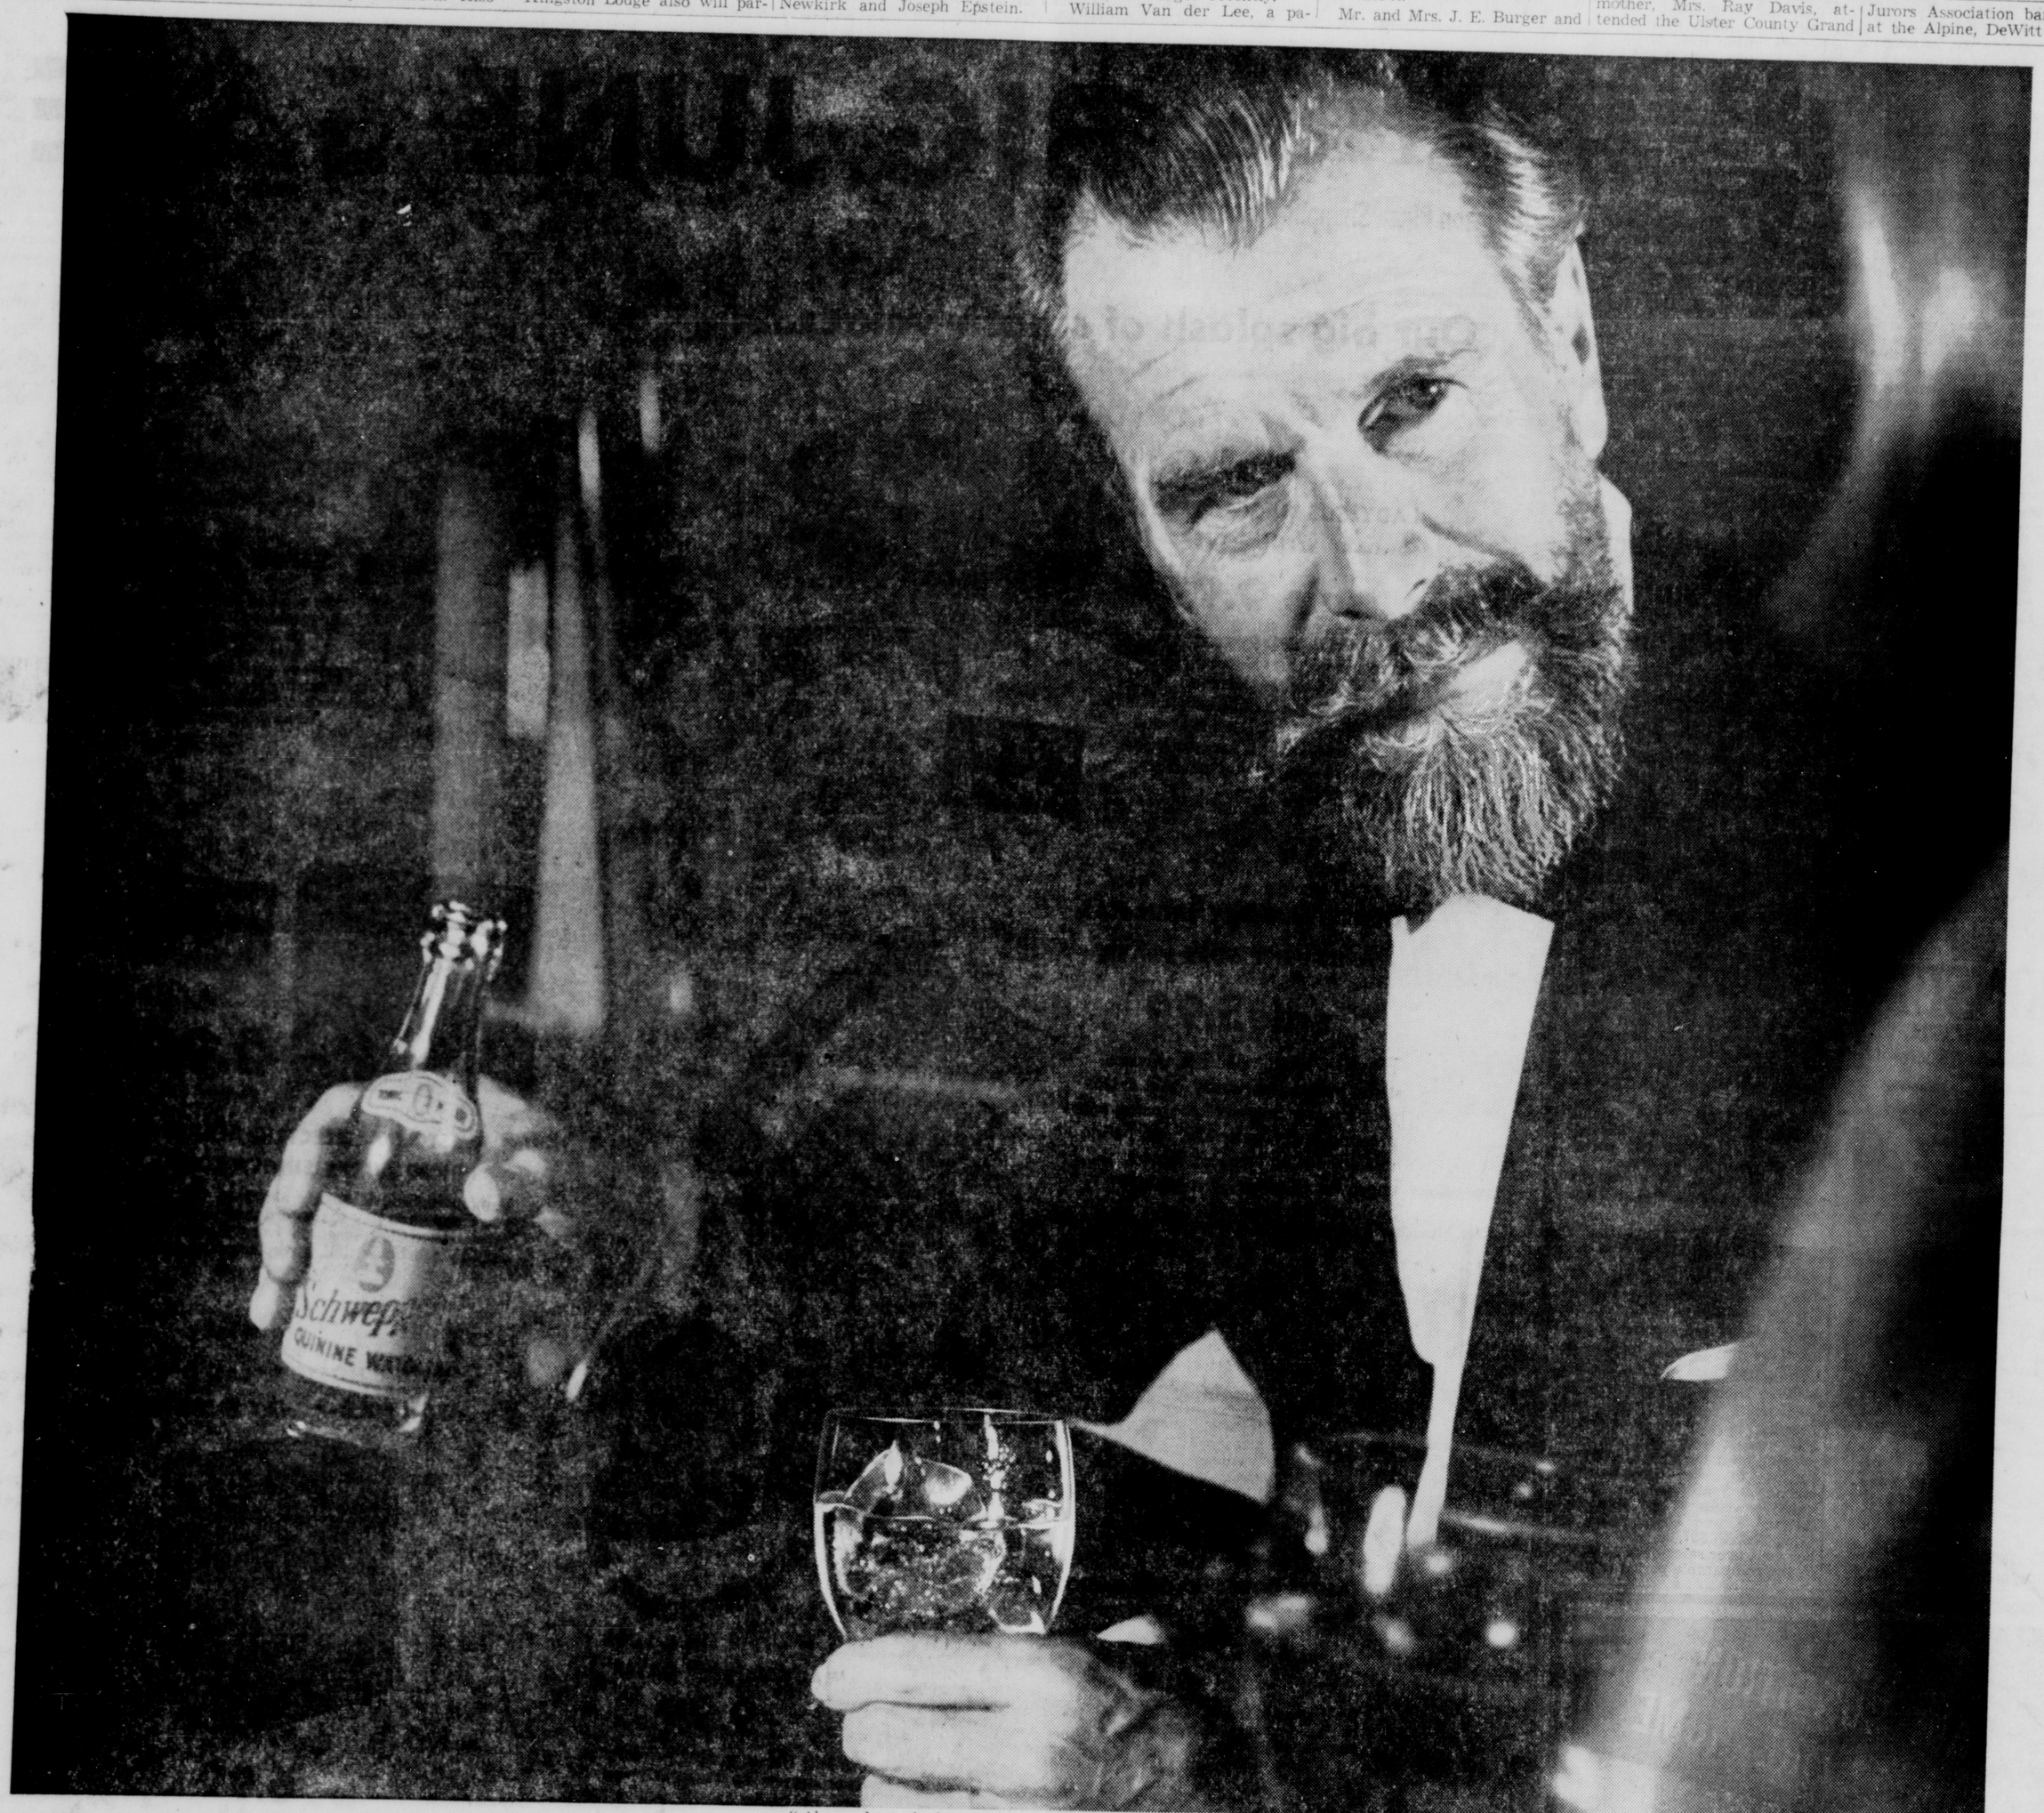
Mrs. Watson Davis of Maryland, visited with her niece, Mrs. J. E. Burger recently.

William Van der Lee, a patient at the U. S. Marine Hospital, Staten Island, since Good Friday, has written friends here that he is making fine progress back to good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ackert of Olive Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. Franz Fries and daughter, Cheryl of Nyack, and Mrs. Franz Fries Sr., of Kingston, visited during the weekend with Mrs. Ray Davis.

William Alexander has been readmitted to Benedictine Hospital where he is receiving treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burger and mother, Mrs. Ray Davis, attended the Ulster County Grand Jurors Association banquet held at the Alpine, DeWitt Lake.



"Always keep the bar in your Rolls Royce as well stocked with Schweppes as the bar at home," cautions Commander Whitehead.

The President of Schweppes U.S.A. reveals his own secret recipe for making magnificent Tonic Drinks

"A TONIC DRINK is the easiest drink in the world to make," says Commander Edward Whitehead.

That's because the basic recipe is so simple. All you need is Schweppes Tonic and liquor—gin, vodka, rum, you name it.

However, there are a few differences between a Tonic Drink that's great and one that's magnificent. Here are Commander Whitehead's own secret rules for the magnificent:

1. Use just a couple of ice cubes in your drink. More will only dilute the drink. (Some people keep their Schweppes in the refrigerator—and don't use any ice cubes at all.)

2. Put a jigger of liquor in the glass—then add the Schweppes.

3. Pour Schweppes Tonic slowly, down the side of the glass. The House of Schweppes in London has been working since 1794 to perfect Schweppervescence—little bubbles that always last your whole drink through. Don't squander that precious Schweppervescence by dashing your Schweppes on the rocks.

4. Don't stir. You don't need to. Schweppes Tonic mixes perfectly with any liquor, without stirring.

Now, sip slowly. Curiously refreshing!

Convenient way to buy Schweppes Tonic: In no deposit, no return bottles. So compact!

Schweppes inimitable flavor is protected, naturally, by glass.

Congo is Facing Violent Days But U.N. Forces Pulling Out

By ROBIN MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Lights burn late at U.N. headquarters in Leopoldville. Senior officers of the world organization's Congo army wear harassed and even guilty looks.

The Congo apparently is heading for dark and violent days, but they are getting out. By June 30, the Congo's fourth independence day, the last of 3,405 U.N. soldiers from 12 nations will have gone home, their job finished.

Finished?

In Kivu, on the Congo's eastern border, Communist-backed pygmy-like Bafulero warriors routed five companies of Congolese soldiers and threatened Bukavu, the provincial capital.

At Albertville, capital of North Katanga, a short-lived revolt against Provincial President Jason Sendwe took more than 100 lives. Wives of two U.N. civilians were raped.

Farther west, young warriors invaded the South Kasai town of Mwene-Ditu and murdered five citizens by forcing them to swallow pili-pili, a tiny, fiendishly hot red pepper used to season food.

Stanleyville Boiling

To the north, Stanleyville, once the late Premier Patrice Lumumba's area and still a hotbed of extremism, seethes with discontent. The central government has named a resident minister to supervise Provincial President Paul Isombuma, deposed by his provincial assembly but reinstated by Leopoldville.

In the center, Peking-trained ex-Education Minister Pierre Mulele leads a rebellion in Kwilu. His warriors also burn and kill in neighboring provinces.

In Leopoldville, nightfall turns more than 1.2 million people in to prisoners inside their homes.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew is the government's answer to plastic bomb attacks against churches, electric power installations and the capital's railroad to the sea. Saboteurs made an unsuccessful bid to blow down the wall of Makala prison in broad daylight.

Try to Hire Assassins

Across the river in Brazzaville, capital of the Congo's sister republic, exiled extremists plot Premier Cyrille Adoula's violent overthrow, bribing soldiers to act as hired assassins.

"These are the darkest days since 1960," declares one high U.N. officer, recalling the Congolese army mutiny only seven days after independence which sent the country into an orgy of killing, looting, raping, destruction and secession.

That brought the United Nations here.

Its rank and file soldiers do not try to conceal their impatience to be gone. Departure dates are ringed with red on wall calendars.

Case for Argument

It can be argued that putting down the rebellions in Kivu and Kwilu is no business of the United Nations.

"Lots of countries have internal security problems," says a U.N. political official who insists on remaining anonymous. "We have to leave one day—we can't stay here forever."

To a large extent, the Congo's present woes are unfinished business. Four years of crisis-ridden independence have been too short to solve deep-rooted tribal, political and economic questions.

Add to this the bewilderment of the ordinary Congolese trying desperately to belong to the 20th century. All the wisdom of his tribal forebears means nothing when he confronts the complexities of modern society.

Add to this a leadership crisis that was inevitable the day this vast, rich nation was handed by its Belgian colonial rulers to 14 million people of whom less than a score had university degrees and even fewer any real experience of accepting responsibility.

Leaders Unpopular

Almost all observers are agreed that Adoula and some of his close collaborators have grown in political stature in battling for survival.

But their measures to keep the country afloat have been misunderstood by the bulk of Congolese. The leaders are unpopular.

Piling on the agony is the inefficiency of corruption, laziness and tribal favoritism displayed by the administration Adoula commands. He rarely knows whether his subordinates will obey him. Ministers fight viciously among themselves.

Next comes racism. Most Congolese know that their country cannot survive without help from white technicians. But they resent it.

On the other side of the racial coin, many whites still lump all Congolese into the "macacq" (monkey) category.

Top this off with a lavish dash of cold war—Peking style. Most experts on communism here are convinced the Chinese are flexing their muscles in Africa, probing for weaknesses.

The sum of all these factors equals indifference by a lot of Conoglese toward their country's ultimate fate.

Perhaps the greatest tragedy is that the Congo, thanks to energetic government measures and foreign aid, was on the brink of economic recovery when assailed by the Communist-supported revolts in Kwilu and Kivu.

Bloodhound Back After Encounter With Porcupine

MALONE, N.Y. (AP) — Captain, the State Police bloodhound that disappeared during a training exercise 14 days ago, has been found safe but sore—from an apparent encounter with a porcupine.

Captain and Pharoah broke their harnesses May 28 while Pharoah, an older bloodhound, was being used in the training of Captain. They ran into a heavily wooded area.

Pharoah returned to the training area the next day, but Captain could not be found. Troopers feared somebody might be frightened and shoot the dog.

Tuesday night, Captain was found wandering on the Paul Judware property (on Route 30) south of Malone—about five miles from where the dog disappeared.

Troopers said the young bloodhound was "a bit bedraggled" and had several porcupine needles in his nose.

Hands His Book to Governors

Consistency Not Virtue, Says Goldwater on Various Issues

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater provided Republican governors with a booklet when some of them wanted clarification on where he stoood on the issues. This wasn't a very flattering thing to do to them.

It was like telling them they would know where he stood if they had paid attention and read this booklet: "Sen. Goldwater Speaks Out On the Issues." It had been in circulation nationwide for weeks.

Nevertheless, Goldwater has not always been consistent in what he said over the past few years. This doesn't bother him. He himself has said: "Consistency is not necessarily a virtue."

He said there was something wrong with a public man who didn't change his mind "to meet the developments of the times."

In the 1950s he said former President Harry S. Truman had "fathered all the misdeeds of recent years" and was the "architect of everything wrong with America today."

Bouquet for HST

In 1963, he said America needs another decisive president like Truman who, he thought, would go down in history as one of the greatest presidents.

In 1963, Goldwater, who proudly calls himself a conservative, said the true one seeks progress based on proven values of the past while the "so-called liberal" is one who seeks change for the sake of change alone. In 1964 he said he thinks history will rate him a liberal.

In 1962, he said as president he would seriously consider transporting Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist troops from Formosa to the Red China mainland for an invasion. But the next year he said the problem was how to get them there.

Last February he was for using warships to halt the shipment of British buses and French products to Cuba but a month later said he would try to discourage Allied trade with Fidel Castro by "example and use of diplomatic pressure."

Fight if Necessary

In 1961, Goldwater talked of landing armed forces in Cuba to throw out Castro and in 1963 of a blockade, support of Cuban exile attacks, and invasion by the Organization of American States and by "ourselves."

He even thought, he said, he would be for doing "anything necessary to get rid of that cancer (Castro). If it means war, let it mean war." But this year he said "the suggestion that we must either accept communism in Cuba or invade Cuba is defeatist and dangerous nonsense."

He had said it was improper for the government to intervene in school desegregation or to use troops to enforce desegreation orders of the courts. But by last month he changed his view, said "I'm glad when I can recognize I'm wrong."

When he first came to the Senate in 1953, he was all for changing the filibuster rules to cut off lengthy debates. He changed and now says he won't vote to end the anti-civil rights filibuster now in its 75th day.

He said if he was president he would break off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union but last January added he would need Senate approval to do this. He couldn't have been more wrong.

The Senate must approve treaties but not breaking off diplomatic relations.

He stopped advocating putting Social Security on a voluntary basis and now says his only interest in the system is to improve it by making the pension dollar sound. After he lost the New Hampshire primary in March, his campaign manager said his talk of a voluntary Social Security system was a major boner.

About Income Taxes

He favors getting rid of the "whole graduated income tax" so that rich and poor pay the same percentage of tax. But the American income tax has always been graduated from the time of the first one in Civil War days under President Abraham Lincoln.

In 1962 and 1963, Goldwater favored getting out of the United Nations. By the latter part of 1963, he was for staying in. By 1964 he said he couldn't recall ever having suggested getting out.

Between 1960 and 1964 Goldwater said so many times he would not seek the Republican presidential nomination that as late as Sept. 15, 1963, he said, "I've said a thousand times I'm going to run for the Senate, nothing more."

But just 11 days before that The Associated Press reported Goldwater had rented the entire 15th floor of a hotel in San Francisco for next month which is when the Republicans hold their nomination convention there.

Then on Jan. 3, 1964, he announced his candidacy and at the same time said he would run for the Senate from Arizona, too, although he had derided Lyndon B. Johnson for running for the vice presidency and the Senate in 1960.

He had said he wouldn't seek both. Now he says he will give up the Senate race if he gets the presidential nomination.

Dr. Snow Returning To Poughkeepsie Post

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Herman B. Snow, who served only nine days as deputy director of the State Department of Mental Hygiene, says he is returning to Hudson River State Hospital here as senior director.

"I realized that I would be happier here where I can work with patients and a staff that directly is handling patients," Snow said Tuesday.

He had left the hospital post May 31 to assume the departmental job. The date for his return was not announced.

Tennessee Trial Held 39 Years Ago

Arizona to Vote on Teaching Evolution in Schools of State

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Thirty-nine years ago a jury was asked to decide whether the theory of evolution should be taught in the schools of Tennessee.

This November, half a million voters may decide whether the Darwinian theory should be taught in the schools of Arizona.

The famed "monkey trial" of 1925 was staged in the Tennessee hamlet of Dayton with a young biology teacher — John Scopes — the central figure. Scopes deliberately violated an anti-evolution law to force the court test.

For Arizona, the trial may be staged in voting booths. Behind the test is the Rev. Aubrey Moore, a Southern Baptist minister who once said, "Either God is a liar or evolution is a liar."

Needs 54,876 Signers

Moore is circulating petitions to place on the general election ballot a proposed state constitutional amendment to prohibit the teaching of evolution in public schools.

He needs 54,876 signatures to bring the measure before the voters.

Moore says he has 7,000 petitions in circulation and expects at least one-half to be returned. Each petition contains the space for 20 signatures.

The Moore proposal already has driven a wedge into the ranks of the Arizona clergy.

Forty-three Methodist ministers and Rabbi Albert Plotkin of Temple Beth Israel, Phoenix, issued a letter attacking a ban on the teaching of evolution.

The Tennessee jury of four decades ago found Scopes guilty and fined him $100.

Would Cancel License

Moore's proposal calls for a fine of $100 to $500 with automatic revocation of a violator's teaching certificate.

Arizona's fight over evolution started last fall when Harold Bates of Phoenix, member of the Nazarene Church, appeared before the State Board of Education.

He said schools were using science books that offered contents in conflict with the Bible. He insisted if evolution could not be barred, then teachers should take the initiative in excusing from classes all children whose parents consider the material objectionable.

The board asked State Atty. Gen. Robert Pickrell if it had the power to prohibit instructions in evolution.

Pickrell said a decision should be reached through a contested court case.

Works Both Ways

"Although the teaching of a particular subject may or may not infringe on the constitutional rights of a citizen, we must also be mindful that to prohibit the teaching of a particular subject which has long been accepted might well infringe on a valuable right of others—the right to receive an education," he said.

Moore criticized the board for its failure to take a position on evolution.

His debate dare was taken by U.S. Atty. Carl A. Muecke, a Roman Catholic.

They argued at the Jewish Community Center in Phoenix while a lone picket marched outside carrying a sign that read—"Don't let Muecke make a monkey out of you."

Muecke argued that "the Bible is not a book of science, but a book of revelations. An individual can believe in God and still believe in evolution."

Moore said, "The teaching of evolution contradicts God's words as related in the book of Genesis. Such instruction has led to delinquency among the young people. Today's youth has no moral responsibility to God."

Clergyman Opposed

The Rev. Hugh Shelby Lee, pastor of the Phoenix First Congregational church, said, "I am very much opposed to this thing that Mr. Moore is doing. Under his initiative petition it is conceivable that you could not teach literature or anything else without a bias based on God. This is dangerous to education."

Dr. Davis C. Hass, pastor of the North Phoenix Baptist church, Phoenix, said, "Evolution should be taught as a theory only. It should take its place alongside a host of other theories."

The Rev. Edward A. Sheldon, pastor of the Faith Evangelical Lutheran church, Phoenix, said "To ban the teaching of evolution in the schools is to say that you cannot have any teaching except what you believe. I think this is wrong."

Caught With Slow Stock

MIAMI (AP)—A pair of button shoes trapped two men in a theft case. They managed to sell 42 pairs of pants and 55 shirts. But the fancy, three-button shoes didn't move and they were caught with them. The owner of the store said he'd been trying to sell the same shoes for 10 years.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Just about everybody loves a parade with its stirring music, bright uniforms and the sight of Old Glory snapping in the breeze.

Tuesday night only a comparative handful of television viewers, those with access to color sets, could fully savor the spine-tingling sights in NBC's affectionate salute to the flag, a program called "The Red, White and Blue."

Most of those who saw the program found a sober, well-intentioned hour full of lofty sentiments and imaginative camera work, but all in white, black and gray. It was the color — brilliant reds and blues and greens — that turned the program into a memorable experience.

The program concentrated on a few patriotic events. One was an all-out Independence Day celebration held annually in Faith, N.C. population 493, which attracts 30,000 visitors.

Another was a loving Memorial Day observance in the burial ground of Noank, a small Connecticut town whose children know the names and deeds of Noank men who gave their lives in many wars. There was a memoir of Ellis Island as the camera's eye wandered over the deserted crumbling buildings occupied only by the ghosts of other days.

Here and there the program tossed out a question about an America "so flag-shy that Barbara Fritchie would be put down as a neighborhood eccentric." Narrator Walter Brennan pointed out that only 20 per cent of all Americans even own a flag.

But except for suggesting that flag-waving went out of fashion because it was done by "some mighty strange people," including Communists, American Nazis and the Ku Klux Klan, the program failed to diagnose the cause of the nation's apparent apathy about its flag.

"CBS Reports" tonight will be treating the subject of the constitutional guarantee of a citizen's right to keep and bear arms by examining two case histories of murder weapons. Because they are both still in the California courts, the program will not be seen either in Los Angeles or San Diego.

NEIGHBOR PERSISTED IN TALKING

Q: A neighbor called me on the telephone the other day about a civic group she was organizing and wanted me to join. I said I was sorry I couldn't talk to her as I was on my way out to keep an appointment. She said, "I won't keep you long," and proceeded to tell me about it. Five minutes passed and I said, "I really must go." She said, "I'll just be another minute." Another five minutes passed. Finally, I said, "I'm sorry. I must go now. Thank you for calling. Goodbye," and hung up.

She is going around telling everyone that I hung up on her and how terribly rude I was. I think she is the one who was rude and that I was perfectly justified in doing what I did. May I please have your opinion on this?

A: After telling your neighbor that you were going out, she should not have persisted in talking to you and hanging up was your only defense. You should, however, have told her that you would call her back when you returned home.

WHERE TO SEND WEDDING PRESENTS

Q: My nephew is going to be married in California next month. I live on the East Coast as does his mother and most of his relatives. None of us will be able to go to the wedding. After their marriage, the bride and groom are planning a trip here at which time his parents will give a reception for them. I would like to know if I should send my wedding present to California or give it to them when they come here for the reception. His parents are giving them money for a wedding present and they too would like to know if they should send it before the wedding or present it to them at the reception?

A: Your present should be sent to the bride at her house in California where it will be displayed with all the other wedding gifts. The check from the groom's parents may be sent before the wedding or given to them privately when they come East. It should not be presented to them at the reception.

Table Manners

Q: Our 10-year-old son has a habit of eating each thing on his plate separately. That is, he eats all of the meat first, then one vegetable and then the other. My husband doesn't think this is a proper way to eat and always scolds him for it. I don't think it matters in the least. Will you please settle this dispute?

A: As long as he eats neatly, his choosing to eat each food on his plate separately is of no importance.

Invited to Stay at Bride's Mother's House

Q: Our son is going to be married out of the state. We have been invited to stay at the bride's mother's house. We will be there for two nights. I would like to know if I should take a gift to the bride's mother?

A: It is not necessary to take a gift to the bride's mother.

Where to Put Olive Pits

Two Defenders, Two Mistakes

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

This may be mistake week in this column, but you can't really charge North and South with an error in getting to the slam. As a matter of fact 12 out of 14 pairs in a duplicate game got there and two succeeded in making it when the defense slipped.

The play started out the same way at both winning tables. South drew trumps, stripped the hand of hearts and diamonds and led a club toward dummy.

One West player made the mistake of playing the jack of clubs. Now all South had to do was to take dummy's ace and lead a second club from either hand.

West could either play his king and catch his partner's queen or let East make his queen, whereupon East would have to give declarer a ruff and discard.

At the other winning table, West did not make the mistake of playing the jack of clubs at his first opportunity. He played the three spot.

The ace was played from dummy and South returned to his own hand to lead another low club.

You can see that West should have played his king. West should have seen it also, but it is pretty hard for a player to realize that he should win a trick with a king when he can win it just as easily with the jack. So West played the jack. East had to overtake with the queen and lead a red card to give South that essential ruff and discard.

Order Long Rest For Sugar Ramos

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Sugar Ramos, world featherweight champion, was ordered by his doctors Tuesday to rest for three months because of his hard fight with Floyd Robertson in Accra, Ghana, a month ago.

Ramos won a controversial 15-round split decision and retained his title, although the Ghana Boxing Commission announced they had reversed the decision and recognized Robertson as champion.

Luis Spota, president of the Mexico City Boxing Commission said that the doctors had ordered Ramos to avoid all boxing routine until September. He will be under medical supervision.

Members of the Hudson Valley Board of Approved Basketball Officials and schools in the Dutchess County Scholastic league have reached a mutual agreement, thus bringing to a close, their one-year rhubarb.

A joint announcement, released today by Donald Nelson of Arlington High School, president of the DCSL, and Bernard McGovern of Wappingers, head of the IAABO, made known the following agreement:

1. All members of the Dutchess County Officials Assn. are encouraged to take the IAABO examination on Dec. 7, 1964. Those who pass will become IAABO members with the probation period waived.

2. Any DCSL school may request assignment of four officials from the IAABO with the officials to be assigned by Carl Farrar of Pawling, league secretary. The fees for IAABO officials will be two varsity men at $16 each and two for jayvee games at $9 each, a total of $50.

3. Any school desiring three officials may request them from the Dutchess County Officials Assn., also to be assigned by Carl Farrar with fees of $18-$18-$8 for a total of $44.

4. During the 1965-66 school year, only IAABO officials will be used.

5. IAABO officials will guarantee no change in their present $16-$16-$9-$9 scale for at least three years.

This joint statement means that schools in the DCSL will be able to use either officials organization for the 1964-65 season but must use the IAABO members only after the one year period.

Waltman Warns On Late Sheets

Dick Waltman, secretary-treasurer of the Kingston Bowling Association, announces that a few league secretaries have not filed final average sheets for the 1963-64 season.

As a result, he said, the leagues did not receive the KBA-sponsored high single trophy to the bowlers who won it.

If these missing average sheets are not received shortly, the secretary of the leagues involved will be given a deadline to submit the report or be called to appear before the KBA executive committee.

Vandalism At Rosendale Club

It was reported at the monthly meeting of the Rosendale Sportsmen's Association, Inc., that a window in the clubhouse had been broken since the last meeting and the contents of the ice box were missing along with a small amount of money.

The Rev. Jacob Wielhouwer was accepted as a member of the club.

The club will contact the Conservation Department to request trout stocking in local streams. A film Out of the North was shown. It dealt with the habits and migrations of duck and geese.

Plans are being completed for the annual banquet at the Alpine on Nov. 14. There will be no further meetings until September.

Dennis Gurrant Sets State Broad Jump Mark

Dennis Gurrant of Monroe-Woodbury shattered the state record in the broad jump at the Intersectional Track Meet Saturday at Cornell University with a leap of 24 feet, ¾ inch.

Gurrant set one of nine records at the annual meet. He sparked Section 9 to its highest finish in the tourney. The section finished with 26 points, giving it a tie for third place with Section 2.

Section 8 captured the event with 100 points and Section 1 was second with 48 points.

Gurrant broke the previous mark of 23-11¾, set earlier this year by George Rainey of White Plains. Rainey finished third to Gurrant on Saturday.

4:24.6 for Ennis

Several other Section 9 contestants did well in this state wide tournament. Dave (Chip) Ennis of Kingston ran a 4:24.6 mile as anchor man of the two mile relay team. His showing enabled the section to take second place in the relay. It was the fastest mile ever run by a KHS trackman.

Jim Wilkerson of Port Jervis placed fourth in the high jump behind record-setting Bill Tindall of Fox Lane, who cleared 6-4¾.

Jim Dolan of Wallkill finished third and Port's John Kinney was fifth in the mile. Johnson of Wantagh eclipsed the record in this event with a brilliant time of 4:18.9.

Don Castronovo of Oceanside High set a national record in the 180-yard low hurdles. He was timed in 18.1 seconds.

Another national mark was set in the triple jump with Warren Rockwell of Wheatly, L. I., sailing a distance of 48 feet, 11 inches.

Other meet standards were set by McCarary of Manhasset with a 1:54.8 in the 880; Gustafson of Wantagh with a 9:29.3 in the two mile; Sherman of Herricks, L. I. with a toss of 171 feet, 8¾ inches in the discus and Schoonover of Niskayuna with 13 feet 3½ inches in the pole vault.

Dave Heermans, the Arlington High strong boy, placed fifth in the shot. Reid of Calhoun whipped the 12-pound ball more than 60 feet for the first time in state high school competition. His record was six inches better than the previous mark.

$10-Million Flood Chases 3,000 From Homes, 30 Dead in Montana

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) —Flood waters chased at least 2,000 persons from their homes here Tuesday night after leaving 30 or more dead and hundreds homeless upstream.

Gov. Tim Babcock estimated damage from the flood, Montana's worst, at $10 million. President Johnson declared seven northwestern counties a disaster area.

In the northwest, hit first by the three-day flood, waters receded and rescue teams started mopping up.

3,000 Homeless

The Sun River crested 11 feet over its flood stage of 12 feet at midnight in this city of 70,000. A spokesman for the Air Force and National Guard's rescue operations estimated 2,000 to 3,000 persons were evacuated from homes here and in the flooded areas to the west and north.

Tom Sullivan, manager of a Red Cross shelter, said he had made records of about 1,300 persons evacuated from homes west of Great Falls and from an exclusive reisdential area surrounding a country club and golf course. The shelter is in West Side Junior High School, where more than 200 residents slept Tuesday night.

Bridge Holds Fast

The 14th Street bridge in Great Falls held fast despite a heavy pounding by water, trees, parts of farm buildings and other debris.

A natural gas pipeline under the Sixth Street bridge burst with a shudder that was felt by onlookers.

Air Force teams said they rescued at least 200 persons from rural areas. The Air Force was using Malmstrom Air Force Base at Great Falls for a headquarters for 11 helicopters and other craft.

Flying Supplies

Pilots made 38 flights Tuesday and were prepared to take additional supplies to flood victims evacuated to other areas.

At least 400 were homeless in the northwest counties of Cascade, Chouteau, Flathead, Glacier, Pondera, Teton and Toole, those designated for federal disaster relief. Hardest hit was the Blackfeet Indian Reservation.

Highway 2 was opened to East Glacier, the eastern gateway to Glacier National Park, and U.S. 89 was opened for the first time since Monday, allowing rescue operations to reach Babb, near the Canadian border.

30-Foot Wall of Water

A road was opened south of Browning to the Two Medicine Creek, but washed-out bridges and roads still had the Birch Creek area isolated. It was the Swift Reservoir dam on Birth Creek that broke Monday, sending a 30-foot wall of water downstream.

This water surged into the Marias River. Other flooding creeks pushed the Teton River over its banks. Both rivers flow into the Missouri River near Loma, population 200, which was evacuated Tuesday night.

Drinking water, contaminated in numerous smaller communities, was safe in Great Falls.

Random Missile Perfect

VANDERBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force fired a missile it picked at random from among the nation's combat-ready Minuteman missile bases.

The missile and its crew were sent to Vandenberg for the reliability test.

Crewmen fired it Tuesday—and it lifted off perfectly and streaked west down the Pacific missile range toward an undisclosed target area 5,000 miles away.

Bystanders Aid Two Attacked On Subway Trains

NEW YORK (AP)—Bystanders went to the aid of persons being attacked on subway trains in two incidents Tuesday.

Their interventions led to the arrests of three youths.

A woman was attacked Tuesday night by two boys who sat on each side of her on a subway train and tried to grab her purse.

When she screamed, three men of the 10 passengers in the car went to her assistance. Fists flew and the fighting was still going on when the train pulled into a station.

The rescuers, men in their 30's who did not want to be identified, held the two boys, aged 16 and 15, until a patrolman handcuffed them. The older of the two was charged with assault and robbery and the younger with juvenile delinquency.

Earlier, subway riders and a transit patrolman subdued a young Negro who had been harassing passsengers on a Queens subway train, by slapping them on the back, flipping up the men's neckties and pulling lapels.

Twenty distinct sounds that chimpanzees make in different situations have been identified. They influence one another's behavior by vocal calls.

HONORED ON RETIREMENT—A veteran of 38 years with the State Conservation Department, Charles A. Beehler, forest pest control foreman, was honored recently on the occasion of his retirement at a dinner in Kurta's Restaurant, Glenford. Beehler, a resident of Connelly, has also served his community as a school board member, fire commissioner, merit badge counselor for the Boy Scouts and is currently a member of the Town of Esopus Zoning Board. Principals at the dinner were Chet Yops, superintendent of the Bureau of Forest Pest Control; William Masterson, field supervisor; Beehler; Sid Bascom, district director.

Arrest Pickets At ALCOA Plant

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—Thirteen union pickets were arrested early today at the struck Massena plant of the Aluminum Co. of America after court orders prevented sympathy strikes threatened at seven other ALCOA plants.

Picketing here reached a pitch near the midnight strike time set by the Aluminum Workers International Union, and approximately 30 sheriff's men moved in.

The sheriff's department said the pickets arrested tried to prevent supervisory employes from entering the plant.

The 13 were jailed on charges of disorderly conduct, pending arraignment. Bail was set at $100 each.

One man, unidentified immediately, was treated at a hospital for minor injuries.

The eruption was the first since the union's 2,300 members here struk June 23 and idled more than 3,000.

The union struck in a dispute over reclassification of about 60 hourly jobs.

Last weekend, Eddie Stahl, union president, said union members at seven other plants in five states would walk out Tuesday night in sympathy.

But the company obtained temporary restraining orders.

The other plants are in Lancaster and Cressona, Pa., Chillicothe, Ohio; Davenport, Iowa; East St. Louis, Ill., and Yankeetown and Lafayette, Ind.

The disturbance here amounied to pushing and shoving, a spokesman for the sheriff's department said.

He said more than 50 pickets had gathered at the plant. A few hours later, however, the situation appeared normal, with the usual five or six pickets at each of the three gates.

State Dems Pick Up Ideas for Party Platform

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The Democratic State Platform Committee continues today gathering ideas for submission to writers of the party's 1964 national platform.

Some of the thoughts expressed Tuesday by Western New York Democrats in Buffalo called for the platform to pledge strong action on civil rights, education, combating unemployment, helping aged persons and youth and a fight against poverty.

The Buffalo session, second of three Upstate, attracted 17 witnesses.

Two Democratic candidates for Congress gave these views:

Robert V. Kelley, 38th district—The platform should call for medical care for the aged, increased social security benefits and bonuses for World War II and Korean War veterans.

Richard D. McCarthy, 39th district—The platform should show awareness of youth problems in areas of "employment, education and juvenile delinquency."

Ellenville Votes

1—A $2,595,000 proposition for a new junior high school building.

2—A $65,000 issue for a swimming pool.

3—A $45,000 proposition which would provide an observatory.

Marlboro district voters previously approved an addition of nine rooms and a science laboratory as approved by the State Department of Education. A proposition for the acquisition of the Lyons property on Plattekill Turnpike about a mile west of the village for a new junior high school site, also was previously approved.

$1,412,000 Dutchess Issue

Rhinebeck voters today will decide a proposition calling for a 29-room elementary school and alterations to the Central School building at an estimated cost of $1,412,000. State aid is estimated at $600,000.

Leslie Close, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee for New Building in the Rhinebeck Central School District, said the committee urges a large turnout for today's vote on the 29-room elementary school proposition.

Police Keep Watch on Tuscaloosa

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Watchful police kept a round-the-clock surveillance on the Negro community in Tuscalooosa today, alert for signs of new demonstrations in the wake of Tuesday's bloody street battle.

Negro leaders, some of them in jail as a result of the clash with police, gave no indication of their future course.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. ordered some of his key staff members sent in to Tuscaloosa. City authorities assumed that some effort might be made to keep the demonstrations alive despite the ban on street marches which touched off the wild outbreak of club swinging and rock and bottle throwing.

Ninety-six Negroes went to jail in the aftermath of a 45-minute siege which sent 33 Negroes and a policeman to a hospital with cuts and bruises and tear-gas sickness.

City police and sheriffs deputies, reinforced by plainclothes state investigators, patroled Negro sections through the night but found no evidence of organized Negro activity.

State troopers, some of whom stood guard at the University of Alabama campus in Tuscaloosa just a year ago when two Negroes were admitted to the university, reportedly were ready to move into the city if local authorities asked for them.

The clash between Negro demonstrators and police was the first outbreak of racial violence in this heavily industrialized community since the Autherine Lucy riot eight years ago. Miss Lucy, the first Negro enrolled as a student at the university, was driven from the campus by an angry white mob. Later she was expelled for accusing university authorities of conspiring with the rioting crowd.

Pills, Dog Bites Send 4 Children For Treatment

Local police were notified twice Tuesday that children from the same uptown address were treated for ingestion of pills, and another report noted that two youngsters in a downtown house had been bitten by a dog.

A report at 9:57 p. m., noted that Stephen Hossack, year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Hossack, of 112 Elmendorf Street, had been treated at the Benedictine Hospital after he had apparently taken an "unknown amount" of diet pills. He was admitted and reported in fair condition today.

Police were notified at 2 p. m. that two-year-old Desiree Hassock, of the same address, had been treated for ingestion of pills. She was not admitted.

A report at 8:37 p. m., said that Terry Wolfe, 7, and Jo Ann Bell, 8, of 140 Spring Street, had been bitten by a dog, owned by a resident of 146 Spring Street. They were treated at Kingston Hospital. Officers Kenneth Radel and Louis Sapp investigated. The health department and SPCA agent Arnold Adams were notified.

Vernon Downs—Helma's Boy ($24) was the winner in the $1,200 conditioned trot in 2:04.

Two Komodo dragons, largest of all living lizards were given to Washington's National Zoo recently by Indonesia's Premier Sukarno. The reptiles are the only ones living in captivity in the United States.

Ray Sadecki Stops Giants, 1-0; Wilhelm's Catcher Has Woes

6th Straight Win Cuts SF Margin; Mets Split Pair

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ray Sadecki certainly has matured quickly.

Two years ago he was being called a 10-year-old boy. Now Sadecki's 23—and the hottest pitcher on the St. Louis staff.

Sadecki gave still another indication of his transition Tuesday night, with a six-hit, 1-0 victory over Juan Marichal and the National League leading San Francisco Giants.

It was the first shutout of the season and the sixth straight victory as a starter for the onetime bad boy of the Cardinal staff.

Two years and four days before he had stepped to the mound against Cincinnati and faced just five batters. When he trudged off the mound, he had been tagged for five runs on two homers, a single and two of his own errors.

St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane, flushed with anger, cited Sadecki for acting "like a 10-year-old boy" and said his performance was "the worst exhibition of effort I've ever seen on a major league diamond."

Sadecki countered: "I don't see how I can pitch anymore for a guy like this," and said he was quitting the team.

Goes to Minors

Cooler heads prevailed and Keane and Sadecki wound up shaking hands. Sadecki also wound up in the minors.

Last year Sadecki returned and was 10-10. Then he got off to a quick 0-3 start this season. But he hasn't lost since as a starter, his one defeat coming in a relief role. His latest victory snapped a four-game St. Louis losing streak and cut the Giants league lead to one game over Philadelphia.

The Phillies split, ending a four-game skid with a 4-3 first-game victory before Pittsburgh rookie Steve Blass stopped them 4-0 on four hits in the nightcap.

In the only other single game, Cincinnati edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1. Houston defeated Milwaukee 6-5 and 4-1 while the New York Mets edged the Chicago Cubs 6-5 in 12 innings before losing 5-2.

Marichal, now 8-2, had allowed only three hits when the Cardinals finally struck for the game's only run in the ninth. Curt Flood started things with a single, moved up on a sacrifice and raced home on a single by Charley James.

Marichal collected two of the Giants' hits, but muffed a sacrifice in the third inning that probably cost a run. With Gil Garrido on second, Marichal missed a bunt and Garrido was thrown out at third. Harvey Kuenn then singled.

The Phillies broke through in the first game when Richie Allen hit his 11th homer, the first for Philadelphia in 75 innings. Art Mahaffey, however, couldn't hold a 4-0 lead and needed Ed Roebuck's relief help after Jerry Lynch closed the gap with a three-run homer.

Blass pitched his first major league shutout in the nightcap, bringing his record to 3-2 with heavy hitting support by Lynch and Bob Bailey. Lynch smacked a key two-run double for the Pirates and Bailey connected for a homer.

Gordy Coleman's homer in the second—the only hit off Dodger starter Joe Moeller in seven innings—and Marty Keough's eighth-inning single produced the Reds' runs. Cincinnati starter Jim O'Toole allowed only two hits in seven innings but went out when Keough batted and the Dodgers scored their run against Sam Ellis.

9th for Farrell

Dick Farrel brought his record to 9-1 for the Colts with his sixth straight victory but needed Hal Woodeshick's ninth inning relief help. With one run in and two on, Woodeshick got Joe Torre to hit into a double play, and struck out Ed Mathews.

Don Nottebart won his first game after seven losses with a five-hitter in the nightcap. Bob Aspromonte hit his second homer of the night in the eighth inning—only the second hit off Bob Sadowski—and started a four-run surge that won it for the Colts.

The Mets won the opener against the Cubs when Jesse Gonder singled with the bases loaded in the 12th inning, capping a two-run rally. Larry Bearnarth pitched 7 1-3 innings of hitless relief ball and wound up the winner, with a six-hit, 10-inning performance.

Snead Qualifies For U. S. Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Golf lovers everywhere heaved a big sigh of relief today—Sam Snead made it.

Slammin' Sammy, the man who has won a hundred tournaments but never the Open, will be trying for the 24th time when 150 of the world's best golfers tee off next week in the blue ribbon American championship at the Congressional Club in Washington, D.C.

Snead was among 94 who qualified in final 36-hole test Tuesday at Detroit; Woodmere, and Fort Worth, completing the field for the championship proper June 18-20.

Others were less fortunate, including former winners Cary Lew Worsham and such well-known touring pros as Dave Marr, Bob Duden and Wes Ellis.

Sam, now 52 but still strong and active and a sentimental favorite every time he tees up the ball in the Open, made the grade easily at Detroit, where big George Bayer led a strong field of the tournament stars with a score of 68-70—138.

Posts 144 Score

Snead's qualifying score was 71-73—144, five shots under the cutoff point for the 39 who made the grade at Detroit.

It was at Detroit that Bolt, the 1958 winner, shot a 77 for the first round, played 17 holes of the second and then left the course without taking off his spikes. Duden, the croquet-style putter from Portland, Ore., missed in a playoff of the 149 shooters.

Middlecoff, the golfing dentist who won the Open in 1949 and 1956, was a casualty at Woodmere, N.Y., where 36 qualifiers were led by the 230-pound Welshman, Dave Thomas.

Thomas shot the best 36 holes of the day with 68-67—135, leading such well-known players as Jay and Lionel Hebert, Doug Ford, Tommy Jacobs and Claude Harmon. Middlecoff missed at 148, as did Ellis, also 148, and Marr, the Masters runner-up, 147.

Other Leaders

Other sectional leaders were Bill Garrett, 75-71—146, at Fort Worth; Tom Strange, 69-70—139 at Washington, and Chuck Scally 69-70—139 at Pittsburgh. Worsham, who beat Snead in a playoff for the Open crown in 1947, missed out at Pittsburgh.

There are many who contend that Snead, despite his age, can still win the Open, and he'll probably never have a course more to his liking than Congressional, a layout built for the big hitter.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus are the favorites there. They were exempt from qualifying, as was the defending champion, Julius Boros, and 19 others.

Yanks Advance In British Golf

GANTON, England (AP) — George Blocker, who strides with the lazy gait of a cowboy, looks like the Gary Cooper of golf.

The easy-going New Mexican addresses the ball with same concentration and dedication as Cooper handled his guns under fire in countless movies.

George is a 24-year-old American Army corporal who plays his third-round match in the British Amateur Golf Championship today against Irishman Brian Malone.

Most experts reckon that, along with 44-year-old Dale Morey of High Point, N.C., he's the American most likely to shoot down a few of the favorites before the tourney ends Saturday.

People around the golf clubs know all about Morey. He's a former Walker Cup player and won this year's North and South.

In Tuesday's second round, he chalked up the day's biggest victory—an 8 and 6 pasting of Orville Goens of Des Moines, Iowa.

Seven Americans have advanced to the third round, including 50-year-old John Penrose of Philadelphia, who is competing in his 10th British Amateur. Four more Americans play second-round games today, and if they're successful, will decide the third-round matches in the afternoon.

Veteran Hurler Saves Contest For AL Leaders

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't feel sorry for J.C. Martin. Let Ray Katt, Gus Triandos, Joe Ginsberg and Charley Lau hand out the sympathy. They're the ones who know what it's like to try and catch the butterflies Hoyt Wilhelm throws.

Martin had one of those nightmarish evenings that all of Wilhelm's catchers experience now and then as the White Sox whipped the second-place Baltimore Orioles 9-5 Tuesday and extended their American League lead to 1½ games.

Juan Pizarro was breezing to his seventh victory with a 6-1 lead through seven innings and Martin was taking it easy while Camilo Carreon handled the big mitt.

Three Oriole hits in the eighth brought Al Lopez out of the Sox dugout on the run and he called for Wilhelm. When the veteran reliever got the high sign, it meant Martin had to go to work too and that's when the trouble started.

One of Wilhelm's flutterballs got away and Sam Bowens, who was on third, started for the plate. Martin, who is used to this sort of thing, made a quick recovery and Bowens pulled up short. J.C. fired to third to try and get the runner but the ball sailed into left field and the runner scored.

Another Gets Away

Moments later another Wilhelm knuckler fluttered away and moved Norm Siebern to third. He later scored on Al Weis' throwing error.

In the ninth J.C. allowed two more pitches to get by, setting up the Orioles' final run. In case you haven't been counting, that's three passed balls and a throwing error in two innings of catching Wilhelm.

In other AL games Tuesday, Washington swept two games from Kansas City 8-4 and 5-1, Los Angeles stopped Cleveland 5-1, Boston whipped New York 5-2 and Detroit walloped Minnesota 16-1.

Martin once said Wilhelm's knuckler "dances like it was something bewitched," but all he has to do is catch it. Pity the poor guys who have to swing against it.

The aging knuckler lowered his earned-run average to 1.50 with his 14th save as the streaking Sox won their 11th game in the last 15.

Pizarro, who ran his record to 7-2, had the key hit for Chicago, a two-run single in the five-run White Sox' fourth.

Chuck Hinton slammed six hits in the doubleheader for the Senators and ran his average to .350. Buster Narum and Tom Cheney went the distance to gain the victories. It was Cheney's first triumph since July 4 of last year.

Chuck Cottier's three-run homer helped Narum overcome a shaky start in the opener and Mike Brumley's bases-loaded tripled eased Cheney's way in the nightcap.

Fred Newman threw a six-hitter at the Indians and Bob Perry cracked his first home run as the Angels collected 13 hits.

Max Alvis homered for Cleveland's only run.

Radatz Saves It

Dick Radatz saved Boston's victory for Earl Wilson as the Red Sox tagged Al Downing with his second loss. It was Radatz' 29th appearance and 17th in Boston's last 26 games.

Roger Maris and Bobby Richardson homered for the Yankees.

Don Demeter had three hits including two home runs for five RBI to pace Detroit's attack. Al Kaline also had three hits for the Tigers and raised his average to .298, a jump of 85 points in the last two weeks.

Bill Freehan also homered for Detroit and Harmon Killebrew tagged his 17th for the Twins.

Nylon Mystery Solved

NEW YORK (AP)—An atmospheric fluke caused a rash of runs in women's nylons in the city recently, according to the Department of Air Pollution Control. The guilty agent was nitrogen dioxide gas released during blasting operations by a construction company, working in the downtown area. Because of the damp, heavy air on that day, the gas hovered near the surface instead of being dissipated. When a sufficient pocket of it touched a stocking, it dissolved some of the chemical elements and "laddered" the stocking.

NIP AND TUCK AT SHEA STADIUM—Just the thing for a squeeze play seems to be the opinion that Mets manager Casey Stengel has of the Maine lobster held by pitcher Carlton Willey — the only major leaguer from Maine. Willey was host at a lobster party at rain-soaked Shea Stadium to help publicize the product of his home state. (AP Wirephoto)

The Kingston Bowling Association will host the Northeast Council of City Bowling Associations Sunday, June 21, at Sangi's Bowlero. Fifteen regional city associations are expected to compete.

The tournament brings together the champions in team, doubles and singles of the competing associations.

Kingston's 1964 champions in the 27th annual local tournament—Hurley Sand and Gravel —will represent the Kingston Bowling Association. Tariffless Tea

BERNE, Switzerland (AP)—Berne authorities in agreement with the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and the European Trade Association recently announced the abolition of all duties on tea, so that Switzerland may soon be the country serving the cheapest "cuppa" ever.

The Indian Embassy immediately launched a campaign promoting Indian tea, with young Indians in national costumes distributing leaflets and free samples. Lovers of China tea were expected to get the same service.

Networks, AP Will Pool Vote Coverage

NEW YORK (AP)—The three major radio-television networks and The Associated Press will pool the collection of election returns in the November presidential, senatorial and gubernatorial races.

United Press International was also reported considering participation in the program, to be called Network Election Service.

100,000 Reporters

The announcement Tuesday, issued after a meeting of officials of the organizations, said the service will use more than 100,000 reporters to cover returns at the precinct or county level.

The announcement added:

of Network Election Service.

will be administered by a board of directors consisting of one representative from each network. They will be Arnold Snyder, manager of election coverage for ABC News; William Eames, editorial director of the CBS News election unit; and Frank Jordan, manager of election coverage for NBC News. The Associated Press will participate as a nonvoting member of Network Election Service.

"Returns will be reported simultaneously to each of the three individual networks, which will post such returns on a state-by-state basis in their respective studios on election night. In addition, statewide totals in the presidential elections will be relayed to a single tabulating center in New York, which will maintain the running national tabulation on presidential returns. The tabulating center will then transmit its national totals to each network, so that the same national figure will be available to each network simultaneously.

Free to Continue Analysis

"Under the agreement reached at meetings today, each network is free to continue individual election analysis systems, which in the main involve the analysis of returns from representative precincts. Each network will bear the responsibility of manning such precincts and communicating the results. These returns, however, will not be included in network election service returns posted by the networks."

News; Fred W. Friendly, president of Columbia Broadcasting System News; William R. McAndrew, National Broadcasting Co. executive vice president in charge of NBC News; and Wes Galllagher, general manager of The Associated Press, commenting on the step taken, said jointly:

Great Step Forward

"The creation of Network Election Service, is, we believe, a great step forward in the gathering and dissemination of news. The American voter and the public at large will be the beneficiaries of faster, and most accurate returns. At the same time, network election service will do much to eliminate the confusion created by several different vote counts, based on reports from different precincts. We expect Network Election Service to become the authoritative source of returns in all future elections."

The meeting was held in the Columbia Broadcasting Systeme headquarters.

Gallagher, in a separate statement, said:

"We hope that this pool participation will be the first step toward creating a national election bureau which would collect vote returns at all state levels for all members of the press, newspapers, radio and television. In this way we could not only render a better service to our members and the public but also in the long run effect economies.

"The Associated Press will continue to report and count the state races since these are not included in this year's pool arrangement.

"These include races for state offices other than governor and senate and various state propositions that are always on the November ballots.

"Full mechanics of the pool arrangement remain to be worked out."

Official Count

Fathers Getting Chance to Be King for a Day

A lucky father will reign as "King for a Day" on Father's Day, June 21, as a result of a contest sponsored by the local Montgomery Ward store, it was announced today.

"The store promises a day the father will long remember. The contest starts today and ends June 20, and a unique feature is that the King will receive his crown due to efforts of either a son or a daughter.

Blanks in Freeman

Any child up to 17 years old may enter, and as an entrant merely explains in 25 words or less, "Why My Dad is the Greatest." Mothers may help the youngsters write their entry.

Official entry blanks may be found in today's issue of The Freeman, or they may be obtained at the customer accommodation center at Wards.

In addition to having his dad crowned as King for a Day, the boy or girl will receive a bicycle, and share "in many of dad's wonderful adventures." The winner will be selected on Saturday, June 20 at 8 p. m., by a committee of three local radio executives; Dick McCarthy of WGHQ, Larry Swarz, of WKNY, and Bob Beckwith, of WBAZ.

Long Gift List

The King is due to receive a "long list of gifts" from the Ward store and on Sunday morning, his Queen and any daughters will receive corsages.

A chauffeur-driven car from DeWitt Cadillac will drive the family to church or to visit relatives. The coronation ceremony will be broadcast at noon. Then the entourage will go to the Skyline Restaurant, Catskill, for luncheon. The afternoon schedule includes a visit to the Catskill Game Farm. A dinner at Whale Back Inn, Red Hook is planned for Sunday evening, and other places of interest in the area are to be visited.

Special Luncheon

The program continues Monday when His Majesty will be driven to his place of employment, with a luncheon planned for the King and his employer. Later in the week the King and Queen are due for trips to the Monticello Raceway, and are to be guests of the New York Mets.

The contest offers 200 consolation prizes as an inducement for boys and girls to enter.

Charles Levengood, Ward store manager, said the contest will be the most exciting event sponsored by the store. The lucky father, whose child wins the contest, he said, will have "an unforgettable time."

Hudson District Lutheran Clergy Hear CORE Aims

Five members of the Ulster County Chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality met for three hours of informal discussion of the civil rights issue with the Hudson District Ministerium of the New York Synod of the Lutheran Church in America at the Kitchen Restaurant, Hyde Park, Monday.

Following the invocation by Woodstock pastor, the Rev. Norman Krapf, CORE speaker Jennifer Miller talked briefly about the local chapter's work to date and specifically called upon the clergy present to "stand up and be counted."

In the dialogue that followed, the concensus was that it was the Christian responsibility of each pastor to work actively for civil rights within his community. How ministers can reach their parishioners as individuals and see to it that they initiate and follow through on actions designed to end discrimination in housing, employment and education must, it was agreed, be worked out by each pastor individually as the particular nature of his community demands it.

It was also the consensus that each pastor must now "stand up and be counted," and that for individual parishioners to have "real freedom, they must be made to face up to the problem of enforcing freedom for every other human being."

In thanking the Lutheran ministers for inviting them to meet with them, the CORE members pointed out that as yet, except for the Rev. Reginald McHugh, of the First Immanuel Church of Kingston, and the Unitarian Fellowship of Ulster County, no representative of the religious community of Kingston has yet publically taken a stand with CORE in bringing about an immediate end to discrimination in local housing, employment and education.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Cigarette issues were fairly strong in a generally advancing stock market early this afternoon. The trading pace was a little quicker than yesterday's.

Gains of key stocks were mostly from fractions to a point.

Du Pont gave an extra boost to the averages with a rise exceeding 2.

Cigarette issues were bought in living fashion following a report that U.S. Surgeon Gen. Dr Luther Terry said it would take at east 10 years to bring about significant changes in the nation's smoking habits.

The market was higher from the start. Some gains wilted later but the list remained well ahead.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Methodist Conference Begins, Local Minister Gives Report

The largest gathering of Methodists ever to assemble in an annual conference on the eastern seaboard convened this morning at Drew University and brought to an end racial segregation in the administration of Methodist churches in the New York Area.

More than 1,300 ministerial and lay delegates representing 200,000 members of 591 churches marked the merger of the New York and New York East Conferences and welcomed into membership eight churches of the Central (Negro) Jurisdiction which transferred from the Delaware Conference.

A rising ovation was given the delegates from these churches as their names were read by the Rev. Dr. William James of Metropolitan Community Church, New York City, program chairman. The churches and their ministers are Brooks Memorial Methodist Church, Jamaica, the Rev. Dr. Charles L. Carrington; Redeemer Methodist Church, Brooklyn, the Rev. Lester V. Baker; Newman Memorial Church, Brooklyn, the Rev. Henri Deas; St. Matthew's Church, Ossining, the Rev. Randolph Fisher; John Wesley Church, Brooklyn, the Rev. Edward H. Holmes; Butler Memorial Church, the Bronx, the Rev. W. P. Johnson; Trinity Methodist Church, White Plains, the Rev. C. Edgar Jordan; and St. Luke's Methodist Church, New Rochelle, the Rev. Readus J. Watkins.

Dr. Carrington has been named executive secretary of the Board of Missions and Church Extension for the new conference, and another Negro, the Rev. Dr. Charles L. Warren of St. Mark's Methodist Church, New York City, will be appointed a district superintendent on Sunday afternoon.

Ulster Is Included

The new conference includes Manhattan, Queens, Brooklyn, the Bronx, Long Island, Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Ulster, Orange, Delaware, Sullivan, Greene, Columbia and parts of Albany and Schoharie Counties in New York State; Fairfield, Litchfield, Hartford and the western half of Middlesex Counties in Connecticut; also five churches in Pennsylvania.

Reporting on the activities of the New York East Conference in the last year, the Rev. Harrison E. Davis of East Williston, superintendent of the Brooklyn North District, stated that the subject of race had received more attention from the district superintendents than any other subject.

REV. GEORGE P. WERNER

He mentioned meetings of pastors and pastoral relations' committees working toward appointments of ministers across racial lines and added, "We are not with the subject only while the fad is on, we are with it for the duration and we are counting on you pastors and lay people to rally to the cause of justice and brotherhood."

Rev. Werner Cites Gains

The Rev. Mr. Davis and the Rev. George P. Werner, superintendent of the Kingston District who reported for the New York Conference, commended the churches for the capital fund campaigns they conducted last year for church extension, homes for the aged, camp development, seminary scholarships and city work. More than $5 million has been pledged over a three-year period and $1 million has been collected.

The Rev. Mr. Werner also cited the advances made in racial integration and said that 95 per cent of the churches in the conference had indicated willingness to accept a pastor without regard to color.

He thanked laymen and clergymen for their support of those directly involved in the civil rights struggle and urged positive support of Negro leaders "like Roy Wilkins, Bayard Rustin, Martin Luther King and James Farmer who labor in political and economic arenas for absolute equality of opportunity."

The Rev. Mr. Werner also asked the churches to mobilize their resources in each community to reclaim school drop-outs, provide tutoring services and supervised after-school study and recreation.

The principal task of the church for the coming year is the development of new techniques of evangelism in rural areas as well as in the cities, the Rev. Mr. Werner said.

East conference held its concluding individual business session yesterday and the new body met for the first time last night for the sacrament of Holy Communion administered by Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke and the district superintendents.

Goldwater Eyes

next November — not with an eye to building his convention power.

An Associated Press survey now puts his delegate total at 540—with indications he could push it past the nominating number next week.

Efforts to blunt his drive appeared to have collapsed at the National Governors Conference in Cleveland.

"I will have open ears and an open mind to anybody the party suggests to run with me," Goldwate rs dia iongsLsAe ltneh water said in Los Angeles the night he won the California primary.

Will Have Strange Hand

Nevertheless, a top aide said Goldwater "contemplates handling this in the orthodox way. He will have a very strong hand in the selection of a running mate."

The aide pointed out that three of the four men Goldwater has mentioned privately are from states that rank among the most potent in the Electoral College: New York with 43 votes, Pennsylvania with 29 and Ohio with 26. Kentucky has 9.

Rhodes, 53, is a former Ohio state auditor who became governor in 1963, winning in his second bid for the office.

Scranton, 46, long rated a dark-horse contender for top spot on the ticket, served a term in the House before he became governor. The Pennsylvania leader was a World War II flier and still is a member of the Air Force Reserve unit Goldwater commands.

Morton is 57, and a former chairman of the Republican National Committee. He was elected to the House in 1946, served three terms, and was an assistant secretary of state from 1953 until 1956, the year he won his Senate seat.

Miller is retiring from Congress—and as Republican national chairman—after 14 years in the House. The 50-year-old party chairman also served as chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee. He plans to return to his law practice in northwestern New York State.

Married in TV Rites

The astronauts were married in a televised white wedding at the flower - decked Palace of Marriages in Moscow. At the reception afterward, with Premier Khrushchev as host, the newlyweds were given a "symbolic present" by Soviet military leaders. It was a little doll —a girl.

Khrushchev said he was a sort of foster father to the young couple, both of whom lost their fathers during World War II.

"I didn't bring any baby buggies or pacifiers," he told them. "If you have a baby, the gifts won't fail to come."

All Soviet space pilots were on hand for the wedding, which got more public attention than any Russian marriage since Czar Nicholas II married Queen Victoria's granddaughter in 1893.

nesses, said Walker was asked several times to lead a student charge on the marshals, but each time Walker said he was in Oxford, Miss., merely to observe.

Walker claims in his suit that certain Associated Press stories on his activities at Oxford were false and malicious. The Associated Press, which will present its evidence following Walker's were true in fact and substance, and without malice.

Dollar Averaging Makes Monthly Plan Attractive

Q) "May I please have your candid opinion about the Monthly Investment Plan?" B.W.

A) I will be very pleased to give it, since I find, rather to my surprise, that I have not discussed this method of investment for over a year.

The Monthly Investment Plan is offered by certain members of the New York Stock Exchange. It permits you to buy stock or stocks listed on that exchange by either monthly or quarterly payments as low as $40.

The advantages of the Plan are that it encourages systematic savings, and that it enables you to acquire shares at an average price over a period of time.

Its only disadvantage is that the commission charges on small transactions are relatively high — but this factor, in my opinion, is outweighed by the advantages of dollar averaging.

Q) "I was interested in your comment in a recent column where you stated you were heartily in favor of averaging down in a strong stock such as Dow Chemical. I was wondering if you feel the same about National Cash Register, which our Investment Club owns at a price of $113 a share." W.B.

A) I'm sorry to say I do not.

In many respects National Cash Register is as strong a stock as Dow Chemical, but National's earnings have gone down in each of the past two years while Dow's have been gaining sustantially.

National Cash Register's share earnings were only pennies above the 1955 level. National dominates the cash register business on a worldwide basis, but its future growth depends largely on the success of its new accounting machines and computers.

The technical action of the stock has been very poor, and I believe you would be better advised to put new funds into Arlan's Department Stores — a discount situation that has shown very strong growth.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Steady Growth

A small group of local men met April 15, 1853, to organize the State of New York Bank in order to meet the increasing demands of the steadily progressing community. If the founders of the bank could look back today they would no doubt marvel at the changes made over the period of years.

President Abraham Lincoln recommended a National Bank Act to Congress in 1864 and the following year Congress adopted the act on April 15, 1865. Complying with the new act, directors of the State of New York Bank officially changed the name of the bank to the State of New York National Bank.

The brick building at Wall and John Streets, now occupied as the bank's installment credit office, was built in 1865.

All Enemies to Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Cubans were told Tuesday night it doesn't matter whether the Democrats or the Republicans win the U.S. election because both will be bad for Latin America.

Communist leader Blas Roca said in a radio-television appearance: "There are some candidates who wouldn't be as bad as that madman Goldwater but both parties are enemies of Latin America."

Attack Made . . .

ing unjust discrimination," said the leader of the march, the Rev. Andrew Young.

Young was struck in the mouth, knocked down and beaten but not hurt seriously. Wiping at a cut on his lip, Young shrugged off questions whether he would ask for federal protection.

300 in March

Tuesday night's march started from St. Mary's Baptist church, a few blocks from the downtown area. The target, as in past marches, was the old slave market in the city park near the riverfront.

Nearly 300 demonstrators walked quietly downtown without incident. As they headed back toward the church they ran into trouble. White marchers were singled out.

A big white man, weighing about 230 pounds, pummeled to the pavement the Rev. William England, 33, Boston University chaplain, who is white. The assailant then methodically kicked and stomped the chaplain, slumped with his hands over his head.

Negro Boy Helps

The thud of the kicks was punctuated with groans from the victim. A slender Negro boy about 12, threw his body over the chaplain.

Policemen attempted no arrests of the assailants.

An injunction by U.S. Dist. Judge Bryan Simpson opened the way for a renewal of night marches, banned by police order May 28 after white youths attacked newsmen during a night protest.

The evening has been set aside for the Floral Night when the Floral Degree will be conferred upon Worthy Sister Lee Freeman and Brother Swan Brewster by the Floral Matron, Sister Florence Torigian. An invitation is extended to all members of the Eastern Star and Master Masons to attend. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Rockefeller . . .

Young—to join the 82 elected in last week's primary.

But 76 were counted as Rockefeller's supporters, two had offered themselves as Goldwater men and four ran as uncommitted.

Besides Rockefeller and Young, the other eight to be named as delegates-at-large will be in the governor's corner, giving him a total of 86 of the 92 votes.

Rockefeller has vowed he will fight for a platform that reflects what he calls progressive Republican principles. His spokesmen undoubtedly will collide with members of the GOP's conservative wing, which regards Goldwater as its leader.

Po'keepsie Town Assessment Roll Shows Big Jump

Town of Poughkeepsie's assessment roll has increased approximately $6,500,000 from last year's figure of $44,954,104, according to Town Assessor Robert Lane.

Lane made known that on the basis of a reassessment recently completed in the town, plus new construction, the town assessment total is $51,545,104, only $14,246,602 less than the total assessment last year of the City of Poughkeepsie, which was $66,700,706.

The town assessor noted that there has been an increase of about $4,000,000 on exhisting properties and $2.5 million in new assessments he anticipates reasa result of the completed reassessments he anticipates there will be a reduction of at least $2 per $1,000 of assessed valuation from the present $26.72 tax rate, provided spending remains at the present level.

Lane said that the greatest share of the increase in assessments has been given to owners of commercial properties. The last townwide reassessment was in 1954.

The assessor said he conducted the reassessment with Walter Donnaruma, Kingston, formerly of the State Board of Equalization and Assessments and Haynes Jorgensen, former Town of Poughkeepsie assessor, and Arthur Plog, assistant town assessor, as consultants.

Katrine Man to Attend Active Duty Training

The 15 officers of the Albany Selective Service Section of the New York Army National Guard including Maj. Harold J. Twiss of Lake Katrine depart this weekend for a two-weeks tour of annual active duty training at Hanscom Air Force Base in Bedford, Mass.

These officers will participate in a conference, directed by National Selective Service Headquarters, with other National Guard officers and Reserve officers of the various armed services assigned to Selective Service duty in the New England states.

Commander of the Albany unit is Colonel Robert Rienow of Ravena, an author and professor of government at State University in Albany.

This year the active duty training is focused on staffing State Selective Service Headquarters in the event these officers are called for full-time duty. A highlight of the conference will be a visit by National Selective Service Director General Lewis B. Hershey who will address the conferees.

Plattekill Fetes 150 Dignitaries From Puerto Rico

Governor Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico and the Lady Mayor of San Juan, Felisa Rincon, who had been scheduled to visit the Town of Plattekill Monday on a good-will mission, were detained in Washington and were unable to accompany the group of Puerto Rican dignitaries who paid a visit to the town.

The Town of Plattekill was selected as a community representative of an area in which a large number of Puerto Ricans reside as a part of a tour for vising Puerto Ricans.

Among the 150 guests who were entertained by the Town of Plattekill residents Monday was the S. Polance Abreu, speaker of the Puerto Rican House of Representatives, and over 40 mayors from Puerto Rica.

Received at the entrance to the town by town officials and civic leaders, the government representatives joined a motorcade to the Villa Nueva where a luncheon-dinner was served followed by a speaking and entertainment program.

Joseph Martorana, Town of Plattekill supervisor, extended greetings to the visiting officials and expressed appreciation for their visit to Plattekill. Other speakers in addition to Abreu included Adrian Torres, president of the Mayor's Association of Puerto Rica and Leo Cabranec, executive director.

56th Annual Parley Ends Today

Governors Conference Brings No Big Opposition to Barry

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The annual Governors Conference, which has had all the aspects of a miniature Republican convention, ends today with Sen. Barry Goldwater galloping almost unchallenged toward the GOP presidential nomination.

The 56th annual convention hasn't produced a moderate Republican opponent for the conservative senator from Arizona.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon tried hard to stir up a nomination fight that some of his critics thought was aimed at opening the way for Nixon himself to run against President Johnson as a compromise choice.

Skip the Challenge

But none of the GOP governors who had claimed that Goldwater's views are not in the mainstream of Republican thinking wanted to take on the senator.

Latest to bow out was Gov. George Romney of Michigan. He announced through his press secretary Tuesday that he would not become an active candidate. Romney said he would accept a draft, but wouldn't go back on a 1962 commitment to Michigan voters not to seek national office this year.

This announcement came after Nixon said he had urged Romney to run, and Romney said he had been urged by some fellow governors to make the race and would consider it.

Earlier, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania retired from the field after former President Dwight D. Eisenhower put on a go-and-stop operation in his behalf. Eisenhower urged Scranton to make himself more available, then advised the governor not to join any cabal against Goldwater.

Rocky Only Opponent

This left Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York as Goldwater's only avowed opponent. And it was evident that none of the other governors, nor Nixon, wanted to support him.

Nixon, who flew out of town after his strenous efforts to launch a stop-Goldwater movement failed, warned party moderates that there is less than a 50-50 chance of preventing Goldwater's nomination.

He told a news conference in Baltimore that if Romney fails to actively seek the nomination it will go to Goldwater on the first ballot at the convention in San Francisco next month.

Nixon said both Rockefeller and Scranton are virtually out of the race and his own prospects are remote.

Nixon called his efforts to get a governor into the race an attempt to create a "third force" between Goldwater and Rockefeller. Asked if he wasn't trying to stop Goldwater after having assured the senator prior to the June 2 California primary that he wouldn't join in such a move, Nixon replied:

"Many Goldwater supporters would so construe it. I don't."

Nixon said he was trying to advance a candidate who would represent the principles of the party as they are thought of in the industrial states of Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and California.

Nixon said he plans to meet next week with Eisenhower. He said Eisenhower, who talked with Romney at the conference, has spoken highly of the Michigan governor.

Hour Time Limit on Debate May Push CR Through by Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today, in a history-shattering move, to choke off the 75-day old Southern filibuster against the civil rights bill.

Each senator's time to debate the bill and all amendments will now be limited to one hour. This appears to assure Senate passage of the far-reaching bill, possibly before the end of next week.

The House passed the bill on Feb. 10 by a vote of 290-130. The Senate has been battling over it since March 9, with Southern opponents mounting a record - breaking filibuster against it.

Galleries Packed

The Senate's public galleries were packed as the crucial vote on cloture was taken. Tight security was maintained around the Capitol as additional persons pressed for a chance to get in.

The vote followed an all-night session of the Senate at which Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., made a marathon speech attacking the civil rights bill and urging his colleagues not to shut off the debate.

The vote to apply the Senate's debate - limiting cloture rule was 71 to 29. This was four more votes than the required two-thirds majority.

Byrd began his speech at 7:38 p.m. and continued until 9:52 a.m. When he finally quit, the Senate took an eight-minute recess, then went back into session. It had agreed Tuesday to meet at 10 a.m. today.

Failed in Past

Since the adoption of the cloture rule in 1917, all previous attempts to use it to cut off a filibuster against a civil rights bill had failed.

Leaders of both parties became convinced in the face of the all-out opposition of the Dixie forces to the present bill that debate-limitation had to be obtained if the bill was to pass.

Just before the vote, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois introduced the leaders' substitute bill worked out with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Wins Crucial GOP Votes

Overnight, the substitute had been revised further to include the jury trial amendment adopted 51-48 in the Senate Tuesday.

The adoption of the amendment, sponsored by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., was credited with winning some crucial Republican votes for cloture.

Leadership hopes of mustering the two-thirds majority were bolstered by the Senate's rejection Tuesday of three amendments by substantial margins after a jury trial amendment was adopted by 51 to 48 count.

A chance to vote on the amendments before the cloture showdown was demanded by a group of Republican senators, led by Sen. Bourke B. Hickelooper of Iowa, whose support was regarded as essential if cloture was to be obtained.

Hickenlooper, chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee, said after the amendments were acted on that he would vote for cloture .Not to do so, he said, would be "only a delaying tactic."

Nearly 500 amendments have been proposed in addition to a package of amendments which Democratic and Republican leaders have drafted as a substitute for the House - passed measure.

Supporters of the civil rights measure won their biggest victories Tuesday in votes on the equal employment opportunity section, regarded as perhaps the most controversial part of the legislation.

By a vote of 64 to 33, the Senate defeated an amendment by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to strike out this section prohibiting discrimination in employment on account of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. It would apply to employers, labor unions and employment agencies.

Ellenville Votes School Budget, Others to Ballot

Ellenville Central School District voters on Tuesday approved a $1,898,755 budget for 1964-65 by a vote of 400-283. The original budget of $1,903,330 had been defeated twice prior to slight reductions made by the Board of Education.

Two Ballot Today

Rhinebeck and Marlboro Central School Districts today are voting on new school propositions. Voting at Marlboro was scheduled at the Central High School in that community from 1 to 9 p. m., and at Rhinebeck the voting hours at the high school were scheduled from 2 to 9 p. m.

Voters in Ellenville approved the budget after about $4,500 had been slashed, including items for musical instruments. A motion to cut an $8,000 item for transportation for students residing within 1½ miles of the school was defeated by an overwhelming vote.

Beaten Twice in May

Ellenville's original budget of $1,903,330, an increase of $70,358 over the current 1963-64 budget, was defeated on May 26 by a vote of 548-412. The proposed budget on May 5 was defeated by a slim margin—241-212.

The Board of Education had slashed increments for non-teaching personnel of the school by one-third, as well as those of the secretaries, totaling $2,-241.29.

It's A Girl For Russian Space Gal

MOSCOW (AP) — The world's only space woman, Valentina Nikolayevna - Tereshkova, gave birth to a daughter last Sunday, the Soviet news agency Tass announced today.

The baby's father is Soviet spaceman Andrian Nikolayev, who orbited the earth in August 1962, with Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich. Valentina orbited the earth in company with Valery Bykovsky in June 1963.

Both Doing Well

Both mother and daughter are well, Tass said.

Usually reliable sources said the baby weighed nearly 7 pounds.

Valentina and Nikolayev were married in Moscow last Nov. 3 and spent their honeymoon touring South Asian countries.

Although the baby is the first born to an astronaut couple, Gherman Titov was the first astronaut to become a father after orbiting the earth. His wife gave birth to a daughter, Tanya, last September.

Valentina, whose married name according to Russian custom is Nikolayevna-Tersehkova, is 27. Nikolayev is 34.

Three days ago the doctor for the Soviet astronauts, Dr. Evgeny Petrov, reported that Valentina was in the best of health. During her pregnancy she has been studying at the Military

Official Count Made For Bush, Newcombe; Other Primary Polls

The Official canvass of the vote cast on Primary Day, June 2, shows that State Senator E. Ogden Bush (R) of DeLancey lost Ulster County to his opponent Lloyd A. Newcombe, Catskill business wan and former Kingston resident, by 500 votes.

While Newcombe carried his own county of Greene by close to 3,500 votes and came out ahead by 500 votes in Ulster County, he was defeated by Senator Bush for the nomination of state senator.

Wins Delaware, Sullivan

Both Delaware County, Senator Bush's home county, and Sullivan County gave Senator Bush a good plurality. Unofficial figures from Delaware County indicate Dr Bush carried his home county by 4,296 and Sullivan County also gave Dr. Bush a good plurality.

In Ulster County the Town of Saugerties, which adjoins Greene County to the south, gave Newcombe 851 votes while Senator Bush received 417. In the Town of Hurley Newcombe received 490 votes and Senator Bush 87. However, another trend was found in the Town of Shandaken where Senator Bush, the "regular" Republican candidate, received 236 votes and Newcombe only 41.

The City of Kingston gave Newcombe a total of 995 votes and Senator Bush received 726, Newcombe carrying the city by 296 votes.

Official canvass of the vote for the county and city of Kingston gives Newcombe 4,722 votes, Senator Bush 4,222. Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, received eight votes, Arthur DeWitt Jr., 1. The total vote cast was 9,792 with 272 blank and 576 void ballots.

There was a total of 116 votes cast of which three were void and eight were blank. Again Supervisor George Majestic (D), Town of Gardiner supervisor, had his name written in by 11 voters, Howard Fox received a vote and Bernard Singer received two votes.

In a close contest for Democratic State Committeewoman the incumbent, Harriett Allen Kerr of New Paltz received 1504 votes to defeat her opponent, Dorothy Narel of West Hurley who received 1458 votes, by 46 votes. There were 3186 votes cast. There were 23 blank and 201 void ballots.

Report Conservative Vote

Eric M. Rickard of Woodstock received 90 votes of the Conservative Party total to defeat Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R) of Woodstock for the Conservative Party choice for assemblyman on the Conservative Party ticket. There was a total of 116 ballots with 11 blanks and three void.

The Board of Elections completed the official canvass of the Primary Vote on Monday.

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater — standing on the threshold of the Republican presidential nomination — is eying four Eastern GOP leaders as he thinks about a running mate.

To his closest associates, Goldwater has mentioned these names as possible vice-presidential choices:

—Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.

—Rep. William E. Miller of New York.

—Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio.

Goldwater hasn't ruled anybody in or out of the running, a source close to the Arizona senator said today.

But Goldwater has said he thinks the Republican National Convention will want to balance the ticket—if he heads it—with a moderate Republican from the East.

Avoids Mention

The four men associates say Goldwater has mentioned all fit that pattern.

Publicly, Goldwater usually bypasses questions about a vice-presidential choice. "I'm looking for delegates, not vice presidents," is his stock reply.

He has talked about Scranton, suggesting the Pennsylvania governor would be well advised to consider the vice-presidential nomination.

That way, Goldwater said Sunday, if the ticket lost, the governor would be in a position to capture the presidential nomination in 1968.

Scranton questioned wether a ticket paring him with Goldwater would make sense. He said they would disagree on how best to implement some Republican principles.

But Goldwater described their areas of disagreement as very minor.

With his delegate strength mounting steadily toward the 655 votes he needs for the nomination, Goldwater was said by an aide to be viewing the vice-presidential spot in terms of how best to strengthen the ticket

Attack Made On Marchers In Fla. City

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Gangs of screaming white men and youths attacked white and Negro marchers with fists and feet in bold defiance of the law in this old city.

The slugging, kicking attackers moved in on their victims—marching two abreast on a downtown sidewalk—and then fled when policemen armed with clubs moved in Tuesday night.

About a dozen demonstrators were assaulted. The violence ended when marchers returned to the church where they began their protest.

No Arrests

Police headquarters said there were no arrests.

The march came within a few hours after a federal judge in Jacksonville ordered police to lift their ban on night demonstrations and to reduce bail for a group of marchers arrested earlier.

"Despite what happened, we are going to continue protest-

Rockefeller Going Before Convention for Nov. Run

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's present plan is to have his name placed in nomination for president before the Republican convention, a close political associate said today.

"That was the idea all along, and there's no change," said Fred A. Young, the GOP state chairman.

Rockefeller said after his defeat in the California presidential primary that he was not dropping out of the White House race. There has been some doubt, however, over how far he would persist in the face of steady gains by Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Young commented in an interview as New York's delegation to the convention prepared to gather here Thursday for a formal organizational meeting.

Although Rockefeller is conceded to have 86 of the 92 delegates on an informal basis, Young said there were no plans to put the delegation formally on record now.

At the same time, Young confirmed previous reports that Rockefeller would lead the delegation personally as chairmen—a post not normally held by active presidential contenders.

Custom dictates that potential nominees not appear on the convention floor until after the balloting is ended.

It was expected that Young would be named vice-chairman and occupy Rockefeller's seat during any absence from the floor.

The delegation will meet Thursday after a business session of the Republican State Committee, some of whose members also are delegates.

The state committee will round out the delegation by naming 10 delegates-at-large — among them Rockefeller and

Notes Dim U.S. View On Crisis

Rusk Aide Also Going to Ankara

GENEVA (AP) — President Johnson has ordered Undersecretary of State George W. Ball to fly to Athens to warn the Greek government of the serious view the United States takes of the sharpening crisis over Cyprus, American officials said today.

Ball was to leave Geneva in an American military plane today.

May Go to Ankara

He may go later to Ankara for talks with Turkish leaders. He was due back in Washington on Thursday to report to the President.

Ball has been in Geneva since Monday for the closing stage of the United Nations trade and development conference.

President Makarios of Cyprus, leader of the Greek Cypriots, callled Tuesday night for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council meeting to "denounce threats of the Turkish government to invade our island."

Says Forces Deployed

In a note to heads of state and government he charged that Turkey "has now amassed a a great number of naval and air forces ready for immediate invasion of Cyprus."

He accused the Turks of repeatedly violating air space over Cyprus and dropping arms to Turkish Cypriots.

Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou, dispatched by Makarios to arrange for the council meeting, told newsmen he planned to see Council President Arsene Assouan of the Ivory Coast today.

Anticipate Trouble

Kyprianou, whose plane landed in Boston because of weather conditions over New York, said Cyprus was relatively calm, but "in view of statements and information we have, we anticipate trouble from Turkey."

Makarios called for council action after repeated invasion alarms had been sounded in both Nicosia and Athens.

There was no indication in Turkey that an invasion force was poised to attack the island where Turkish and Greek Cypriot factions have been engaged in a bitter struggle. The Ankara government has warned, however, that it would invade if it considered it necessary to protect the rights of Turkish Cypriot minority.

Walker Quoted As Powerless in Ole Miss Riot

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A witness presented by Edwin A. Walker quoted the former Army major general as saying Walker was powerless to stop the University of Mississippi student riot if he had wanted to.

The trial of the $2-million civil libel suit Walker filed against The Associated Press resumed today.

Talmadge Witt, 43, former Pontotoc, Miss., deputy sheriff, testified Tuesday he was near Walker on the University of Mississippi campus the night of Sept. 30, 1962 during a night-long riot over admission of Negro James H. Meredith. Witt said he heard an Episcopalian minister, the Rev. Duncan Gray beg Walker to stop the student attacks on rioting U.S. marshals who fired tear gas in return.

Witt quoted Walker as saying: "I'm not here to break it up. I didn't come here to break it up. I couldn't break it up if I wanted to."

Witt said, on cross-examination by J. A. Gooch, an Associated Press attorney, that Walker later told a group of the rioting students: "Protest all you want to. They (the marshals) may run out of (tear) gas. Help is on the way thousands are coming."

Witt, and other earlier wit-

Scout Troop 12 Drum Corps Sets Program at Fair

The United States Commission-New York World's Fair, Norman K. Winston, commissioner, has invited the Troop 12 Indians Drum and Bugle Corps to participate in the special events program at the United States Pavilion on Saturday evening.

The Kingston Scouts will present their 1964 musical marching and manuevering drill between 7 and 8 p. m. They will execute the same routine seen by thousands of Kingstonians at the Criterion's drum corps competition held at Dietz Stadium on Memorial Day, with one exception.

The entire drill will be done in half-step as the space provided at the U. S. Pavilion will be slightly under half that which the drill requires.

At Region II Boy Scout Day ceremonies at the U. S. Pavillion, Robert Moses, president of the Worlds Fair Corp, will receive an award for his service to Scouting. Representing Rip Van Winkle Boy Scout Council at the ceremony will be Gifford R. Beal, council president-elect and Scout Executive Alex MacDonald.

The group will leave Dietz Stadium on two chartered buses at 7:30 a. m.

Fails Fifth Grade, But He's in Genius Class

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Billy Green, who is failing his fifth grade subjects, is going to college this summer.

Billy, 12, scored 200 on an intelligence test administered by the University of South Florida. The genius category starts at 140.

County school Supt. Woodrow Garden says Billy reads eight to 12 advanced science books a week but struggles with his fifth grade work, perhaps because it doesn't challenge him.

The board of Brevard Junior College voted Tuesday to allow Billy to enroll in one course.

Billy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Green of Eau Gallie, Fla., probably will take a mathematics or science course.

"We want to determine what kind of program he should have," said Garden.

Knife Near Tree Clue To Youth's Position

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A 15-year-old Atlanta youth was recovering Wednesday from injuries after he fell from a 75-foot tower and spent three days in a wooded area before he was found.

Police said the clue that saved Eugene Harold Thrailkill's life was the knife he stuck in the ground at the tower's base before he started to climb it.

Searchers found the knife Monday night and concentrated the hunt in that area. Thrailkill was discovered Tuesday in dense underbrush.

Doctors said the youth suffered a slight concussion, a dislocated hip, cuts and bruises. His condition was described as satisfactory.

Uncle Sam Complains Water Bill Too High

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Uncle Sam took on the role of a private citizen here and complained about his water bill.

The director of the Veterans Administration domiciliary, E. C. McDaniel, told city officials the domiciliary's water bill had jumped 84 per cent under a new rate plan and he urgently needed an adjustment.

Otherwise, he said, he would be compelled to readjust his budget to the extent of firing at least one employe.

Police Say Boy, 4, Fatally Wounded Dad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police say a shot fired by a 4-year-old boy fatally wounded his father.

The father, Leonard Thierry, 32, forced his son, Glen, to shoot him after threatening to spank the boy with a belt, police reported.

Thierry died Tuesday.

He and his wife had quarreled Sunday night. She left home. Thierry asked two of the couple's older children to shoot him in the head. They refused.

Glen also refused until threatened with the spanking.

After the shooting, officers found Mrs. Thierry and returned the children to her care.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising metal prices reflect both the increasing industrial demand and higher production costs. So far little of the rise has been passed along to the consumer. Manufacturers have been able to lower the labor cost per unit of output.

Metals Going Up

Thus basic commodity price increases in themselves don't necessarily spell general inflation.

Involved have been steel, aluminum, copper, zinc, lead, tin. The creeping advance has been stretched over the last 12 months.

At first the increases were on selected products in active demand. Weakness in other products has brought price cuts.

But basic metal prices are now beginning to rise. Latest are aluminum ingots which are going up half a cent to 24 cents a pound, or back to where they were in December 1962, but still short of the 26 cents a pound of September 1961.

The cautious approach in aluminum and some other metals has been dictated by competition both at home and abroad.

Rough Going Recently

Many metal producers have indicated no hurry to cripple demand by pricing their products higher than the substitutes which increasingly plague them.

Technological advances have brought individual metals in competition with each other for particular uses. Price often can be the determining factor with purchasing agents.

Metals also have had rough going in recent years as their markets were invaded by plastics, glass, concrete and wood.

Metals are peculiarly tied to developments in foreign lands. Sometimes this is surplus capacity to produce, so that foreign output rises automatically with world demand, leaving American producers right where they were competitively. Often cheaper production costs abroad threaten American metal price structures.

So small are some plots of terraced land on the island of Bali that they hold only four rice plants each.

770 Scouts Participate In Tri-Mount Camporee

Cope With Weather

Again this year the camping mettle of the Scouts and Explorers was put to the test by rainy weather conditions which prevailed during most of the weekend period. Just for the record, the great majority of the Scouts showed that they took the Scout motto, "Be Prepared," seriously, and thus were able to cope with the adverse weather condition.

Scouts and Explorers descended on Tri-Mount from all points of the compass starting Friday afternoon, and started to set up their unit campsites for the weekend camporee. By dusk the fields surrounding the new camp dining hall were well filled with colorful tent campsites and teeming with Scouts and Explorers engaged in various campcraft activities.

The Camporee officially opened with a flag-raising ceremony held on the camp parade ground Saturday morning. On hand to welcome the Scouts to the American Heritage Camporee was Council Commissioner Kenneth Magyar of Saugerties, who served as Camporee Chief for the weekend event.

The featured event Saturday morning and afternoon was a "Scouting Trail" program in which Scout patrols competed in 16 different Scoutcraft and physical fitness activities. The various stations along the trail were manned by Explorers, Senior Scouts and central Camporee staff members. Harry Slobodian, Boy Scout Roundtable Commissioner of the Saugerties District, was in charge of the Scouting Trail program.

Some 75 Scout Patrols competed in the Scouting Trail events. Following are the patrols which qualified for top honors:

Qualify for Honors

Nianque, Wowplaw Patrols, Troop 9; Mohawk and Falcon Patrols, Troop 3; Bat Patrol, Troop 11; Barracuda Patrol, Troop 6; Aquanaut Patrol, Troop 19; Vampire Bat Patrol, Troop 20 — all of the Kingston District, The Raven Patrol, Troop 63, Western District; the Pine Tree, Wolf and Flaming Arrow Patrols, Troop 70; the Eagle Patrol, Troop 72, and the Beaver Patrol, Troop 76 — all of the Southern District.

Due to the rain, which started Saturday afternoon and continued Saturday night, the outdoor American Heritage Pageant Campfire program was postponed until Sunday morning.

In accordance with the Twelfth Scout Law, "A Scout Is Reverent," boys of the Protestant or Catholic faiths attended worship services, which were held in the new camp dining hall due to the wet weather conditions.

Officiating at the Catholic Mass was the Rev. William Anderson of Mt. Saint Alphonsus Seminary, Esopus.

Protestant Church services were conducted by the Rev. Merton Cady of Hensonville.

Following church services the entire contingent assembled on the camp parade ground for an impressive Order of the Arrow "Tapout" ceremony conducted by Half Moon Lodge, Order of the Arrow, Advisor, Kenneth Magyar. A large group of Scouts and adult leaders were nominated for membership in the Order of the Arrow, which is a Camping Service and Honor Society.

Climaxing the weekend Camporee program Sunday morning was a colorful "Strengthen America's Heritage" Pageant, directed by Assistant District Commissioner Robert Tremper of Ulster Park.

Highlights of the pageant included an opening ceremony, portraying the Spirit of '76, with Scouts attired in colonial costumes and playing Yankee Doodle Dandy on their fifes and drums; and a most impressive reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by Eagle Scout William Daum of Troop 9, Kingston. Scout Daum was dressed as Lincoln, including his famous stove pipe hat. Appropriate recorded background music added to the impressiveness of the pageant. The program concluded with the singing of God Bless America by the 800 Scouts, leaders and parents who witnessed the stirring American Heritage Pageant.

Get Inspection Ribbons

In the Camporee inspection phase of the weekend program headed by David Bright of Blue Mountain, the following Troops and Posts were awarded blue ribbons attesting to their proficiency in camping: Troop 26, Port Ewen; Troops 9, 12, Kingston; Post 12, Kingston; Post 20, Hurley; Troop 76, Wallkill; Troop 700, Highland; Troop 34, Woodstock; Troop 22, Kerhonkson; Troop 28, Ellenville; Troop 63, Olive; Troop 163, West Shokan; and Troop 45, Coxsackie.

Serving on the 1964 Camporee Staff were: Sherwood Lasher, Thomas Orr, Louis Gerbon, Richard Waltman, Harold Harrison, all of Kingston; Robert Tremper, Ulster Park; Wallace Elston, Stone Ridge; Anthony Zinnanti, Catskill; Ira Smith, Ellenville; John Carlson, David Bright, Kenneth Magyar, Harry Slobodian, Seth Pope, Robert Gardner, all of Saugerties and Harrison Cornish, Port Ewen.

Representing the Rip Van Winkle Council professional staff were Council Scout Executive Alex Macdonald, Hurley; District Scout Executive John Vliet, Catskill and District Scout Executive Kenneth Malchow, Rosendale.

Cannes Festival Proves Hypo for Unwanted Film

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Last year it was "David and Lisa." This year "One Potato, Two Potato" is the Cinderella movie.

Both films were created against great odds by tyro movie makers using unknown actors and authentic backgrounds. Both were treated like orphans until film festival honors stirred interest in their commercial possibilities.

Made by Filmland Vets

"One Potato, Two Potato" was made by two veterans of Hollywood television — producer Sam Weston, 36, lookalike brother of comedian Jack Weston, and director Larry Peerce, 34, son of famed tenor Jan Peerce. Yet the film is not of Hollywood, nor does it deal with a subject that the major studios would ordinarily touch.

Its theme is miscegenation. A white Midwestern divorcee with a daughter marries a fellow factory worker who is a Negro. Her first husband appears after having deserted her, and he sues for custody of the child. The judge decides in favor of the father.

Two-Year Ordeal

Weston told about the two-year ordeal in getting "One Potato, Two Potato" financed, filmed and finally looked at.

First came the matter of money. With a large assist from Larry's mother, an expert fund raiser for charity, the two boys lined up a list of likely backers. They had to sell the prospects on contributing, then return to collect after they had organized as a limited partnership.

Filming started last August on the script, written by veteran author Raphael Hayes. It was shot in 34 days at Painesville, Ohio, which Weston remembered from his youth as a "typical, Grant Wood type of Midwest town." Actors were recruited from Hollywood and New York and in Painesville as well.

Ready to Reap Rewards

The novice film makers' troubles weren't over. After putting the movie together, they found they couldn't sell it.

"Distributors liked the picture but they didn't know what to do with it," said Weston. "And they were worried about losing the Southern market."

But an agent liked the film and showed it to British Lion, which bought the world rights. Then came the Cannes Film Festival, where "One Potato, Two Potato" drew the biggest ovation in nine years and Barbara Barrie was co-winner of the best actress award. Now Weston and Peerce are ready to reap the rewards of their adventure.

GOLDWATER IS CLOSE

The Associated Press figures that Senator Goldwater now has a firm grasp on 436 of the 655 delegate votes needed to win the Republican presidential nomination. Some of his supporters, with apparent reason, offer much more optmistic estimates than that. In any case, the California primary outcome has put Goldwater very close to being the GOP standard bearer in the coming election.

During the next few weeks there will be a vigorous effort behind the scenes to slow down the Goldwater bandwagon. This might be done, in the rather unlikely event that all the significant moderate and liberal forces in the Republican party were able to combine their forces. But at this writing the chances appear to be that the conservative wing of the party will at least send a candidate to the hustings.

Some of the most astute GOP leaders read the cards that way. Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, keynoter and temporary chairman of the Republican convention, said even before all the California votes were tallied that Goldwater appeared to have enough delegate strength to get the nomination. Sen. Thruston Morton noted that his Arizona colleague was now " 'way out in front." And a Democrat of some renown as a political observer, none other than President Johnson, appeared convinced that his opponent next fall would be Goldwater.

If that is indeed the outcome, the nation will for the first time in decades have a clear choice betwen the strongly liberal and strongly conservative trends in American political philosophy. The ultimate impact of such a test on the direction of our national future would be profound and far-reaching.

FREEDOM'S SYMBOL

Distractions beset us and it is a good idea occasionally for the sake of our personal and national sense of direction to reserve a time for taking stock. This country will observe National Flag Week from June 14 through June 20 this year—let us renew the custom of showing the colors and recall the ideals for which they stand.

Whether snapping in a stiff breeze or hanging in dignified repose, it is impossible to look at the stars and stripes without seeing reflected in them both the glorious past, and the future which can belong to the great country they represent. A nation's strength has no meaning unless its use follows the will of a people with pride and integrity of purpose.

Responsible individuals with the freedom to think, create and move to meet fast changing circumstances built the United States. A free society capable of spawning and encouraging such citizens will have the versatile strength to steer a meaningful course in this fast shifting world. The American flag has always flown above such a land—let's keep it so.

MINNOW FOR A WHALE

Premier Khruschev has paid a stiff price for his vacation along the Nile.

The Russians are investing another $277 million in the future of Egypt, on top of $1 billion already advanced in military aid and $400 million for the Aswan High Dam.

It seems to have been another instance of, "If you don't give it to us, we know someone who will"—an argument the United States is only too familiar with.

It's nice for a change to see the Russians scurrying to shell out before the U. S. taxpayer can be called upon to do the same.

If the Arabs are as shrewd traders as they are reputed to be, Mr. Khruschev has been sold another minnow of Egyptian friendship for a whale of a lot of money.

EATING OUT WAY OUT

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman made a small but quite important point about the beef crisis the other day. He advised what might be called the knife and fork solution: "We'll have to eat our way out of our own overproduction."

There is more to the matter than that, obviously. European interest in buying American beef also is, as Freeman noted, an encouraging development.

Still, Freeman's proposal is attractive. It comes just at a time when backyard chefs are gearing up for a summer of grilled steaks and hamburgers and such.

Henry R. Luce quits as Life's editor-in-chief, but will remain as editorial chairman—possibly a hint to his successor that he's not quite turning him loose.

Boatmen are urged to check their outboards before launching. They also might check the urge to roar around the lake as though they were the only ones on it.

WHO'S AN ISOLATIONIST NOW?

"I've just been reading George Kennan's argument that we should disengage ourselves from confronting the Soviet Union in any Cold War concern over the satellites," said Topsy, 'and I am struck by a strange likeness between Mr. Kennan and the America First Committee of 1941."

"How can that be," said Turvy. "Kennan is the hero of the internationalists, The America Firsters were isolationists."

"That's what confuses me," said Topsy. "In 1941 you were an isolationist because you wanted to avoid war. In 1964 the same position makes you an internationalist."

"But Hitler was worse than Khrushchev," said Turvy. "After all, he had those concentration camps and practised genocide against the Jews."

"Haven't you heard," said Topsy, "that Khrushchev permits anti-Semitism in Russia? Yevtushenko, the poet, is a witness to this. Only Khrushchev is clever enough to call a Jew a cosmopolitan or a Trotskyist or a capitalist renegade before he gets rid of him. Does this make death or oppression any more palatable?"

"But Mr. Kennan has a point when he says Russia is involved in her troubles with China," said Turvy. "Doesn't this make Khrushchev less dangerous than Hitler?"

"The same sort of question was rhetorically posed by Herbert Hoover, Robert Taft and even Harry Truman when the Nazis got embroiled with Rusia in 1941," said Topsy. "But it was isolationist then to advocate, as Truman did, that we let the Nazis and the Comunists claw each other to pieces."

"But what's the matter with avoiding war?" asked Turvy. "It seems to me that keeping out of trouble is a good thing no matter what you are called."

"I couldn't agree with you more," said Topsy. "But the question is, does disengagement from Russia keep you out of trouble? It seems to me that when some one is pressing against you, it might help to keep him off balance to press back just a little bit harder."

"But that's brinkmanship," said Turvy.

"Not necessarily," said Topsy. "It's merely a question of what you regard as negotiable, his pawn or yours. Why is it brinkmanship to try to negotiate Khrushchev out of Cuba if he wants some machine tools delivered at Odessa? Why, for that matter, is it a 'war for liberation' when the North Vietnamese slip into South Vietnam by way of Laos jungle trails, and an 'imperialist plot' when anti-Castro Cubans slip into Cuba's Oriente province by way of Central America? What you call brinkmanship when we practice it can't just be the workings of progress when the Russians do it."

"What you say makes abstract sense," said Turvy. "But two great powers can't go on runnings bluffs against each other forever without risking a call sometime. It seems to me that Kennan thinks both sides might agree to stop bluffing."

"That's okay with me," said Topsy. "But why is it a bluff to say that we won't give anything without getting something tangible in return? Why is it a bluff or brinkmanship to offer long-term credits for chemical plants in return for dismantling the Berlin Wall? That's just a simple proposition."

"But there is the matter of face," said Turvy.

"I don't see it," said Topsy. "After all, trades can be secretly arrived at and then presented as a mutual accommodation. Just like when the Russians took their missiles out of Cuba and we dismantled bases in Turkey. Anyway, we've strayed from the main point, which is Kennan's isolationism. I still want to know why it gets called internationalism when it's the same thing that was advocated by Chester Bowles and Robert Hutchins and Sargent Shriver and Charles Lindbergh and Joseph P. Kennedy when they wanted to keep us out of war back in 1940 and 1941."

Pregnancy Tests Improve To Near-Perfect Accuracy

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Because there is no such thing as being a little bit pregnant, scientists have long searched for tests that will accurately determine whether or not a woman is pregnant. Tests that used frogs, rabbits and other animals were fairly accurate, but were expensive and required several days to perform.

We now have a number of greatly improved tests all based on a serologic reaction between three ingredients sheep's red blood cells that have been treated with an extract of human placenta, blood serum that contains antibodies against this extract and the freshly voided urine of the woman who suspects that she is pregnant. The different tests vary only in minor details.

In some cases, the test indicates pregnancy as early as four days after the skipped menstrual period. The tests are performed with controls that compare the reaction of the suspect's urine with that of urine from known pregnant and non-pregnant women. The results are said to be 95 to 100 per cent accurate.

In addition to greater accuracy than was possible with the older tests, the new tests have the advanage that they can be set up in a few minues and the results can be read in two hours or less.

Another difference is that, whereas inaccuracies in the older tests were sometimes reporting pregnancy when pregnancy did not exist, the new test sometimes reports negative results early in the course of a pregnancy. Results were improved when at least 30 days had elapsed since the skipped period.

Another entirely different type of test, which is said to be 98 per cent accurate, has been devised. When a woman suspects she might be pregnant, she takes one tablet of medroxyprogesteroen, a hormone derived from the ovaries, every day for five days. If she is not pregnant and there is no other cause for her skipped period, the normal menstrual cycle will be resumed within two to seven days after this treatment. Although the results cannot be judged as quickly with the test as with the serologic tests described, this test has the advantage of correcting many minor conditions that cause temporary cessation of menstruation.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Despite President's Johnson's denials, the United States is now seriously considering ways to bring military-economic pressure on Ho Chi Minh's North Viet Nam.

These plans will be held for use in an emergency.

One proposal would aim the first military moves at the north's already wobbly economy. There would be increasing sabotag of communications—bridges, roads, shipping. There would be partial land and sea blockade of Red Ho's supply lines.

VEILED THREATS of these U. S. actions would come first. But these threats would be coupled with suggestions of possible economic aid (principally rice and other foods) and trade. There would be hints of a willingness to guarantee Ho's borders.

It would be made clear that these promises would be fulfilled only if Ho would take his cadres out of Laos and tell the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam that they were now on their own.

Some tacticians favor parallel moves in the United Nations to guarantee the borders of Laos, South Viet Nam, Cambodia and North Viet Nam.

The program calls for a gradual step-up of harassment and threats of harassment, alternating with repeated promises of aid.

NEITHER SECRETARY OF STATE Dean Rusk's strategists nor Defense Secretary Robert McNamara's aides believe these moves would end the war either in Laos or in South Viet Nam.

They estimate the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam are now able to put up a strong fight without aid from Ho's northern Communist regime.

They think the Communist Pathet Lao troops in Laos could hold their own against the Lao neutralist and conservative troops without the aid of North Vietenamese cadres.

But a group of key government men do believe that if North Viet Nam would, under pressure, withdraw its support from the Red forces in Laos and in South Viet Nam, the two wars would become more manageable.

Some of these strategists also believe there is a chance that North Viet Nam's Ho could become an Asian Tito. These men believe it is worth a gamble to find out if this is so.

INFORMATION ARRIVING HERE from North Viet Nam is that Ho himself is not sold on co-operating with Red China and that his advisers are split fairly evenly on China versus Russia. About half favor an alliance with Khrushchev and the Soviet Union; the other half favor Red Mao Tse-tung of China. A recent decision to side with Mao is believed causing a struggle within the regime.

There are constant complaints from some of Ho's advisers about the economic drain of the South Vietnamese war. These men have in fact urged that the Viet Cong in the south be given words of praise, but told they will have to handle their own war.

Constitutional Changes—And Rights of the States

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Former President Eisenhomer has put his finger on one of the biggest weaknesses in the operation of the American Constitutional system today. In his latest pronouncement, he did not mention the arbitrary use of power by the Supreme Court, but he did emphasize the centralization of power in Washington by both the executive and legislative branches of the government.

As a remedy for this situation, Mr. Eisenhower, in speaking before the Conference of Governors held at Cleveland this week, called attention to a provision of the Constitution which has never been used but which could put an end to usurpation of power in Washington. No longer would the Supreme Court be able — if the states object — to continue to tell the state legislatures or county supervisors or governing councils of American cities that they must, in effect, appropriate money for this or that purpose—a ruling which was proclaimed only a few weeks ago and is unprecedented in American history. Nor would the court be able to go on telling the states how to apportion the districts in a state legislature — if the states decide by themselves to nullify these rulings by an amendment taking away such powers from the judiciary.

Mr. Eisenhower did not single out any particular government action, but referred in broad terms to the excesses of today when he said that if a provision in the present Constitution which has never been used were to be put into effect, "those in Washington power centers would never again feel at ease in their restless work to extend the Federal reach or to use tax money to attract votes."

The former President added that Presidential power is such today that an end should be put to "costly pork barrels — so beloved by self-serving politicians —and an end also to the many devices which centralize power in Washington."

Mr. Eisenhower was saying really that the best interests of the American people have not been served by the collusion between the executive and legislative branches in allocating public funds to certain states in order to attract their votes, while denying tax money for proper uses to other states.

The provision in Article V of the Constitution to which Mr. Eisenhower referred reads as follows:

"The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress. . . ."

Only one of the two methods prescribed in the above article has ever been used. After a two-thirds vote of both houses, Congress has submitted various amendments to the states for their ratification or rejection There has never been a Constitutional convention called by Congress at which one or more amendments could be proposed. Conventions have been called by the states themselves for purposes of ratifying an amendment approved by two-thirds of both houses of Congress. Indeed, the 21st Amendment, which repealed the 18th on the subject of prohibition, was ratified entirely by conventions called within each state.

The difficulty, however, with Article V quoted above is that Congress still remains as a part of of the amending process and at present could block the calling of a national Constitutional convention even if one were requested by the states. To overcome this, the National Council of State Governments—an unofficial body which has for many years been supported by charitable foundations in an effort to carry on non-political studies of ways and means to strengthen the state governments—came forth in 1962 with a resolution proposing a method which would not require any action by Congress itself. It would revise Article V to read in part as follows:

"Whenever applications from the legislatures of two-thirds of the total number of states of the United States shall contain identical texts of amendments to be proposed, the president of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall so certify, and the amendment as contained in the application shall be deemed to have been proposed, without further action by Congress. . . ."

The foregoing proposal has since been endorsed by at least a dozen state legislatures. But adoption of such an amendment first requires action by Congress. This means that only if public opinion in America now is sufficiently aroused against the usurpation of power in Washington can there be enough pressure exerted to cause Congress to pass an amendment to the Constitution that bestows upon the states their right to initiate a Constitutional amendment.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Nobody knows what a press agent goes through. His job, primarily, is to get free space in newspapers for his clients. Take a man like William V. Humphrey. I have never met him, but, judging from his letters, I feel that he is hard-working, energetic, maybe brilliant. Of all the accounts he could have drawn, the company for which he works—Theodore R. Sills & Co. —gave him Kraut Round Dog Week.

This is like trying to publicize Be Kind to Iguanas Week, or Let's Kick Liz Taylor Once More Day. Candidly, I have never heard of a Kraut Round Dog. Further, I feel no interest, round or oblong. And yet, I detect a quiet desperation in Mr. Humphrey's material; the artist at bay.

"Dear Mr. Bishop:" he writes. "I know you can hardly wait to learn when the country will be celebrating International Kraut Round Dog Week. This year it's June 4th to 13th, for ten long days.

"So that you can keep your readers well informed, we ar enclosig a number of column items you might want to consider. Please note that these items cover not only the 'week' itself, but also go into kraut history, current popularity, how many kraut servings are made annually, low calorie aspects of kraut, etc. . ."

One can assume that Mr. Humphrey is celebrating the week right now. Not wisely, I suspect. He may even be hitting the beer, which goes good with sauerkraut. The items he sent with the letter, when read between the kraut, contain a certain subtle disinterest:

"Now, a whole week has been set aside—June 4 to 13—to celebrate the Round Dog. So, let's all eat kraut round dog sandwiches to observe International Kraut Round Dog Week. What next?"

What next indeed. A shot to the moon, that's what. Another thing, Mr. Humphrey: 4th to the 13th is not a week. We are not all going to eat round dog sandwiches to observe anything. It is possible, of course, that all seven of my readers may want to hear Mr. Humphrey define a round dog. Here it is:

"Since the turn of the century when a sausage vendor first encased the tasty hot dog in a long bun to protect his patrons' fingers from the sizzling sausage, there has been no change in the traditional hot dog sandwich." This is not spectacular, but hold your fire a moment. "A few years ago, however, the National Kraut Association began telling the public about the Kraut Round Dog Sandwich."

Did they tell you? I haven't heard a word from them. "This is made with a regular frankfurter which is slit along the side so that it curls into a circle when cooked, thus producing a round dog. Served on a round bun, or a hamburger roll, and topped with kraut, it is one of the newest sandwiches—and a gourmet's delight."

I have never seen a delighted gourmet. They usually stare at food as though sickened. It is impossible to imagine any of them expressing delight over anything, much less a round dog.

The press agent might have done better if he had told the story of the unknown kraut packer who pioneered the breakthrough— slitting the long dog to make it curl.

Why should this hero remain unsung? Others, less worthy, get a free ride on the publicity merry-go-round. Eli Whitney, the inventor of the cotton gin, for example, is well known because he employed the right press agent. All he did was devise a method of straining 90 proof gin through cotton.

In Cherry Tree Week, a press agent used a kid named Washington for a publicity stunt. Fidel Castro kidnapped the right photagraphers from Life Magazine, and got his revolution off the ground. Pure publicity. In National Hearing Aid Week, look what LBJ did with those beagles! Who ever heard of a vicuna coat until Sherman Adams got to the White House?

Some of our senators hadn't even heard of girls until Bobby Baker took charge of their education. Josef Stalin was persuaded to die as a publicity stunt for Nikita Khrushchev. It worked, like sex and Profumo.

Why not kraut and the round dog? With a man like William Humphrey rapping out reams of imperishable prose, these items might replace vitamins. On picnics, the children may eat themselves in a complete circle. They have eaten everything except each other. And that's another press agent scheme.

Funny? Not at all. I remember, years ago, when George Evans was getting a hundred a week to publicize an unknown singer. At the Paramount Theatre in New York, he paid ten girls $5 apiece to faint when the singer started his first number. Evans waited in the lobby and counted 23 girls as they were carried out. The story put Sinatra on the front page.

Huh. I smile when I think of Mr. Humphrey writing: "I know you can hardly wait. . ."

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

In the Sunday, May 31, New York Times an item reads, a $2 million dollar, shopping center, known as Two Guys from Harrison, is coming to Orange, N. J. It will be a two-story building with 160,000 square feet of space and parking, covering nine acres set aside for commercial-industrial use in the Washington-Dodd urban renewal area. This store will have 300 to 400 employes and hopes to open by Nov. 1 in time for the Christmas business. They have other large shopping centers around Orange, N. J. and 30 small merchants were given a month to present a study by experts to the Housing Authority, which has charge of Urban Renewal, the effect this mammoth shopping center would have on their business. It is interesting to learn about other little cities like Kingston, who are going through the same phases all over the country.

I have a New York Weekly Witness, newspaper, of Dec. 5, 1888. Here are some items from it. "Boston wants a zoological garden . . . A revival of the tulip mania is threatened in Holland . . . Two young women have opened a drug-store in Buffalo . . . Mountain towns in California reflooded with counterfeit 50-cent pieces. . . Ice skates promise to be cheap this winter (1888-1889) as several of the patents have just run out."

Some of the other items, which interested the people of the country in 1888. "While a circus train was standing on the track at Chestertown, Md., a locomotive halted opposite the car on which the elephants were confined. Six of the elephants thrust their trunks into the water-tank on the locomotive tender, and, in a few minutes, had drained it dry."

Even in 1888 there were career women, for Hahnemann Medical College, of New York, had a class of 200 students, one third being women. And out west, in Dakota, a 12-year-old, Inda Drake, of Badus, ploughed 40 acres, with a sulky plough. In those days, the time-record across the Atlantic by boat was six days, 2 hours and 22 minutes.

Times have changed no end in this young country of ours. It seems Tennessee was once part of North Carolina and then broke away and called herself "Franklin." In a speech of Daniel Webster's on currency of 1838 are some laws passed by this "Franklin" State Legislature which may be interesting at election time. "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Franklin . . . that from the 1st day of January 1789, the salaries of the officers of this Commonwealth be as follows: His Excellency the Governor, per annum, 1,000 deer skins. His Honor the Chief Justice, per annum, 500 deer skins. The Secretary to His Excellency the Governor, per annum, 500 raccon skins. The Treasurer to the State, 450 raccon skins. Each County Clerk, 300 beaver skins. Clerk of House of Commons, 200 raccoon skins. Members of the Assembly, per diem, three raccon skins. Justices' fees for signing a warrant, one muskrat skin. To the constable for serving a warrant, one mink skin. Enacted into the law the 18th lay of October 1789, under the great seal of the State." Thus the constable's wife could assemble herself a nice mink coat in those days. That was our country only some 175 years ago, I wonder what those folks would save said about our present mammoth shopping centers. I can just imagine paying out at the check-out with raccon and muskrat skins.

Port Ewen Troops At Camp Weekend; Awards Court Friday

While there they conducted a memorial service. Cadette Scouts Kathleen Robinson, Nancy Potter, Barbara Finch and Jean Wenzel were flag bearers, raisers and guard of honor. All scouts assembled in uniform while the flag was raised then lowered to half staff.

Scouts sang America the Beautiful. Cadette Patricia McDonough gave a reading and Junior Scout Nancy Benson placed memorial flowers at the base of the flagpole. One minute of silence was observed.

During the remainder of the weekend each scout took part in activities which earned the troop camp badge. These and other badges will be awarded Friday 7:30 p. m. in ceremonies at Ross Park. In case of rain the meeting will be held June 19.

Scout leaders, Mrs. Genevieve Tinnie and Mrs. Mary Evelyn Hults were in charge of the camping weekend assisted by Harry Hults.

Dear Abby . . .
Double Grief

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When my father died we distributed his clothes to needy men all over town. Dad had a horse blanket type jacket he wore for fishing, which we gave to Old Rudy, the janitor who worked at our plant. One evening mother and I were walking down the street and I spied Old Rudy—who was exactly daddy's size—walking toward us in that familiar fishing jacket. My heart skipped a beat, and I tried to distract mother, not knowing how she would react. She saw him, of course, and then she said to me, "Oh, look. There's Old Rudy in dad's jacket. Wouldn't Dad be pleased to know that Old Rudy is getting some good out of it? Dad always thought so much of him!"

DAD'S GIRL IN WAUSAU

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: As is usually the lot of the eldest daughter, I was called upon to dispose of all my mother's usable clothing after she had passed away. My mother, in her lifetime, had always been a very generous person, and she was forever giving to those less fortunate than herself. I distributed her clothing among those who were needy. I gave a fine winter wardrobe to mamma's laundress. Several of my friends recognized my mother's good winter coat being worn by this woman. One friend said to me, "Doesn't it bother you to see your mother's clothes again?" I answered, "If I never wanted to see them again, I'd have given everything to the Salvation Army."

NOT BOTHERED

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I read about the kind, considerate woman who was given a box of good clothing that once belonged to her dearest friend who had died. She asked you if you thought it might sadden members of her friend's family to see their mother's clothing being worn by someone else. I was pleased that you told her to go ahead and wear them as it would give them pleasure. I know. I lost a beautiful daughter in her early 20's. She had closetsful of lovely clothes. After she passed away, I divided them up and gave them to her friends. I was deeply hurt when I offered a brand new evening gown to one young woman and she replied. "Thanks a lot, but I don't think I could ever put it on. It would give me the creeps."

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Our mother was as pretty as a picture and was always dressed in the height of fashion and in the most elegant taste. Her weakness was beautiful hats, and she had dozens of them. She died, at 64, two years ago. We gave each of her friends one of mother's lovely hats. Some were ten years old, but still fashionable, and all were as good as new, in their original boxes and tissue. You cannot imagine the joy it brought us when we spotted eight of mother's beautiful hats in church on Easter Sunday.

Family Holdings Calculated at $9 Million

Johnsons Are Among Wealthiest Ever to Occupy White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's family is "one of the wealthiest ever to occupy the White House," with holdings calculated at $9 million, the Washington Evening Star said today.

In a lengthy report by staff writer John Barron, the newspaper asserted:

And More on Way

"And," the article added, "a ruling issued by the Federal Communications Commission last April could greatly increase their value."

The fortune, the newspaper said, "was amassed almost entirely while Mr. Johnson was in public office; mainly since he entered the Senate and began his rise to national power in 1948."

The White House had no immediate comment on the story.

The Star noted the common version that the fortune is mainly due to Mrs. Johnson's acumen and energy in buying up a small, part-time, debt-ridden Austin, Tex., radio station in 1943 for $17,500 and developing it into a highly profitable TV-radio business.

"Mrs. Johnson," the newspaper continued, "doubtless has made impressive contributions. But there is strong evidence that Mr. Johnson himself has participated vigorously in the family business ventures.

"Several Texans who dealt with the Johnsons prior to last November say they always dealt with Mr. Johnson, never with his wife.

No LBJ Stock

"Mr. Johnson, it should be noted, owns no stock in the company which has title to most of the Johnson property and has provided the family with such amenities as limousiness, an airplane, a cabin cruiser and the LBJ Ranch itself. A majority of the family company stock, 84.45 per cent, is owned by Mrs. Johnson and her daughters.

"Last Nov. 29, a week after Mr. Johnson entered the White House, the family relinquished control of the company by putting the stock into a trust.

"The trust agreement stipulates that neither the President nor his wife shall receive any information on how the family property is administered.

"Since then, according to Washington attorney Abe Fortas, an old friend and personal legal adviser to the President, Mr. Johnson has not engaged in or discussed any family business. But in gathering material for this article, the Star has received allegations to the contrary."

Most From TV, Radio

The bulk of the Johnson fortune, the Star pointed out, has been derived from investments in Texas television and radio stations.

The newspaper noted that during his first term in the Senate, Johnson was a member of the Commerce Committee which has jurisdiction over the Federal Communications Commission. The FCC, in turn, regulates all television and radio stations.

"The public records of the FCC," the article continued, "show no evidence that Mr. Johnson ever sought preferential consideration from the regulatory agency."

The latest FCC ruling affecting the Johnson family fortunes came this spring. As the Star put it, "the commission voted to continue probably fatal restrictions upon an Austin television cable firm which is competing with one allied with the Johnson company."

If Capital Cable, the firm allied with the Johnson interests, succeeds in driving its competitor out of Austin, Capital's eventual worth could be between $5 and $10 million, according to broadcasting industry sources.

And an option agreement entitles the Johnson company to buy half of Capital Cable at a price which would be well under a million dollars.

The only Quaker to become President was Herbert Hoover.

Let Hoplessly Ill Die, Midwest Professor Urges

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A leading medical professor from the University of Minnesota believes physicians should not maintain the life of hopelessly illl patients.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez told the 60th annual State Health Conference Tuesday that members of the medical profession "keep living into their nineties the half-wits, the hopelessly insane, the hopelessly criminal, the good-for-nothings and the senescent and perhaps idiotic octogenarians who lie all day in bed, be-diapered and gazing open-mouthed at the ceiling.

"When these human vegetables get pneumonia, and try to die—perhaps if they are conscious, begging to be allowed to die—we physicians pour antibiotics into them, and proudly snatch them back to life," Dr. Alvarez said.

Rochester Town Planners Enlist Advisory Group

Several area residents have agreed to serve in an advisory capacity to Town of Rochester Planning Board, it was announced at last week's meeting held in Accord Fire Hall.

Planning Board Chairman John W. Scribano reported that he had been in touch with a number of local people regarding their help in an advisory capacity and the following accepted: Albert Milliken, architect; Daniel Smiley, conservationist; Roy Conklin, historian; Etienne F. Messinger, surveying and maps; Sam Bank, sanitation; Ellsworth McDole, construction, and Saul Altholz, legal matters.

Present at the meeting were Town Supervisor Franklin Kelder, Justice of the Peace Raymond Lawrence, Town Superintendent of Highways Richard Gray and Messinger.

Board member Samuel Reavin spoke about the recent purchase of Woodland Farms by a group interested in the study and helping of brain-injured children, and the impact that such a program may have on the Town.

Scribano submitted a report on the Sheldon Development Road and the Stony Kill portion of road which had been abandoned in 1912. After some discussion it was decided to recommend to the Town Board that the Sheldon Development Road be accepted if it met the requirements of the Town Superintendent of Highways but that the taking over and development of the Stony Kill Road was not recommended at the present time although the matter should be restudied when the town-owned area of Hole 32 was developed into a recreational park, as a direct route into the area.

The new minimnm requirements for minor road construction, as drafted by Reavin, were taken up, item by item, and several changes were recommended by Town Superintendent of Highways Gray and Messinger. It was voted to incorporate such changes in the specifications and to send a revised copy to the Town Board for consideration at their next meeting.

English Student Coming to OCS In August

Sometime next August, the Malcolm Rose family of Bearsville will have the pleasure of welcoming their new member, Elizabeth Margaret Steele of the Town of Grays, County of Essex, England.

Miss Steele is the student selected by the New York office of the American Field Service as the Onteora Chapter's foreign student next year. She will attend Onteora as a member of the Class of 1965 and will graduate with that class.

From information received by the chapter, it appears that Miss Steele is a well-rounded person. She is particularly interested in background reading and research in connection with her school work. She does some writing. However, she is not all bookish. Outdoors, she is a tennis enthusiast and enjoys horseback riding.

In her personal statement, Miss Steele says that she hopes her visit will enable her to tell us more about her own country and at the same time gain a more intimate knowledge of the United States so that she may do her small part toward peace through understanding.

Cohn's Attorney Must State Case

NEW YORK (AP)—A judge has rejected a request by Roy M. Cohn's counsel to withdraw from Cohn's second trial on charges of perjury and obstruction of justice.

A jury of 11 men and one woman was selected Tuesday from 49 panelists. Four alternates are still to be chosen for the re-trial of Cohn, former Senate subcommittee aid to the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

Federal Judge Dudley B. Bonsal ruled that the interests of justice require a prompt re-trial and that attorney Frank G. Raichle of Buffalo will have to represent Cohn unless another lawyer is ready to proceed immediately.

The first trial ended in a mistrial because of the death of the father of one juror. The jury had deliberated four days.

Cohn and Murray E. Gottesman, New York lawyer, are accused of lying to a grand jury that was investigating why four admitted swindlers at first escaped indictment in a securities inquiry.

All 962 delegates to the Republican state convention, which opens Friday night, were to be invited to the Rockefeller reception at the new Hotel America, along with the 962 alternates.

Red Cross Moves To Alert Public On Choking Toll

Choking accidents kill more than 2,000 persons yearly, and the number is increasing, according to Daniel Morehouse, Ulster County Red Cross First Aid Chairman. Among children under five, the leading cause of death is choking on food or foreign objects. Because of these facts, all Red Cross first aid instructors are being requested to place renewed stress on the dangers of accidental choking. Special teaching material and information for the more than 79,000 American Red Cross first aid instructors to use in teaching prevention of choking-type accidents are to be distributed by the Red Cross to its chapters throughout the country.

The move is being undertaken in cooperation with medical and dental organizations as part of a campaign to alert the public to choking hazards. The program was initiated by the American Broncho-Esophagological Association at the suggestion of Dr. Paul G. Bunker, Aberdeen, S. D., physician and one-time first aid chairman of the St. Paul, Minn. Chapter. Other organizations joining the educational effort include the Committee on Broncho-Esophagology of the American College of Chest Physicians, the Committee for the Prevention of Accidents of the American Academy of Pediatrics, and the American Dental Association.

Report Marines Missing, May Be Viet Cong POW

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. Marine Corps enlisted men were reported missing and may have been captured by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

An American military spokesman announced today the two men, assigned to a Marine helicopter unit at Danang, 380 miles north of Saigon, have been missing since Sunday when they went on a beach picnic.

Their disappearance raises to 14 the number of American military personnel missing since December 1961.

Identification of the two has been withheld.

IUE Ratifies Michigan Pact

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — National Guard troops packed up their gear today as striking workers prepared to return to the Essex Wire Corp., scene of a violent 102-day-strike.

Hillsdale, a city of some 7,600 in southern Michigan, began reverting to normal late Tuesday when members of Local 810 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, ratified a new four-year contract by an 83-34 vote.

Italo Bragalone, manager of the Essex plant, said about 100 men would be recalled immediately. He said others would be called back as production picks up.

George Gould, international representative of the IUE, reported that the members would receive a wage increase of 36½ cents an hour spread over the four-year period. The first year of the contract calls for a 10-cent boost, he said.

Comb Fishkill Woods

State police at Fishkill, aided by Beacon authorities and troopers from area sub-stations, this afternoon were combing the woods in the vicinity of the Fishkill troopers barracks for an alleged automobile thief. Troopers said the man, wanted on a charge of grand larceny, is believed to have eluded capture and escaped in another car that was stolen in Fishkill village early today.

Protests Poles' Rough Handling Of Air Attache

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—U.S. Ambassador John M. Cabot has protested to Polish authorities that plainclothes police roughed up the U.S. Air Force attache here last month.

An informed source said the attache, Col. George Carey of Boston, Mass., suffered a bruised and scratched arm, his shirt was torn, and his camera case was damaged in scuffles on May 23.

Western military attaches in Poland are constantly shadowed but this was the first reported incident involving force.

It was said to have started when Carey noticed outside the U.S. Embassy that he was being followed by plainclothesmen and started to photograph them.

The source said two agents ran up to the colonel and made several unsuccessful attempts to take his camera from him.

As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.

It All Looks So Different Now

Battlefield Return No More Than a Stroll Into Legend

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody remembers war altogether as it happened. No one can tell the truth of a battlefield.

They forget its actuality as they grow older, and change it to suit their age.

Nobody can find out the true story of combat, not even five minutes after an event occurs.

No One Has Full Story

A battlefield is a great mystery while it is being fought. No one has the full story then or later.

There is an involvement with the enemy. The chaos of clash is immediate; it can never be accurately reassembled by recall. Too much happens all at once.

That is why I feel a bit sorry for those who went back to Normandy last week for the 20th anniversary of one of mankind's more memorable military adventures.

Going back to a place you knew in war is a journey even more lonesome in peace than it was when the ignition of danger and the purpose of a mutual endeavor threw a glare upon the commonplace. You can never quite find what you look for.

I found this to be true when I went back to France five years after it was invaded by the Allies. I found it even more true when I went back 10 years after.

It was my wish to return again last week two decades after those strident days of thunder and nights of flare when the breaking of the St. Lo position wheeled the Allies toward victory.

Can Never Go Home Again

But I knew it would be a visit into the lost, a stroll into legend.

The moment a situation in war changes, it is gone forever. The fact of war defeats the recognition of it.

In combat, more than anywhere else in life, you can never go home again. There are too many variances of viewpoints for them ever to be fully reconciled.

Two return to the scene of action. Even if it be but an hour all is different. What actually happened there? One knows a part of it, another knows another part of it, and neither knows all.

Once the bodies are picked up, the blood is dried, the position is changed, the vehicles are regrouped, the possible truth is forever gone.

Give a battlefield a few days, or months, or years, and what really happened there is even more impossible to find out.

The soldier returns and looks across a field where the grass and trees have renewed their greenery and forgotten their scars; where the stinking bodies of cows inflated by death have been removed, where a farmer walks in duty where a foe once held a direness.

Clouded by Conjecture

The soldier says: "Yes, it was there that I, we, or, no, was it over there that? Anyway, I'll never forget—Don't you remember that the both of us—I think you were with me when—It all comes back so clear that—"

But his honest reach for the truth is clouded by conjecture. It all looks so different.

Landscapes forget the people who fight across them. People who try to remember the landscapes they fought across can never come back afterward and be quite sure that this is the exact place where once they felt they learned more about life and death than they ever could afterward.

Museum Group's Organizational Meeting Slated

The steering committee for the proposed Mid-Hudson-Catskills Museum met recently in its new temporary headquarters and scheduled an organizational meeting for Friday, June 26 at 8 p. m. in George Washington School, 67 Wall Street.

The old West Park Schoolhouse was recently offered to the committee by the Town of Esopus for use as temporary headquarters.

The purpose of the meeting will be to establish an official membership list and election of a board of trustees. A slate of candidates including all members of the steering committee will be announced at the meeting. Additional nominations will be heard from the floor.

A tentative program of free films, lectures and exhibits was suggested for operation of the temporary headquarters this summer.

C. Michael Darcy, a guest speaker from the New York State Museum assured the committee of the state museum's intent to support the summer program by making films and exhibits available.

Copies of the proposed by-laws for the new organization will be distributed for approval by the membership. After the business meeting the Disney film, Beaver Valley will be shown.

Those interested in the museum effort are urged to attend for the purpose of becoming charter members.

The steering committee includes Henry Dunbar of Kingston, chairman pro tem; John W. Buck Jr., of Kingston, treasurer pro tem; Arthur Withall of Ulster Park; George Fernandez of Hurley; Norman Kellar of New Paltz; William Phillips of Hopewell Junction; Daniel Smiley of Mohonk Lake; Craig Smith of Saugerties and Ralph Swenson of Accord.

CHEVELLE by Chevrolet
FRISKY AS IT CAN BE...FINE A BUY AS YOU CAN GET (even finer now!)

Trade 'N' Travel Time is running out at your Chevrolet dealer's. This is about your last chance to get in a whole summerful of fun with a beautiful buy like a Chevelle Malibu wagon.

Allow us to point out some of its less obvious pleasures.

It has curved side windows—not just for looks, but to give you more shoulder room. It has 86 cu. ft. of cargo space, so you can go on vacation with everything but the kitchen sink if you have to.

It has a Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish for protection against the sun, road tar and chipping.

It has those self-cleaning rocker panels beneath the doors that resist rust by flushing themselves free of salt and dirt.

CHEVROLET TRADE 'N' TRAVEL TIME
FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS

Inside, the upholstery over its wide foam-cushioned seats is soft, durable color-keyed vinyl. All vinyl. The floor carpeting is deep-twist and long-wearing, door to door.

We don't want anything playing havoc with Chevelle's good looks if we can help it.

All in all, there are 11 different Chevelles being offered during Trade 'N' Travel Time. Spacious station wagons, coupes, Super Sports with bucket seats, convertibles, sedans. One's as beautiful a buy as the other. It's up to you. But hurry, whatever you do!

Price of Aluminum Increases on Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — A half-cent increase in the price of aluminum ingot to 24 cents a pound, effective next Monday, became almost unanimous Tuesday.

Second - ranked Reynolds Metals Co., third-ranked Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., and the leading international factor, Aluminium Ltd. of Canada, all announced increases.

They joined top-ranked Aluminum Co. of America, which acted Monday, and fourth-ranked Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., which began the wave last week.

The rise is the third since last fall, when Reynolds initiated a cent increase from 22½ cents. These rises have come close to restoring cuts that began in 1961, when the price slipped from 26 cents to 24. It hit a depth of 22½ in December 1962, when excess capacity caused price - cutting competition.

Spring Will Come

KAYCEE, Wyo. (AP) — The old Indian rainmaker has nothing on the Kaycee and Gillette B basketball squads.

They were scheduled to play Feb. 7, but the game was postponed because of snow. It was rescheduled and postponed again —snow. Finally they got together on another snowy night and Kaycee won 73-62.

Then came the return game. It snowed again. They gave up and canceled the game.

Hudson Approves School Budget, Rates Will Drop

A budget totaling $1,459,546.38 was adopted Tuesday night by the Hudson Board of Education. The 1964-65 budget will result in a reduction in school tax rates of $1.55 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

A public hearing to discuss the budget items was attended only by seven persons. Mrs. Irene Burton, chairman of the Taxpayer-Rentpayer Association, reviewed most of the estimated expenditures with the Board.

The approved budget is $2,000 less than the original estimates. If the original budget was adopted the tax rate reduction would have been $1.41 per $1,000. The elimination of the towel laundry service, brought about an additional slash of 14 cents per $1,000.

Although the budget shows a total appropriation of $1,459,546.38, which is $75,921 higher than the present one, the tax rate is lower because of an increase in anticipated revenues totaling $99,440.

At about 14,000 feet, Mt. Kilimanjaro divides in a six-mile-long saddle. On one side Mawenzi rises some 2,000 feet out of volcanic rubble. From the other side thrusts the higher, snow-covered cone of Kibo.

FROSTLESS
REFRIGERATOR - FREEZER

Frost can't form with the wonderful Frostless Refrigerator-Freezers —neither in the big zero-degree freezer, nor in the refrigerator section. And the new refrigerator-freezers give you much more usable space inside with no increase in overall size.

You can forget about food and ice trays that stick or cubes that have to be battered apart ... your FROSTLESS keeps frost out and cubes so cold they can't stick together.

You can really stock up on sale items, knowing that when you want to use them they'll be as fresh as the day you bought them and you won't have to chop them out of the freezer, not with a FROSTLESS!

You can cook and freeze an entire meal against the day when unexpected guests drop by, and the whole tasty menu will pop out of the freezer as easily (and free from ice) as when you put it in!

You can have the peace of mind that comes from knowing you have a supermarket right in your kitchen, full of frozen delights that you can bring out for any culinary emergency. (And without the slightest trace of icing up, thanks to your FROSTLESS!)

Two Seniors Are Among Six Told To Leave Hobart

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — Two seniors scheduled to graduate from Hobart College Sunday are among six college students ordered by a judge to leave this Finger Lakes city by today.

The students admitted in court Tuesday that they damaged a Hobart fraternity house last week after a visit to a tavern. Damage to the building was more than $300, police said.

Five of the students are enrolled at Hobart, but the college refused to say if any disciplinary action had been taken or if the seniors would be graduated.

The students refused to comment.

Judge Joseph Caito of City Court ordered the students out of Geneva within 24 hours. Caito set no time limit on the ban.

Police had charged them with third-degree burglary and malicious mischief, but the judge dismissed the burglary charge and reduced the malicious mischief charge to disorderly conduct, to which the six pleaded guilty and were given six-month suspended jail sentences.

The Hobart students are:

Robert E. Harrington, 22, of Baltimore, Md. and Peter L. Smith, 22, of Port Washington, the seniors; Robert Magosci, 21, of York, Maine, and Wesley A. Henderson, 22, of Watertown, both juniors; and Michael D. Saunders, 20, of Watertown, a sophomore.

The sixth student, from an out-of-town college, was visiting Hobart at the time of the incident.

Today's New York Herald Tribune said:

"Despite the public display, party sources said the move to oust Mr. Carlino as county leader remained alive."

Tuesday, the newspaper said Carlino would be out as leader within two weeks. It attributed this largely to some GOP organization losses in the June 2 primary and to leaders' fears about the November general election.

As Carlino arrived from a a speaking engagement in Buffalo, he noted that he had said previously he would remain as county chairman until after the November election, and he added: "I see no reason to change my mind now."

He said the report of a party rift "was founded on misinformation" and the dissatisfaction over the primary results has been "distorted out of all proportion."

Carlino, of Long Beach, became county GOP leader in June 1961.

Shakespeare Year Display Here

In 400 years, little has changed in Stratford Upon Avon. There was only one Bard of Avon-genius like this comes only once in a nation's history; there is only one Homer, one Cervantes, one Shakespeare.

The half-timbered house on Henley Street where William Shakespeare was born to John Shakespeare and Mary Arden still stands. The homes of his mother at Wilmcote, his daughter, Susannah — Hall's Croft in Old Town — and his wife, Anne Hathaway, are excellent examples of 16th century architecture and are now administered in the public interest by the Shakespeare Memorial Trust.

The Anne Hathaway Cottage is situated at Shottery, just over a mile from the center of Stratford Upon Avon, a picturesque thatched farmhouse, now popularly referred to as "The Cottage." Part of the building dates back to the fifteenth century, and as a specimen of early domestic architecture it has few equals. Its structure is of stone, timber-framing, wattle and brick and there has been little restoration.

A replica of "The Cottage" and its surrounding gardens is now on display in the window of Greenwald's Travel Service at 286 Fair Street. Over seven feet in breadth, the model was constructed in England in 1963 and was shipped to New York where, until recently, it was on display in the Fifth Avenue window of British Overseas Airways Corporation. Built to scale, both house and landscape are exact except for the removal of some trees and shrubbery to permit closer inspection of structural details. Commemorative brochures detailing Britain's plans for celebrating Shakespeare Year are available without charge at the Greenwald office.

Senecas Refuse To Quit Homes, By Dam Site

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP)—Seneca Indians near the Kinzua Dam site have refused to move from their present homes until next year, although the gates of the dam are scheduled to close Oct. 1 and flood their land.

George Heron, president of the Seneca Nation, said Tuesday it was "useless" to try to relocate before next year the 127 families now living in the path of the 29-mile long dam.

"Two months of ideal construction weather are now behind us without one new home having been started," Heron said. Money cannot be appropriated by the Indians to begin construction of the housing until the U.S. Senate and House get together on an $11-million difference on how much the Indians will be paid, Heron said.

"The Seneca Council is reluctant to award any building contract without some assurance that we will have the funds to pay for the homes once they are completed," Heron said.

Legislation that would give the Indians $20.1-million for rehabilitation and compensation was passed by the House Feb. 7, but the funds were cut to $9.1-million in a bill approved by the Senate March 25.

U.N. Makes New Plea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council voted a new appeal to South Africa Tuesday to stop handing out death sentences to those who run afoul of its racial policies. The vote was 7-0, with the United States, Britain, France and Brazil abstaining.

Jaycees List Independence Day Program, Parade July 4

This year's Saugerties July 4 weekend celebration will be the largest ever sponsored by Saugerties Jaycees, according to Richard Cyr, newly elected president.

An all out effort is being made to add additional features to every portion of the program, he said.

The weekend will start off with a Hootenanny at Simmons Plaza on the evening of July 3 sponsored by Saugerties Jaycees. Pete Williams of Channel 6 TV fame, will head the all-star program. Co-feature on the program will be a performance by Miss Saugerties, Jane Markovsky, folk songs by Sebastian Vos from High Woods, and "The Group" folk singers from New Paltz.

July 4th a nine division parade will step off at 10 a. m. The parade will feature such bands as the Criterions of Kingston, the Paulettes, all girl drum and glockenspeil corps from New York City, sponsored by the Saugerties Savings Bank, the Village Volunteers, a drum and fife corps from Delmar and the latest addition to the list of outstanding bands, the Troop 12 Indians from Kingston.

In order to increase float participation this year the number of trophies to be awarded has been increased and in addition an individual float category has been added. All persons or groups entering floats desiring parade information or having suggestions pertaining to the parade are urged to contact Charles Hass.

The afternoon activities will start with an exhibition by the Criterions and the Troop 12 Indians at Cantine Field, followed by a dog show and model airplane flying by a model plane club from Hyde Park.

A Donkey ball game will be featured in mid-afternoon. The participating teams will be announced later. Additional activities will include a watermelon eating contest, Little League ball game and several other activities, which are now in the planning stages.

The evening of the fourth will be topped off with the largest fireworks display ever presented by the Jaycees. This year Saugerties National Bank and Trust Company are the co-sponsors of the fireworks.

The weekend celebration will end on Sunday with what may well be the largest gathering of antique cars Saugerterians have ever seen for the Antique Auto Meet sponsored by the Antique Auto Club of Saugerties.

While here they will view the city from the top of the Empire State Building; take a boat ride around Manhatan Island, and see a performance at Radio City Music Hall. This year, a day at the New York World's Fair offers a fascinating sidelight.

The students taking part in the UN Pilgrimage for Youth are generally selected by competition from among 16 and 17 year olds, sophomores or juniors in high school, who vie with one another through examinations, interviews, and public speaking contests.

The winning award includes the paying by the Odd Fellow and/or Rebekah lodges of a town, district, or state, of the expenses while in New York and the cost of the bus tour that takes them to New York and home again.

Frank Short, noble grand of William H. Raymond Lodge, Bernard Drefin and Robert Herb are in charge of local arrangements.

Lutheran Church Women of Atonement will hold a supper meeting, Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the church.

Members will bring a covered dish to pass and place settings for themselves and guests.

Special effort is being made to have each member of the LCA personally invite new people in the church and those not affiliated with organization.

There will be a showing of slides of the Lutheran World Federation meeting at Helsinki, Finland, and also scenes from Russia, by the Rev. and Mrs. Alvin Messersmith of West Camp.

Devotions will be conducted by Mrs. Donald Genthner, Elm Street. Hostesses will be Mrs. David Hildebrandt, Simmons Street, Mrs. Charles Haas and Miss Naomi Nicklaus.

On Sunday Raymond Kropp, Spaulding Lane, will give a report of the meeting of the New York Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, held June 1-4 at Jamestown, at which he was a delegate. Highlights included a resolution on civil rights.

The synod adopted a budget of $2,500,000, and authorized the participation of the synod in an $8,000,000 appeal for the relocation and merger of a new seminary, Gettysburg and Philadelphia Seminary will be the merging groups, which are proposed to be relocated in the area of the University of Pennsylvania. New York Synod is one of some six synods which support the seminary and whose pastors receive their training there. Unexpected was the vote to assign assistants to the president to all geographical areas of the synod to promote the entire work of the synod instead of covering specialized work such as evangelism, stewardship, youth work, over the entire synod.

The Rev. John Frenssen of of Trinity Lutheran Church of Kingston was elected member of the executive Board of the Synod.

Summer schedule for Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties will begin in July and continue through Labor Day weekend. The family service will be at 9 a. m., one service.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Somers of Woodland Acres, Saugerties, were received into membership of Atonement Lutheran Church June 7 by letters of transfer from Zion Lutheran Church, Cobleskill.

Choir rehearsal, Wednesdays at 8 p. m.

Programs Urged To Help Dropouts

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo has called on local officials to press harder for locally developed solutions to local problems.

Lomenzo cited the problem of school dropouts and rehabilitation for young persons who found themselves in trouble with the law.

Lomenzo commented Tuesday in a speech at the four-day annual convention of the New York State Supervisors Association. More than 350 persons are attending the meeting, which began Monday.

Lomenzo said automation would complicate the problem posed by pupils who left school before graduation.

"Local governments have the responsibility to initiate programs within their local educational departments to attract these dropouts and to train them in a skill that will enable them to get a job," Lomenzo said.

He also said rehabilitation programs were needed for youngsters who break the law and are placed on probation instead of going to prison.

Elks Will Mark Flag Day Sunday

Kingston Lodge 550, BPO Elks, will hold a public observance of the Lodge's Flag Day ceremonies Sunday, June 14, at 4 p. m. in the lodge room at Elk's Home, 264 Fair Street.

George Karabinos, Exalter Ruler of the Lodge, extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Principal speaker will be Frederic Snyder of Kingston, well-known lecturer and world traveler.

The program will include the Flag Day Ritual, as performed by the officers and members of the Lodge, and the display of the Minute Man Figure, which was designed and made through the efforts of Warrant Officer Edio G. Ferrari and Major Frank Fabbie of the local unit of the 156th Artillery Battalion. Also on display during the ceremonies will be the only bronzed staffed U. S. flag in this area. The flag was obtained for the occasion by Frederic Snyder.

Exalter Ruler Karabinos said that Kingston Lodge 550, BPOE will be one of more than 2,000 Elks Lodges across the country honoring the flag on the 187th anniversary of its creation by the Continental Congress June 14, 1777.

Kingston Lodge also will participate in the July 4 "Let Freedom Ring" observance. Bells across the nation will be rung simultaneously to commemorate the 188th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The bell ringing observance was first held last year.

Kingston Lodge's Flag Day program is in charge of its Americanization Committee under the chairmanship of Past Exalter Ruler Bruce Miller. Other members of the committee are Charles A. Ryan, P.D.D. Robert M. Smith, P.D.D.; Oscar Newkirk and Joseph Epstein.

Lyonsville

LYONSVILLE — Reformed Church worship service begins at 11:15 a. m. with summer messages to be delivered by Bernhardt Ryder, student pastor.

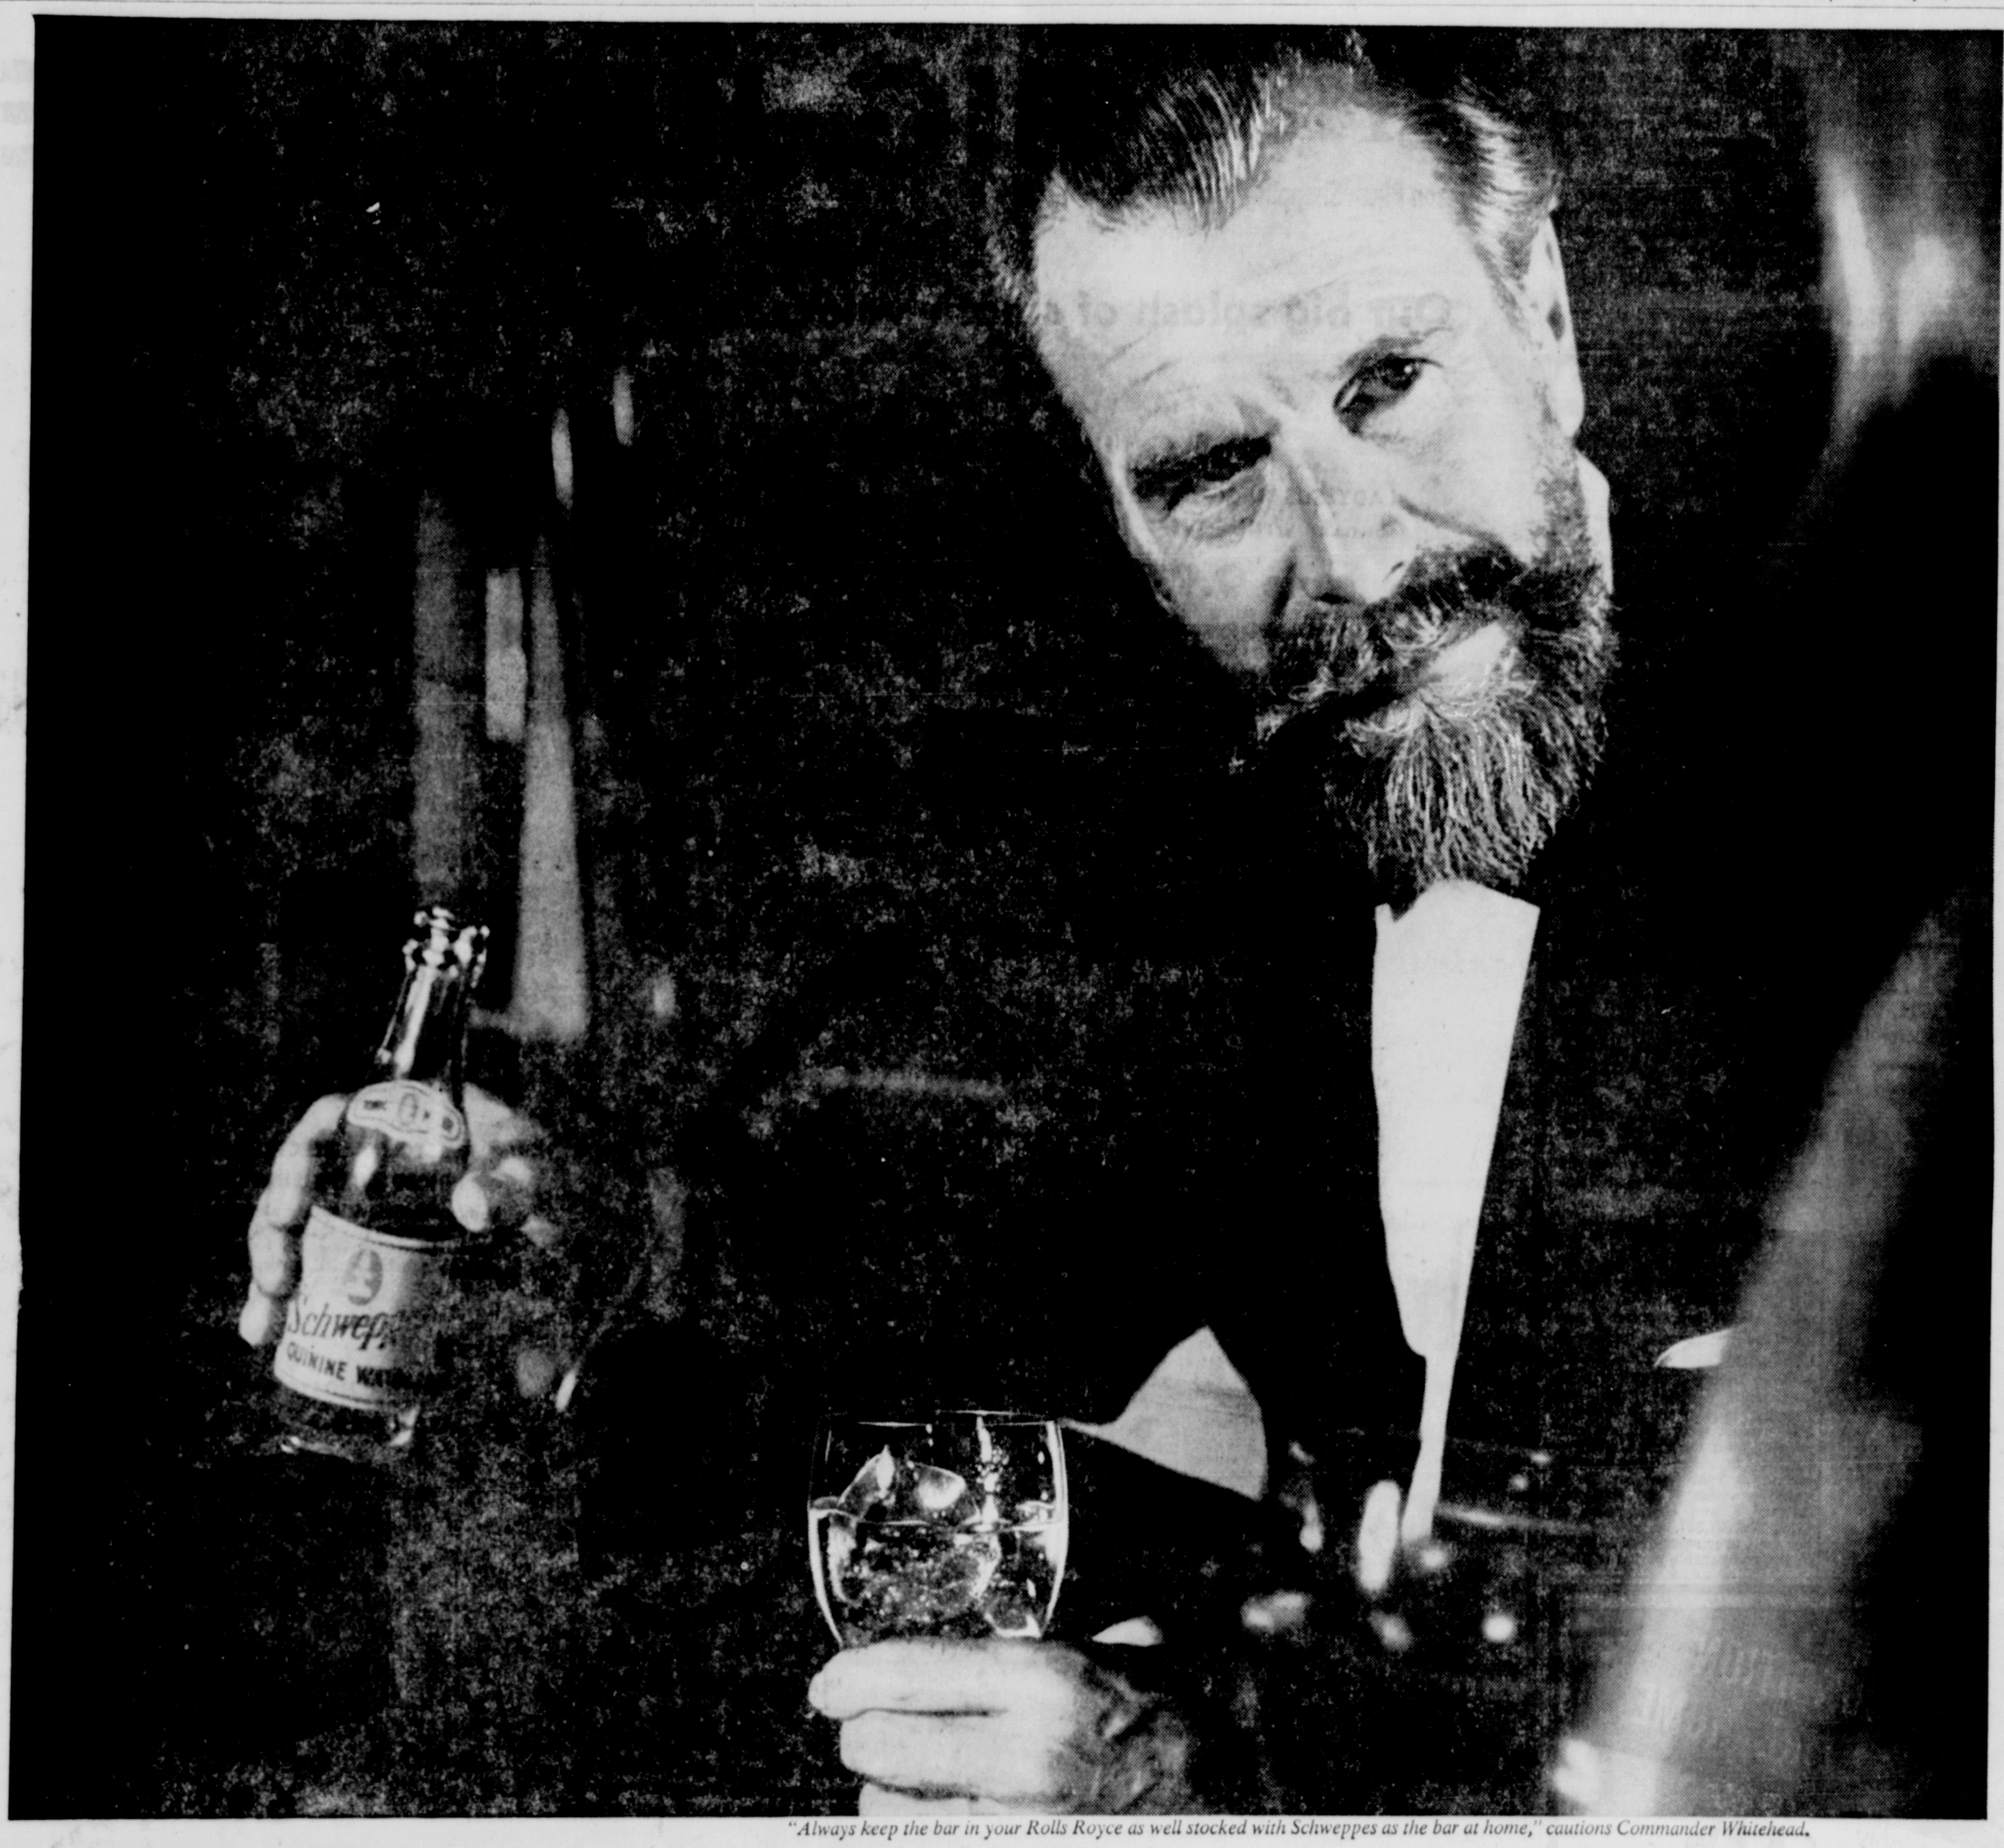
Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ackert of Olive Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. Franz Fries and daughter, Cheryl of Nyack, and Mrs. Franz Fries Sr., of Kingston, visited during the weekend with Mrs. Ray Davis.

William Alexander has been readmitted to Benedictine Hospital where he is receiving treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burger and mother, Mrs. Ray Davis, attended the Ulster County Grand Jurors Association banquet held at the Alpine, DeWitt Lake.



"Always keep the bar in your Rolls Royce as well stocked with Schweppes as the bar at home," cautions Commander Whitehead.

The President of Schweppes U.S.A. reveals his own secret recipe for making magnificent Tonic Drinks

"A TONIC DRINK is the easiest drink in the world to make," says Commander Edward Whitehead.

That's because the basic recipe is so simple. All you need is Schweppes Tonic and liquor—gin, vodka, rum, you name it.

However, there are a few differences between a Tonic Drink that's great and one that's magnificent. Here are Commander Whitehead's own secret rules for the magnificent:

1. Use just a couple of ice cubes in your drink. More will only dilute the drink. (Some people keep their Schweppes in the refrigerator—and don't use any ice cubes at all.)

2. Put a jigger of liquor in the glass—then add the Schweppes.

3. Pour Schweppes Tonic slowly, down the side of the glass. The House of Schweppes in London has been working since 1794 to perfect Schweppervescence—little bubbles that always last your whole drink through. Don't squander that precious Schweppervescence by dashing your Schweppes on the rocks.

4. Don't stir. You don't need to. Schweppes Tonic mixes perfectly with any liquor, without stirring.

Now, sip slowly. Curiously refreshing!

Convenient way to buy Schweppes Tonic: In no deposit, no return bottles. So compact!

Schweppes inimitable flavor is protected, naturally, by glass.

Congo is Facing Violent Days But U.N. Forces Pulling Out

By ROBIN MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Lights burn late at U.N. headquarters in Leopoldville. Senior officers of the world organization's Congo army wear harassed and even guilty looks.

The Congo apparently is heading for dark and violent days, but they are getting out. By June 30, the Congo's fourth independence day, the last of 3,405 U.N. soldiers from 12 nations will have gone home, their job finished.

Finished?

In Kivu, on the Congo's eastern border, Communist-backed pygmy-like Bafulero warriors routed five companies of Congolese soldiers and threatened Bukavu, the provincial capital.

At Albertville, capital of North Katanga, a short-lived revolt against Provincial President Jason Sendwe took more than 100 lives. Wives of two U.N. civilians were raped.

Farther west, young warriors invaded the South Kasai town of Mwene-Ditu and murdered five citizens by forcing them to swallow pili-pili, a tiny, fiendishly hot red pepper used to season food.

Stanleyville Boiling

To the north, Stanleyville, once the late Premier Patrice Lumumba's area and still a hotbed of extremism, seethes with discontent. The central government has named a resident minister to supervise Provincial President Paul Isombuma, deposed by his provincial assembly but reinstated by Leopoldville.

In the center, Peking-trained ex-Education Minister Pierre Mulele leads a rebellion in Kwilu. His warriors also burn and kill in neighboring provinces.

In Leopoldville, nightfall turns more than 1.2 million people in to prisoners inside their homes.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew is the government's answer to plastic bomb attacks against churches, electric power installations and the capital's railroad to the sea. Saboteurs made an unsuccessful bid to blow down the wall of Makala prison in broad daylight.

Try to Hire Assassins

Across the river in Brazzaville, capital of the Congo's sister republic, exiled extremists plot Premier Cyrille Adoula's violent overthrow, bribing soldiers to act as hired assassins.

"These are the darkest days since 1960," declares one high U.N. officer, recalling the Congolese army mutiny only seven days after independence which sent the country into an orgy of killing, looting, raping, destruction and secession.

That brought the United Nations here.

Its rank and file soldiers do not try to conceal their impatience to be gone. Departure dates are ringed with red on wall calendars.

Case for Argument

It can be argued that putting down the rebellions in Kivu and Kwilu is no business of the United Nations.

"Lots of countries have internal security problems," says a U.N. political official who insists on remaining anonymous. "We have to leave one day—we can't stay here forever."

To a large extent, the Congo's present woes are unfinished business. Four years of crisis-ridden independence have been too short to solve deep-rooted tribal, political and economic questions.

Add to this the bewilderment of the ordinary Congolese trying desperately to belong to the 20th century. All the wisdom of his tribal forebears means nothing when he confronts the complexities of modern society.

Add to this a leadership crisis that was inevitable the day this vast, rich nation was handed by its Belgian colonial rulers to 14 million people of whom less than a score had university degrees and even fewer any real experience of accepting responsibility.

Leaders Unpopular

Almost all observers are agreed that Adoula and some of his close collaborators have grown in political stature in battling for survival.

But their measures to keep the country afloat have been misunderstood by the bulk of Congolese. The leaders are unpopular.

Piling on the agony is the inefficiency of corruption, laziness and tribal favoritism displayed by the administration Adoula commands. He rarely knows whether his subordinates will obey him. Ministers fight viciously among themselves.

Next comes racism. Most Congolese know that their country cannot survive without help from white technicians. But they resent it.

On the other side of the racial coin, many whites still lump all Congolese into the "macacq" (monkey) category.

Top this off with a lavish dash of cold war—Peking style. Most experts on communism here are convinced the Chinese are flexing their muscles in Africa, probing for weaknesses.

The sum of all these factors equals indifference by a lot of Conoglese toward their country's ultimate fate.

Perhaps the greatest tragedy is that the Congo, thanks to energetic government measures and foreign aid, was on the brink of economic recovery when assailed by the Communist-supported revolts in Kwilu and Kivu.

Bloodhound Back After Encounter With Porcupine

MALONE, N.Y. (AP) — Captain, the State Police bloodhound that disappeared during a training exercise 14 days ago, has been found safe but sore—from an apparent encounter with a porcupine.

Captain and Pharoah broke their harnesses May 28 while Pharoah, an older bloodhound, was being used in the training of Captain. They ran into a heavily wooded area.

Pharoah returned to the training area the next day, but Captain could not be found. Troopers feared somebody might be frightened and shoot the dog.

Tuesday night, Captain was found wandering on the Paul Judware property (on Route 30) south of Malone—about five miles from where the dog disappeared.

Troopers said the young bloodhound was "a bit bedraggled" and had several porcupine needles in his nose.

He was taken to a veterinarian for treatment and recuperation.

Hands His Book to Governors

Consistency Not Virtue, Says Goldwater on Various Issues

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater provided Republican governors with a booklet when some of them wanted clarification on where he stoood on the issues. This wasn't a very flattering thing to do to them.

It was like telling them they would know where he stood if they had paid attention and read this booklet: "Sen. Goldwater Speaks Out On the Issues." It had been in circulation nationwide for weeks.

Nevertheless, Goldwater has not always been consistent in what he said over the past few years. This doesn't bother him. He himself has said: "Consistency is not necessarily a virtue."

He said there was something wrong with a public man who didn't change his mind "to meet the developments of the times."

In the 1950s he said former President Harry S. Truman had "fathered all the misdeeds of recent years" and was the "architect of everything wrong with America today."

Bouquet for HST

In 1963, he said America needs another decisive president like Truman who, he thought, would go down in history as one of the greatest presidents.

In 1963, Goldwater, who proudly calls himself a conservative, said the true one seeks progress based on proven values of the past while the "so-called liberal" is one who seeks change for the sake of change alone. In 1964 he said he thinks history will rate him a liberal.

In 1962, he said as president he would seriously consider transporting Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist troops from Formosa to the Red China mainland for an invasion. But the next year he said the problem was how to get them there.

Last February he was for using warships to halt the shipment of British buses and French products to Cuba but a month later said he would try to discourage Allied trade with Fidel Castro by "example and use of diplomatic pressure."

Fight if Necessary

In 1961, Goldwater talked of landing armed forces in Cuba to throw out Castro and in 1963 of a blockade, support of Cuban exile attacks, and invasion by the Organization of American States and by "ourselves."

He even thought, he said, he would be for doing "anything necessary to get rid of that cancer (Castro). If it means war, let it mean war." But this year he said "the suggestion that we must either accept communism in Cuba or invade Cuba is defeatist and dangerous nonsense."

He had said it was improper for the government to intervene in school desegregation or to use troops to enforce desegreation orders of the courts. But by last month he changed his view, said "I'm glad when I can recognize I'm wrong."

When he first came to the Senate in 1953, he was all for changing the filibuster rules to cut off lengthy debates. He changed and now says he won't vote to end the anti-civil rights filibuster now in its 75th day.

He said if he was president he would break off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union but last January added he would need Senate approval to do this. He couldn't have been more wrong.

The Senate must approve treaties but not breaking off diplomatic relations.

He stopped advocating putting Social Security on a voluntary basis and now says his only interest in the system is to improve it by making the pension dollar sound. After he lost the New Hampshire primary in March, his campaign manager said his talk of a voluntary Social Security system was a major boner.

About Income Taxes

He favors getting rid of the "whole graduated income tax" so that rich and poor pay the same percentage of tax. But the American income tax has always been graduated from the time of the first one in Civil War days under President Abraham Lincoln.

In 1962 and 1963, Goldwater favored getting out of the United Nations. By the latter part of 1963, he was for staying in. By 1964 he said he couldn't recall ever having suggested getting out.

Between 1960 and 1964 Goldwater said so many times he would not seek the Republican presidential nomination that as late as Sept. 15, 1963, he said, "I've said a thousand times I'm going to run for the Senate, nothing more."

But just 11 days before that The Associated Press reported Goldwater had rented the entire 15th floor of a hotel in San Francisco for next month which is when the Republicans hold their nomination convention there.

Then on Jan. 3, 1964, he announced his candidacy and at the same time said he would run for the Senate from Arizona, too, although he had derided Lyndon B. Johnson for running for the vice presidency and the Senate in 1960.

He had said he wouldn't seek both. Now he says he will give up the Senate race if he gets the presidential nomination.

Dr. Snow Returning To Poughkeepsie Post

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Herman B. Snow, who served only nine days as deputy director of the State Department of Mental Hygiene, says he is returning to Hudson River State Hospital here as senior director.

"I realized that I would be happier here where I can work with patients and a staff that directly is handling patients," Snow said Tuesday.

Tennessee Trial Held 39 Years Ago

Arizona to Vote on Teaching Evolution in Schools of State

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Thirty-nine years ago a jury was asked to decide whether the theory of evolution should be taught in the schools of Tennessee.

This November, half a million voters may decide whether the Darwinian theory should be taught in the schools of Arizona.

The famed "monkey trial" of 1925 was staged in the Tennessee hamlet of Dayton with a young biology teacher — John Scopes — the central figure. Scopes deliberately violated an anti-evolution law to force the court test.

For Arizona, the trial may be staged in voting booths. Behind the test is the Rev. Aubrey Moore, a Southern Baptist minister who once said, "Either God is a liar or evolution is a liar."

Needs 54,876 Signers

Moore is circulating petitions to place on the general election ballot a proposed state constitutional amendment to prohibit the teaching of evolution in public schools.

He needs 54,876 signatures to bring the measure before the voters.

Moore says he has 7,000 petitions in circulation and expects at least one-half to be returned. Each petition contains the space for 20 signatures.

The Moore proposal already has driven a wedge into the ranks of the Arizona clergy.

Forty-three Methodist ministers and Rabbi Albert Plotkin of Temple Beth Israel, Phoenix, issued a letter attacking a ban on the teaching of evolution.

The Tennessee jury of four decades ago found Scopes guilty and fined him $100.

Would Cancel License

Moore's proposal calls for a fine of $100 to $500 with automatic revocation of a violator's teaching certificate.

Arizona's fight over evolution started last fall when Harold Bates of Phoenix, member of the Nazarene Church, appeared before the State Board of Education.

He said schools were using science books that offered contents in conflict with the Bible. He insisted if evolution could not be barred, then teachers should take the initiative in excusing from classes all children whose parents consider the material objectionable.

The board asked State Atty. Gen. Robert Pickrell if it had the power to prohibit instructions in evolution.

Pickrell said a decision should be reached through a contested court case.

Works Both Ways

"Although the teaching of a particular subject may or may not infringe on the constitutional rights of a citizen, we must also be mindful that to prohibit the teaching of a particular subject which has long been accepted might well infringe on a valuable right of others—the right to receive an education," he said.

Moore criticized the board for its failure to take a position on evolution.

His debate dare was taken by U.S. Atty. Carl A. Muecke, a Roman Catholic.

They argued at the Jewish Community Center in Phoenix while a lone picket marched outside carrying a sign that read—"Don't let Muecke make a monkey out of you."

Muecke argued that "the Bible is not a book of science, but a book of revelations. An individual can believe in God and still believe in evolution."

Moore said, "The teaching of evolution contradicts God's words as related in the book of Genesis. Such instruction has led to delinquency among the young people. Today's youth has no moral responsibility to God."

Clergyman Opposed

The Rev. Hugh Shelby Lee, pastor of the Phoenix First Congregational church, said, "I am very much opposed to this thing that Mr. Moore is doing. Under his initiative petition it is conceivable that you could not teach literature or anything else without a bias based on God. This is dangerous to education."

Dr. Davis C. Hass, pastor of the North Phoenix Baptist church, Phoenix, said, "Evolution should be taught as a theory only. It should take its place alongside a host of other theories."

The Rev. Edward A. Sheldon, pastor of the Faith Evangelical Lutheran church, Phoenix, said "To ban the teaching of evolution in the schools is to say that you cannot have any teaching except what you believe. I think this is wrong."

Caught With Slow Stock

MIAMI (AP)—A pair of button shoes trapped two men in a theft case. They managed to sell 42 pairs of pants and 55 shirts. But the fancy, three-button shoes didn't move and they were caught with them. The owner of the store said he'd been trying to sell the same shoes for 10 years.

Americans in Australia

MELBOURNE (AP) — American actors are a growing contingent on the Australian stage.

Five recent arrivals from the states are Milo Boulton, Mary Orr and Frank Farmer, leads in "Never Too Late," and Jack Gardiner of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Just about everybody loves a parade with its stirring music, bright uniforms and the sight of Old Glory snapping in the breeze.

Tuesday night only a comparative handful of television viewers, those with access to color sets, could fully savor the spine-tingling sights in NBC's affectionate salute to the flag, a program called "The Red, White and Blue."

Most of those who saw the program found a sober, well-intentioned hour full of lofty sentiments and imaginative camera work, but all in white, black and gray. It was the color — brilliant reds and blues and greens — that turned the program into a memorable experience.

The program concentrated on a few patriotic events. One was an all-out Independence Day celebration held annually in Faith, N.C. population 493, which attracts 30,000 visitors.

Another was a loving Memorial Day observance in the burial ground of Noank, a small Connecticut town whose children know the names and deeds of Noank men who gave their lives in many wars. There was a memoir of Ellis Island as the camera's eye wandered over the deserted crumbling buildings occupied only by the ghosts of other days.

Here and there the program tossed out a question about an America "so flag-shy that Barbara Fritchie would be put down as a neighborhood eccentric." Narrator Walter Brennan pointed out that only 20 per cent of all Americans even own a flag.

But except for suggesting that flag-waving went out of fashion because it was done by "some mighty strange people," including Communists, American Nazis and the Ku Klux Klan, the program failed to diagnose the cause of the nation's apparent apathy about its flag.

"CBS Reports" tonight will be treating the subject of the constitutional guarantee of a citizen's right to keep and bear arms by examining two case histories of murder weapons. Because they are both still in the California courts, the program will not be seen either in Los Angeles or San Diego.

Rome Psychiatrist Is Going to Willowbrook

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Jack Hammond of Rome is the new director of the Willowbrook State School for Mentally Retarded Children, on Staten Island.

Dr. Paul H. Hoch, State Mental Hygiene Commissioner, appointed Hammond Tuesday to succeed Dr. Harold H. Berman, who retired in January.

NEIGHBOR PERSISTED IN TALKING

Q: A neighbor called me on the telephone the other day about a civic group she was organizing and wanted me to join. I said I was sorry I couldn't talk to her as I was on my way out to keep an appointment. She said, "I won't keep you long," and proceeded to tell me about it. Five minutes passed and I said, "I really must go." She said, "I'll just be another minute." Another five minutes passed. Finally, I said, "I'm sorry. I must go now. Thank you for calling. Goodbye," and hung up.

She is going around telling everyone that I hung up on her and how terribly rude I was. I think she is the one who was rude and that I was perfectly justified in doing what I did. May I please have your opinion on this?

A: After telling your neighbor that you were going out, she should not have persisted in talking to you and hanging up was your only defense. You should, however, have told her that you would call her back when you returned home.

WHERE TO SEND WEDDING PRESENTS

Q: My nephew is going to be married in California next month. I live on the East Coast as does his mother and most of his relatives. None of us will be able to go to the wedding. After their marriage, the bride and groom are planning a trip here at which time his parents will give a reception for them. I would like to know if I should send my wedding present to California or give it to them when they come here for the reception. His parents are giving them money for a wedding present and they too would like to know if they should send it before the wedding or present it to them at the reception?

A: Your present should be sent to the bride at her house in California where it will be displayed with all the other wedding gifts. The check from the groom's parents may be sent before the wedding or given to them privately when they come East. It should not be presented to them at the reception.

Table Manners

Q: Our 10-year-old son has a habit of eating each thing on his plate separately. That is, he eats all of the meat first, then one vegetable and then the other. My husband doesn't think this is a proper way to eat and always scolds him for it. I don't think it matters in the least. Will you please settle this dispute?

A: As long as he eats neatly, his choosing to eat each food on his plate separately is of no importance.

HENRY L. SCOTT

YMCA Hi-Y Clubs Planning Concert

The Hi-Y Clubs of the Kingston YMCA have completed arrangements to bring the hilarious virtuoso of the piano, Henry L. Scott, in his "Concerto For Fun" to the High School Auditorium on Tuesday, June 30.

Henry L. Scott, striving to prove to concert-goers that music can be fun, has become famous as "America's greatest artist in the humorous concert world." He is a master interpreter of Liszt and Chopin, and a speed demon when he reaches the jazz and rhumba numbers in his extremely varied program. Scott has appeared in Carnegie Hall, Town Hall, on Broadway, as soloist with symphonic orchestras, and in concert halls, colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada. His One Man Show is full of surprises and promises to be an exciting evening for both the serious and light-hearted alike.

Leon Van Heusen, supervisor of the Hi-Y clubs and youth secretary of the YMCA has been named chairman of the Henry L. Scott Benefit Show. Mr. Van Heusen announced that the proceeds from the show will go directly into the Hi-Y Development Fund for the YMCA Day Camp in Shokan.

Mrs. Clifford Henze is program chairman aided by Mrs. G. Wullschleger. Mrs. Edward Harms will be the commentator.

Other chairmen are Mrs. George Brown, decorations; Mrs. Leroy Vogt, music; Mrs. Joseph Pfrommer, picture gallery; Mrs. Alan Dumas, wardrobe mistress; Mrs. William Simpson, refreshment chairman, assisted by Mrs. Claude Palen, Mrs. Harry Nelson and Mrs. Harry Gersback.

Public is cordially invited.

Benefit Programs Are Scheduled for SPCA; Funds Are Needed for New Ambulance

A luncheon for the benefit of the Ulster County SPCA will be held at Watson Hollow Inn, West Shokan. The table settings this year are reported to be "delightful and intriguing." The theme is "Where did you go last winter?"

Mrs. Serman Hasbrouck of the Ulster Garden Club has done "Hawaii," Mrs. Louise Bishop of the New Paltz Club chose Nassau. Mrs. Claire Friedberg's table (Tongore Garden Club) gives her impression of Mexico. Mrs. Charlotte Peck sees "pink" when she recalls Bermuda while Miss Anne Graeffe remembers her Caribbean cruise as a mass of vivid color. Mrs. John Gill of the Little Garden Club of Kingston is a Florida booster while Mrs. Henry Winzenried of the Woodstock Club has done a spirited interpretation of New York's ever-changing skyline. Miss Florence Hubbard, also from the Woodstock Club, uniquely depicts the World's Fair.

The hostesses for the luncheon Thursday, the card party Saturday and the dinner Sunday are Mrs. Elizabeth Chilson, Mrs. Esther Wonderly, Mrs. Margaret Treadwell and Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli of Kingston, Mrs. Ken Davenport of Stone Ridge, Mrs. Christine Savel of Ellenville, Mrs. Johanna Hoyt of Wallkill, Mrs. William Chisholm and Miss Julia Moroney of Big Indian, Mrs. William VanDeBogart of Shady, Mrs. Bev. Pagello, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maust of Woodstock, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Petz of Poughkeepsie, Mrs. Elsie Davis of Olive Bridge, Mrs. Wesley John, Mrs. John Johansen, Mrs. George Heidenstrom and Mary Margaret McBride of West Shokan. The local SPCA Shelter is expanding rapidly and expenses are increasing proportionally.

There is an immediate need for a new ambulance and proceeds from the benefits scheduled will be used for this purpose.

Two Defenders, Two Mistakes

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

This may be mistake week in this column, but you can't really charge North and South with an error in getting to the slam. As a matter of fact 12 out of 14 pairs in a duplicate game got there and two succeeded in making it when the defense slipped.

The play started out the same way at both winning tables. South drew trumps, stripped the hand of hearts and diamonds and led a club toward dummy.

One West player made the mistake of playing the jack of clubs. Now all South had to do was to take dummy's ace and lead a second club from either hand.

West could either play his king and catch his partner's queen or let East make his queen, whereupon East would have to give declarer a ruff and discard.

At the other winning table, West did not make the mistake of playing the jack of clubs at his first opportunity. He played the three spot.

The ace was played from dummy and South returned to his own hand to lead another low club.

You can see that West should have played his king. West should have seen it also, but it is pretty hard for a player to realize that he should win a trick with a king when he can win it just as easily with the jack. So West played the jack. East had to overtake with the queen and lead a red card to give South that essential ruff and discard.

Cage Officials, DCSL Reach Mutual Agreement on Wages

Members of the Hudson Valley Board of Approved Basketball Officials and schools in the Dutchess County Scholastic league have reached a mutual agreement, thus bringing to a close, their one-year rhubarb.

A joint announcement, released today by Donald Nelson of Arlington High School, president of the DCSL, and Bernard McGovern of Wappingers, head of the IAABO, made known the following agreement:

1. All members of the Dutchess County Officials Assn. are encouraged to take the IAABO examination on Dec. 7, 1964. Those who pass will become IAABO members with the probation period waived.

2. Any DCSL school may request assignment of four officials from the IAABO with the officials to be assigned by Carl Farrar of Pawling, league secretary. The fees for IAABO officials will be two varsity men at $16 each and two for jayvee games at $9 each, a total of $50.

3. Any school desiring three officials may request them from the Dutchess County Officials Assn., also to be assigned by Carl Farrar with fees of $18-$18-$8 for a total of $44.

4. During the 1965-66 school year, only IAABO officials will be used.

5. IAABO officials will guarantee no change in their present $16-$16-$9-$9 scale for at least three years.

This joint statement means that schools in the DCSL will be able to use either officials organization for the 1964-65 season but must use the IAABO members only after the one year period.

If these missing average sheets are not received shortly, the secretary of the leagues involved will be given a deadline to submit the report or be called to appear before the KBA executive committee.

Vandalism At Rosendale Club

It was reported at the monthly meeting of the Rosendale Sportsmen's Association, Inc., that a window in the clubhouse had been broken since the last meeting and the contents of the ice box were missing along with a small amount of money.

The Rev. Jacob Wielhouwer was accepted as a member of the club.

The club will contact the Conservation Department to request trout stocking in local streams. A film Out of the North was shown. It dealt with the habits and migrations of duck and geese.

Plans are being completed for the annual banquet at the Alpine on Nov. 14. There will be no further meetings until September.

Dennis Gurrant Sets State Broad Jump Mark

Dennis Gurrant of Monroe-Woodbury shattered the state record in the broad jump at the Intersectional Track Meet Saturday at Cornell University with a leap of 24 feet, ¾ inch.

Gurrant set one of nine records at the annual meet. He sparked Section 9 to its highest finish in the tourney. The section finished with 26 points, giving it a tie for third place with Section 2.

Section 8 captured the event with 100 points and Section 1 was second with 48 points.

Gurrant broke the previous mark of 23-11¾, set earlier this year by George Rainey of White Plains. Rainey finished third to Gurrant on Saturday.

4:24.6 for Ennis

Several other Section 9 contestants did well in this state wide tournament. Dave (Chip) Ennis of Kingston ran a 4:24.6 mile as anchor man of the two mile relay team. His showing enabled the section to take second place in the relay. It was the fastest mile ever run by a KHS trackman.

Jim Wilkerson of Port Jervis placed fourth in the high jump behind record-setting Bill Tindall of Fox Lane, who cleared 6-4¾.

Jim Dolan of Wallkill finished third and Port's John Kinney was fifth in the mile. Johnson of Wantagh eclipsed the record in this event with a brilliant time of 4:18.9.

Don Castronovo of Oceanside High set a national record in the 180-yard low hurdles. He was timed in 18.1 seconds.

Another national mark was set in the triple jump with Warren Rockwell of Wheatly, L. I., sailing a distance of 48 feet, 11 inches.

Other meet standards were set by McCarary of Manhasset with a 1:54.8 in the 880; Gustafson of Wantagh with a 9:29.3 in the two mile; Sherman of Hericks, L. I. with a toss of 171 feet, 8¾ inches in the discus and Schoonover of Niskayuna with 13 feet 3½ inches in the pole vault.

Dave Heermans, the Arlington High strong boy, placed fifth in the shot. Reid of Calhoun whipped the 12-pound ball more than 60 feet for the first time in state high school competition. His record was six inches better than the previous mark.

$10-Million Flood Chases 3,000 From Homes, 30 Dead in Montana

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) —Flood waters chased at least 2,000 persons from their homes here Tuesday night after leaving 30 or more dead and hundreds homeless upstream.

Gov. Tim Babcock estimated damage from the flood, Montana's worst, at $10 million. President Johnson declared seven northwestern counties a disaster area.

In the northwest, hit first by the three-day flood, waters receded and rescue teams started mopping up.

3,000 Homeless

The Sun River crested 11 feet over its flood stage of 12 feet at midnight in this city of 70,000. A spokesman for the Air Force and National Guard's rescue operations estimated 2,000 to 3,000 persons were evacuated from homes here and in the flooded areas to the west and north.

Tom Sullivan, manager of a Red Cross shelter, said he had made records of about 1,300 persons evacuated from homes west of Great Falls and from an exclusive residential area surrounding a country club and golf course. The shelter is in West Side Junior High School, where more than 200 residents slept Tuesday night.

Bridge Holds Fast

The 14th Street bridge in Great Falls held fast despite a heavy pounding by water, trees, parts of farm buildings and other debris.

A natural gas pipeline under the Sixth Street bridge burst with a shudder that was felt by onlookers.

Air Force teams said they rescued at least 200 persons from rural areas. The Air Force was using Malmstrom Air Force Base at Great Falls for a headquarters for 11 helicopters and other craft.

Flying Supplies

Pilots made 38 flights Tuesday and were prepared to take additional supplies to flood victims evacuated to other areas.

At least 400 were homeless in the northwest counties of Cascade, Chouteau, Flathead, Glacier, Pondera, Teton and Toole, those designated for federal disaster relief. Hardest hit was the Blackfeet Indian Reservation.

Highway 2 was opened to East Glacier, the eastern gateway to Glacier National Park, and U.S. 89 was opened for the first time since Monday, allowing rescue operations to reach Babb, near the Canadian border.

30-Foot Wall of Water

A road was opened south of Browning to the Two Medicine Creek, but washed-out bridges and roads still had the Birch Creek area isolated. It was the Swift Reservoir dam on Birth Creek that broke Monday, sending a 30-foot wall of water downstream.

This water surged into the Marias River. Other flooding creeks pushed the Teton River over its banks. Both rivers flow into the Missouri River near Loma, population 200, which was evacuated Tuesday night.

Drinking water, contaminated in numerous smaller communities, was safe in Great Falls.

Random Missile Perfect

VANDERBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force fired a missile it picked at random from among the nation's combat-ready Minuteman missile bases.

The missile and its crew were sent to Vandenberg for the reliability test.

Crewmen fired it Tuesday—and it lifted off perfectly and streaked west down the Pacific missile range toward an undisclosed target area 5,000 miles away.

Bystanders Aid Two Attacked On Subway Trains

NEW YORK (AP)—Bystanders went to the aid of persons being attacked on subway trains in two incidents Tuesday.

Their interventions led to the arrests of three youths.

A woman was attacked Tuesday night by two boys who sat on each side of her on a subway train and tried to grab her purse.

When she screamed, three men of the 10 passengers in the car went to her assistance. Fists flew and the fighting was still going on when the train pulled into a station.

The rescuers, men in their 30's who did not want to be identified, held the two boys, aged 16 and 15, until a patrolman handcuffed them. The older of the two was charged with assault and robbery and the younger with juvenile delinquency.

Earlier, subway riders and a transit patrolman subdued a young Negro who had been harassing passsengers on a Queens subway train, by slapping them on the back, flipping up the men's neckties and pulling lapels.

Twenty distinct sounds that chimpanzees make in different situations have been identified. They influence one another's behavior by vocal calls.

HONORED ON RETIREMENT—A veteran of 38 years with the State Conservation Department, Charles A. Beehler, forest pest control foreman, was honored recently on the occasion of his retirement at a dinner in Kurta's Restaurant, Glenford. Beehler, a resident of Connelly, has also served his community as a school board member, fire commissioner, merit badge counselor for the Boy Scouts and is currently a member of the Town of Esopus Zoning Board. Principals at the dinner were Chet Yops, superintendent of the Bureau of Forest Pest Control; William Masterson, field supervisor; Beehler; Sid Bascom, district director.

Arrest Pickets At ALCOA Plant

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—Thirteen union pickets were arrested early today at the struck Massena plant of the Aluminum Co. of America after court orders prevented sympathy strikes threatened at seven other ALCOA plants.

Picketing here reached a pitch near the midnight strike time set by the Aluminum Workers International Union, and approximately 30 sheriff's men moved in.

The sheriff's department said the pickets arrested tried to prevent supervisory employes from entering the plant.

The 13 were jailed on charges of disorderly conduct, pending arraignment. Bail was set at $100 each.

One man, unidentified immediately, was treated at a hospital for minor injuries.

The eruption was the first since the union's 2,300 members here struk June 23 and idled more than 3,000.

The union struck in a dispute over reclassification of about 60 hourly jobs.

Last weekend, Eddie Stahl, union president, said union members at seven other plants in five states would walk out Tuesday night in sympathy.

But the company obtained temporary restraining orders.

The other plants are in Lancaster and Cressona, Pa., Chillicothe, Ohio; Davenport, Iowa; East St. Louis, Ill., and Yankeetown and Lafayette, Ind.

The disturbance here amounted to pushing and shoving, a spokesman for the sheriff's department said.

He said more than 50 pickets had gathered at the plant. A few hours later, however, the situation appeared normal, with the usual five or six pickets at each of the three gates.

State Dems Pick Up Ideas for Party Platform

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The Democratic State Platform Committee continues today gathering ideas for submission to writers of the party's 1964 national platform.

Some of the thoughts expressed Tuesday by Western New York Democrats in Buffalo called for the platform to pledge strong action on civil rights, education, combating unemployment, helping aged persons and youth and a fight against poverty.

The Buffalo session, second of three Upstate, attracted 17 witnesses.

Two Democratic candidates for Congress gave these views:

Robert V. Kelley, 38th district—The platform should call for medical care for the aged, increased social security benefits and bonuses for World War II and Korean War veterans.

Richard D. McCarthy, 39th district—The platform should show awareness of youth problems in areas of "employment, education and juvenile delinquency."

Ellenville Votes

three school district propositons:

1—A $2,595,000 proposition for a new junior high school building.

2—A $65,000 issue for a swimming pool.

3—A $45,000 proposition which would provide an observatory.

Marlboro district voters previously approved an addition of nine rooms and a science laboratory as approved by the State Department of Education. A proposition for the acquisition of the Lyons property on Plattekill Turnpike about a mile west of the village for a new junior high school site, also was previously approved.

$1,412,000 Dutchess Issue

Rhinebeck voters today will decide a proposition calling for a 29-room elementary school and alterations to the Central School building at an estimated cost of $1,412,000. State aid is estimated at $600,000.

Leslie Close, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee for New Building in the Rhinebeck Central School District, said the committee urges a large turnout for today's vote on the 29-room elementary school proposition.

Police Keep Watch on Tuscaloosa

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Watchful police kept a round-the-clock surveillance on the Negro community in Tuscalooosa today, alert for signs of new demonstrations in the wake of Tuesday's bloody street battle.

Negro leaders, some of them in jail as a result of the clash with police, gave no indication of their future course.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. ordered some of his key staff members sent in to Tuscaloosa. City authorities assumed that some effort might be made to keep the demonstrations alive despite the ban on street marches which touched off the wild outbreak of club swinging and rock and bottle throwing.

Ninety-six Negroes went to jail in the aftermath of a 45-minute siege which sent 33 Negroes and a policeman to a hospital with cuts and bruises and tear-gas sickness.

City police and sheriffs deputies, reinforced by plainclothes state investigators, patroled Negro sections through the night but found no evidence of organized Negro activity.

State troopers, some of whom stood guard at the University of Alabama campus in Tuscaloosa just a year ago when two Negroes were admitted to the university, reportedly were ready to move into the city if local authorities asked for them.

The clash between Negro demonstrators and police was the first outbreak of racial violence in this heavily industrialized community since the Autherine Lucy riot eight years ago. Miss Lucy, the first Negro enrolled as a student at the university, was driven from the campus by an angry white mob. Later she was expelled for accusing university authorities of conspiring with the rioting crowd.

Pills, Dog Bites Send 4 Children For Treatment

Local police were notified twice Tuesday that children from the same uptown address were treated for ingestion of pills, and another report noted that two youngsters in a downtown house had been bitten by a dog.

A report at 9:57 p. m., noted that Stephen Hossack, year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Hossack, of 112 Elmendorf Street, had been treated at the Benedictine Hospital after he had apparently taken an "unknown amount" of diet pills. He was admitted and reported in fair condition today.

Police were notified at 2 p. m. that two-year-old Desiree Hassock, of the same address, had been treated for ingestion of pills. She was not admitted.

A report at 8:37 p. m., said that Terry Wolfe, 7, and Jo Ann Bell, 8, of 140 Spring Street, had been bitten by a dog, owned by a resident of 146 Spring Street. They were treated at Kingston Hospital. Officers Kenneth Radel and Louis Sapp investigated. The health department and SPCA agent Arnold Adams were notified.

Ray Sadecki Stops Giants, 1-0; Wilhelm's Catcher Has Woes

6th Straight Win Cuts SF Margin; Mets Split Pair

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ray Sadecki certainly has matured quickly.

Two years ago he was being called a 10-year-old boy. Now Sadecki's 23—and the hottest pitcher on the St. Louis staff.

Sadecki gave still another indication of his transition Tuesday night, with a six-hit, 1-0 victory over Juan Marichal and the National League leading San Francisco Giants.

It was the first shutout of the season and the sixth straight victory as a starter for the onetime bad boy of the Cardinal staff.

Two years and four days before he had stepped to the mound against Cincinnati and faced just five batters. When he trudged off the mound, he had been tagged for five runs on two homers, a single and two of his own errors.

St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane, flushed with anger, cited Sadecki for acting "like a 10-year-old boy" and said his performance was "the worst exhibition of effort I've ever seen on a major league diamond."

Sadecki countered: "I don't see how I can pitch anymore for a guy like this," and said he was quitting the team.

Goes to Minors

Cooler heads prevailed and Keane and Sadecki wound up shaking hands. Sadecki also wound up in the minors.

Last year Sadecki returned and was 10-10. Then he got off to a quick 0-3 start this season. But he hasn't lost since as a starter, his one defeat coming in a relief role. His latest victory snapped a four-game St. Louis losing streak and cut the Giants league lead to one game over Philadelphia.

The Phillies split, ending a four-game skid with a 4-3 first-game victory before Pittsburgh rookie Steve Blass stopped them 4-0 on four hits in the nightcap.

In the only other single game, Cincinnati edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1. Houston defeated Milwaukee 6-5 and 4-1 while the New York Mets edged the Chicago Cubs 6-5 in 12 innings before losing 5-2.

Marichal, now 8-2, had allowed only three hits when the Cardinals finally struck for the game's only run in the ninth. Curt Flood started things with a single, moved up on a sacrifice and raced home on a single by Charley James.

Marichal collected two of the Giants' hits, but muffed a sacrifice in the third inning that probably cost a run. With Gil Garrido on second, Marichal missed a bunt and Garrido was thrown out at third. Harvey Kuenn then singled.

The Phillies broke through in the first game when Richie Allen hit his 11th homer, the first for Philadelphia in 75 innings. Art Mahaffey, however, couldn't hold a 4-0 lead and needed Ed Roebuck's relief help after Jerry Lynch closed the gap with a three-run homer.

Blass pitched his first major league shutout in the nightcap, bringing his record to 3-2 with heavy hitting support by Lynch and Bob Bailey. Lynch smacked a key two-run double for the Pirates and Bailey connected for a homer.

Gordy Coleman's homer in the second—the only hit off Dodger starter Joe Moeller in seven innings—and Marty Keough's eighth-inning single produced the Reds' runs. Cincinnati starter Jim O'Toole allowed only two hits in seven innings but went out when Keough batted and the Dodgers scored their run against Sam Ellis.

9th for Farrell

Dick Farrell brought his record to 9-1 for the Colts with his sixth straight victory but needed Hal Woodeshick's ninth inning relief help. With one run in and two on, Woodeshick got Joe Torre to hit into a double play, and struck out Ed Mathews.

Don Nottebart won his first game after seven losses with a five-hitter in the nightcap. Bob Aspromonte hit his second homer of the night in the eighth inning—only the second hit off Bob Sadowski—and started a four-run surge that won it for the Colts.

The Mets won the opener against the Cubs when Jesse Gonder singled with the bases loaded in the 12th inning, capping a two-run rally. Larry Bearnarth pitched 7 1-3 innings of hitless relief ball and wound up the winner, with a six-hit, 10-inning performance.

Snead Qualifies For U. S. Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Golf lovers everywhere heaved a big sigh of relief today—Sam Snead made it.

Slammin' Sammy, the man who has won a hundred tournaments but never the Open, will be trying for the 24th time when 150 of the world's best golfers tee off next week in the blue ribbon American championship at the Congressional Club in Washington, D.C.

Snead was among 94 who qualified in final 36-hole test Tuesday at Detroit; Woodmere, and Fort Worth, completing the field for the championship proper June 18-20.

Others were less fortunate, including former winners Cary Lew Worsham and such well-known touring pros as Dave Marr, Bob Duden and Wes Ellis.

Sam, now 52 but still strong and active and a sentimental favorite every time he tees up the ball in the Open, made the grade easily at Detroit, where big George Bayer led a strong field of the tournament stars with a score of 68-70—138.

Posts 144 Score

Snead's qualifying score was 71-73—144, five shots under the cutoff point for the 39 who made the grade at Detroit.

It was at Detroit that Bolt, the 1958 winner, shot a 77 for the first round, played 17 holes of the second and then left the course without taking off his spikes. Duden, the croquet-style putter from Portland, Ore., missed in a playoff of the 149 shooters.

Middlecoff, the golfing dentist who won the Open in 1949 and 1956, was a casualty at Woodmere, N.Y., where 36 qualifiers were led by the 230-pound Welshman, Dave Thomas.

Thomas shot the best 36 holes of the day with 68-67—135, leading such well-known players as Jay and Lionel Hebert, Doug Ford, Tommy Jacobs and Claude Harmon. Middlecoff missed at 148, as did Ellis, also 148, and Marr, the Masters runner-up, 147.

Other Leaders

Other sectional leaders were Bill Garrett, 75-71—146, at Fort Worth; Tom Strange, 69-70—139 at Washington, and Chuck Scally 69-70—139 at Pittsburgh. Worsham, who beat Snead in a playoff for the Open crown in 1947, missed out at Pittsburgh.

There are many who contend that Snead, despite his age, can still win the Open, and he'll probably never have a course more to his liking than Congressional, a layout built for the big hitter.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus are the favorites there. They were exempt from qualifying, as was the defending champion, Julius Boros, and 19 others.

Yanks Advance In British Golf

GANTON, England (AP) — George Blocker, who strides with the lazy gait of a cowboy, looks like the Gary Cooper of golf.

The easy-going New Mexican addresses the ball with same concentration and dedication as Cooper handled his guns under fire in countless movies.

George is a 24-year-old American Army corporal who plays his third-round match in the British Amateur Golf Championship today against Irishman Brian Malone.

Most experts reckon that, along with 44-year-old Dale Morey of High Point, N.C., he's the American most likely to shoot down a few of the favorites before the tourney ends Saturday.

People around the golf clubs know all about Morey. He's a former Walker Cup player and won this year's North and South.

In Tuesday's second round, he chalked up the day's biggest victory—an 8 and 6 pasting of Orville Goens of Des Moines, Iowa.

Seven Americans have advanced to the third round, including 50-year-old John Penrose of Philadelphia, who is competing in his 10th British Amateur. Four more Americans play second-round games today, and if they're successful, will decide the third-round matches in the afternoon.

Veteran Hurler Saves Contest For AL Leaders

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't feel sorry for J.C. Martin. Let Ray Katt, Gus Triandos, Joe Ginsberg and Charley Lau hand out the sympathy. They're the ones who know what it's like to try and catch the butterflies Hoyt Wilhelm throws.

Martin had one of those nightmarish evenings that all of Wilhelm's catchers experience now and then as the White Sox whipped the second-place Baltimore Orioles 9-5 Tuesday and extended their American League lead to 1½ games.

Juan Pizarro was breezing to his seventh victory with a 6-1 lead through seven innings and Martin was taking it easy while Camilo Carreon handled the big mitt.

Three Oriole hits in the eighth brought Al Lopez out of the Sox dugout on the run and he called for Wilhelm. When the veteran reliever got the high sign, it meant Martin had to go to work too and that's when the trouble started.

One of Wilhelm's flutterballs got away and Sam Bowens, who was on third, started for the plate. Martin, who is used to this sort of thing, made a quick recovery and Bowens pulled up short. J.C. fired to third to try and get the runner but the ball sailed into left field and the runner scored.

Another Gets Away

Moments later another Wilhelm knuckler fluttered away and moved Norm Siebern to third. He later scored on Al Weis' throwing error.

In the ninth J.C. allowed two more pitches to get by, setting up the Orioles' final run. In case you haven't been counting, that's three passed balls and a throwing error in two innings of catching Wilhelm.

In other AL games Tuesday, Washington swept two games from Kansas City 8-4 and 5-1, Los Angeles stopped Cleveland 5-1, Boston whipped New York 5-2 and Dptroit walloped Minnesota 16-1.

Martin once said Wilhelm's knuckler "dances like it was something bewitched," but all he has to do is catch it. Pity the poor guys who have to swing against it.

The aging knuckler lowered his earned-run average to 1.50 with his 14th save as the streaking Sox won their 11th game in the last 15.

Pizarro, who ran his record to 7-2, had the key hit for Chicago, a two-run single in the five-run White Sox' fourth.

Chuck Hinton slammed six hits in the doubleheader for the Senators and ran his average to .350. Buster Narum and Tom Cheney went the distance to gain the victories. It was Cheney's first triumph since July 4 of last year.

Chuck Cottier's three-run homer helped Narum overcome a shaky start in the opener and Mike Brumley's bases-loaded tripled eased Cheney's way in the nightcap.

Fred Newman threw a six-hitter at the Indians and Bob Perry cracked his first home run as the Angels collected 13 hits.

Max Alvis homered for Cleveland's only run.

Radatz Saves It

Dick Radatz saved Boston's victory for Earl Wilson as the Red Sox tagged Al Downing with his second loss. It was Radatz' 29th appearance and 17th in Boston's last 26 games.

Roger Maris and Bobby Richardson homered for the Yankees.

Don Demeter had three hits including two home runs for five RBI to pace Detroit's attack. Al Kaline also had three hits for the Tigers and raised his average to .298, a jump of 85 points in the last two weeks.

Bill Freehan also homered for Detroit and Harmon Killebrew tagged his 17th for the Twins.

Nylon Mystery Solved

NEW YORK (AP)—An atmospheric fluke caused a rash of runs in women's nylons in the city recently, according to the Department of Air Pollution Control. The guilty agent was nitrogen dioxide gas released during blasting operations by a construction company, working in the downtown area. Because of the damp, heavy air on that day, the gas hovered near the surface instead of being dissipated. When a sufficient pocket of it touched a stocking, it dissolved some of the chemical elements and "laddered" the stocking.

NIP AND TUCK AT SHEA STADIUM—Just the thing for a squeeze play seems to be the opinion that Mets manager Casey Stengel has of the Maine lobster held by pitcher Carlton Willey — the only major leaguer from Maine. Willey was host at a lobster party at rain-soaked Shea Stadium to help publicize the product of his home state. (AP Wirephoto)

Kingston to Host Tenpin Council Annual Tourney

The Kingston Bowling Association will host the Northeast Council of City Bowling Associations Sunday, June 21, at Sangi's Bowlero. Fifteen regional city associations are expected to compete.

The tournament brings together the champions in team, doubles and singles of the competing associations.

Kingston's 1964 champions in the 27th annual local tournament—Hurley Sand and Gravel—will represent the Kingston Bowling Association. The team includes Herb Petersen, Ralph Longendyke, Gene Celleli, Chet Herringshaw and Craig Smith. Chris Gallo and Larry Petersen will represent Kingston in the doubles, and Dick Howard is the singles standard bearer.

ROYAL PLEASURE—Queen Elizabeth II registers delight while watching a polo match at Smith's Lawn, near Windsor, England, in which Prince Philip scored three goals to bring his team a 6-4 win.

Tariffless Tea

BERNE, Switzerland (AP)—Berne authorities in agreement with the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and the European Trade Association recently announced the abolition of all duties on tea, so that Switzerland may soon be the country serving the cheapest "cuppa" ever.

The Indian Embassy immediately launched a campaign promoting Indian tea, with young Indians in national costumes distributing leaflets and free samples. Lovers of China tea were expected to get the same service.

Networks, AP Will Pool Vote Coverage

NEW YORK (AP)—The three major radio-television networks and The Associated Press will pool the collection of election returns in the November presidential, senatorial and gubernatorial races.

United Press International was also reported considering participation in the program, to be called Network Election Service.

100,000 Reporters

The announcement Tuesday, issued after a meeting of officials of the organizations, said the service will use more than 100,000 reporters to cover returns at the precinct or county level.

The announcement added:

of Network Election Service. will be administered by a board of directors consisting of one representative from each network. They will be Arnold Snyder, manager of election coverage for ABC News; William Eames, editorial director of the CBS News election unit; and Frank Jordan, manager of election coverage for NBC News. The Associated Press will participate as a nonvoting member of Network Election Service.

"Returns will be reported simultaneously to each of the three individual networks, which will post such returns on a state-by-state basis in their respective studios on election night. In addition, statewide totals in the presidential elections will be relayed to a single tabulating center in New York, which will maintain the running national tabulation on presidential returns. The tabulating center will then transmit its national totals to each network, so that the same national figure will be available to each network simultaneously.

Free to Continue Analysis

"Under the agreement reached at meetings today, each network is free to continue individual election analysis systems, which in the main involve the analysis of returns from representative precincts. Each network will bear the responsibility of manning such precincts and communicating the results. These returns, however, will not be included in network election service returns posted by the networks."

News; Fred W. Friendly, president of Columbia Broadcasting System News; William R. McAndrew, National Broadcasting Co. executive vice president in charge of NBC News; and Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, commenting on the step taken, said jointly:

Great Step Forward

"The creation of Network Election Service, is, we believe, a great step forward in the gathering and dissemination of news. The American voter and the public at large will be the beneficiaries of faster, and most accurate returns. At the same time, network election service will do much to eliminate the confusion created by several different vote counts, based on reports from different precincts. We expect Network Election Service to become the authoritative source of returns in all future elections."

The meeting was held in the Columbia Broadcasting Systeme headquarters.

Gallagher, in a separate statement, said:

"We hope that this pool participation will be the first step toward creating a national election bureau which would collect vote returns at all state levels for all members of the press, newspapers, radio and television. In this way we could not only render a better service to our members and the public but also in the long run effect economies.

"The Associated Press will continue to report and count the state races since these are not included in this year's pool arrangement.

"These include races for state offices other than governor and senate and various state propositions that are always on the November ballots.

"Full mechanics of the pool arrangement remain to be worked out.'"

Official Count

Fathers Getting Chance to Be King for a Day

A lucky father will reign as "King for a Day" on Father's Day, June 21, as a result of a contest sponsored by the local Montgomery Ward store, it was announced today.

"The store promises a day the father will long remember. The contest starts today and ends June 20, and a unique feature is that the King will receive his crown due to efforts of either a son or a daughter.

Blanks in Freeman

Any child up to 17 years old may enter, and as an entrant merely explains in 25 words or less, "Why My Dad is the Greatest." Mothers may help the youngsters write their entry.

Official entry blanks may be found in today's issue of The Freeman, or they may be obtained at the customer accommodation center at Wards.

In addition to having his dad crowned as King for a Day, the boy or girl will receive a bicycle, and share "in many of dad's wonderful adventures." The winner will be selected on Saturday, June 20 at 8 p. m., by a committee of three local radio executives; Dick McCarthy of WGHQ, Larry Swarz, of WKNY, and Bob Beckwith, of WBAZ.

Long Gift List

The King is due to receive a "long list of gifts" from the Ward store and on Sunday morning, his Queen and any daughters will receive corsages.

A chauffeur-driven car from DeWitt Cadillac will drive the family to church or to visit relatives. The coronation ceremony will be broadcast at noon. Then the entourage will go to the Skyline Restaurant, Catskill, for luncheon. The afternoon schedule includes a visit to the Catskill Game Farm. A dinner at Whale Back Inn, Red Hook is planned for Sunday evening, and other places of interest in the area are to be visited.

Special Luncheon

The program continues Monday when His Majesty will be driven to his place of employment, with a luncheon planned for the King and his employer. Later in the week the King and Queen are due for trips to the Monticello Raceway, and are to be guests of the New York Mets.

The contest offers 200 consolation prizes as an inducement for boys and girls to enter.

Charles Levengood, Ward store manager, said the contest will be the most exciting event sponsored by the store. The lucky father, whose child wins the contest, he said, will have "an unforgettable time."

Hudson District Lutheran Clergy Hear CORE Aims

Five members of the Ulster County Chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality met for three hours of informal discussion of the civil rights issue with the Hudson District Ministerium of the New York Synod of the Lutheran Church in America at the Kitchen Restaurant, Hyde Park, Monday.

Following the invocation by Woodstock pastor, the Rev. Norman Krapf, CORE speaker Jennifer Miller talked briefly about the local chapter's work to date and specifically called upon the clergy present to "stand up and be counted."

In the dialogue that followed, the concensus was that it was the Christian responsibility of each pastor to work actively for civil rights within his community. How ministers can reach their parishioners as individuals and see to it that they initiate and follow through on actions designed to end discrimination in housing, employment and education must, it was agreed, be worked out by each pastor individually as the particular nature of his community demands it.

It was also the consensus that each pastor must now "stand up and be counted," and that for individual parishioners to have "real freedom, they must be made to face up to the problem of enforcing freedom for every other human being."

In thanking the Lutheran ministers for inviting them to meet with them, the CORE members pointed out that as yet, except for the Rev. Reginald McHugh, of the First Immanuel Church of Kingston, and the Unitarian Fellowship of Ulster County, no representative of the religious community of Kingston has yet publically taken a stand with CORE in bringing about an immediate end to discrimination in local housing, employment and education.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Cigarette issues were fairly strong in a generally advancing stock market early this afternoon. The trading pace was a little quicker than yesterday's.

Gains of key stocks were mostly from fractions to a point.

Du Pont gave an extra boost to the averages with a rise exceeding 2.

Cigarette issues were bought in living fashion following a report that U.S. Surgeon Gen. Dr Luther Terry said it would take at east 10 years to bring about significant changes in the nation's smoking habits.

The market was higher from the start. Some gains wilted later but the list remained well ahead.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

REV. GEORGE P. WERNER

The largest gathering of Methodists ever to assemble in an annual conference on the eastern seaboard convened this morning at Drew University and brought to an end racial segregation in the administration of Methodist churches in the New York Area.

More than 1,300 ministerial and lay delegates representing 200,000 members of 591 churches marked the merger of the New York and New York East Conferences and welcomed into membership eight churches of the Central (Negro) Jurisdiction which transferred from the Delaware Conference.

A rising ovation was given the delegates from these churches as their names were read by the Rev. Dr. William James of Metropolitan Community Church, New York City, program chairman. The churches and their ministers are Brooks Memorial Methodist Church, Jamaica, the Rev. Dr. Charles L. Carrington; Redeemer Methodist Church, Brooklyn, the Rev. Lester V. Baker; Newman Memorial Church, Brooklyn, the Rev. Henri Deas; St. Matthew's Church, Ossining, the Rev. Randolph Fisher; John Wesley Church, Brooklyn, the Rev. Edward H. Holmes; Butler Memorial Church, the Bronx, the Rev. W. P. Johnson; Trinity Methodist Church, White Plains, the Rev. C. Edgar Jordan; and St. Luke's Methodist Church, New Rochelle, the Rev. Readus J. Watkins.

Dr. Carrington has been named executive secretary of the Board of Missions and Church Extension for the new conference, and another Negro, the Rev. Dr. Charles L. Warren of St. Mark's Methodist Church, New York City, will be appointed a district superintendent on Sunday afternoon.

Ulster Is Included

The new conference includes Manhattan, Queens, Brooklyn, the Bronx, Long Island, Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Ulster, Orange, Delaware, Sullivan, Greene, Columbia and parts of Albany and Schoharie Counties in New York State; Fairfield, Litchfield, Hartford and the western half of Middlesex Counties in Connecticut; also five churches in Pennsylvania.

Reporting on the activities of the New York East Conference in the last year, the Rev. Harrison E. Davis of East Williston, superintendent of the Brooklyn North District, stated that the subject of race had received more attention from the district superintendents than any other subject.

He mentioned meetings of pastors and pastoral relations' committees working toward appointments of ministers across racial lines and added, "We are not with the subject only while the fad is on, we are with it for the duration and we are counting on you pastors and lay people to rally to the cause of justice and brotherhood."

Rev. Werner Cites Gains

The Rev. Mr. Davis and the Rev. George P. Werner, superintendent of the Kingston District who reported for the New York Conference, commended the churches for the capital fund campaigns they conducted last year for church extension, homes for the aged, camp development, seminary scholarships and city work. More than $5 million has been pledged over a three-year period and $1 million has been collected.

The Rev. Mr. Werner also cited the advances made in racial integration and said that 95 per cent of the churches in the conference had indicated willingness to accept a pastor without regard to color.

He thanked laymen and clergymen for their support of those directly involved in the civil rights struggle and urged positive support of Negro leaders "like Roy Wilkins, Bayard Rustin, Martin Luther King and James Farmer who labor in political and economic arenas for absolute equality of opportunity."

The Rev. Mr. Werner also asked the churches to mobilize their resources in each community to reclaim school drop-outs, provide tutoring services and supervised after-school study and recreation.

The principal task of the church for the coming year is the development of new techniques of evangelism in rural areas as well as in the cities, the Rev. Mr. Werner said.

East conference held its concluding individual business session yesterday and the new body met for the first time last night for the sacrament of Holy Communion administered by Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke and the district superintendents.

Goldwater Eyes

next November — not with an eye to building his convention power.

An Associated Press survey now puts his delegate total at 540—with indications he could push it past the nominating number next week.

Efforts to blunt his drive appeared to have collapsed at the National Governors Conference in Cleveland.

"I will have open ears and an open mind to anybody the party suggests to run with me," Goldwate rs dia iongsLsAe Itneh water said in Los Angeles the night he won the California primary.

Will Have Strange Hand

Nevertheless, a top aide said Goldwater "contemplates handling this in the orthodox way. He will have a very strong hand in the selection of a running mate."

The aide pointed out that three of the four men Goldwater has mentioned privately are from states that rank among the most potent in the Electoral College: New York with 43 votes, Pennsylvania with 29 and Ohio with 26. Kentucky has 9.

Rhodes, 53, is a former Ohio state auditor who became governor in 1963, winning in his second bid for the office.

Scranton, 46, long rated a dark-horse contender for top spot on the ticket, served a term in the House before he became governor. The Pennsylvania leader was a World War II flier and still is a member of the Air Force Reserve unit Goldwater commands.

Morton is 57, and a former chairman of the Republican National Committee. He was elected to the House in 1946, served three terms, and was an assistant secretary of state from 1953 until 1956, the year he won his Senate seat.

Miller is retiring from Congress—and as Republican national chairman—after 14 years in the House. The 50-year-old party chairman also served as chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee. He plans to return to his law practice in northwestern New York State.

Married in TV Rites

The astronauts were married in a televised white wedding at the flower - decked Palace of Marriages in Moscow. At the reception afterward, with Premier Khrushchev as host, the newlyweds were given a "symbolic present" by Soviet military leaders. It was a little doll —a girl.

Khrushchev said he was a sort of foster father to the young couple, both of whom lost their fathers during World War II.

"I didn't bring any baby buggies or pacifiers,'" he told them. "If you have a baby, the gifts won't fail to come."

All Soviet space pilots were on hand for the wedding, which got more public attention than any Russian marriage since Czar Nicholas II married Queen Victoria's granddaughter in 1893.

Dollar Averaging Makes Monthly Plan Attractive

Q) "May I please have your candid opinion about the Monthly Investment Plan?" B.W.

A) I will be very pleased to give it, since I find, rather to my surprise, that I have not discussed this method of investment for over a year.

The Monthly Investment Plan is offered by certain members of the New York Stock Exchange. It permits you to buy stock or stocks listed on that exchange by either monthly or quarterly payments as low as $40.

The advantages of the Plan are that it encourages systematic savings, and that it enables you to acquire shares at an average price over a period of time.

Its only disadvantage is that the commission charges on small transactions are relatively high — but this factor, in my opinion, is outweighed by the advantages of dollar averaging.

Q) "I was interested in your comment in a recent column where you stated you were heartily in favor of averaging down in a strong stock such as Dow Chemical. I was wondering if you feel the same about National Cash Register, which our Investment Club owns at a price of $113 a share." W.B.

A) I'm sorry to say I do not.

In many respects National Cash Register is as strong a stock as Dow Chemical, but National's earnings have gone down in each of the past two years while Dow's have been gaining sustantially.

National Cash Register's share earnings were only pennies above the 1955 level. National dominates the cash register business on a worldwide basis, but its future growth depends largely on the success of its new accounting machines and computers.

The technical action of the stock has been very poor, and I believe you would be better advised to put new funds into Arlan's Department Stores — a discount situation that has shown very strong growth.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Steady Growth

A small group of local men met April 15, 1853, to organize the State of New York Bank in order to meet the increasing demands of the steadily progressing community. If the founders of the bank could look back today they would no doubt marvel at the changes made over the period of years.

President Abraham Lincoln recommended a National Bank Act to Congress in 1864 and the following year Congress adopted the act on April 15, 1865. Complying with the new act, directors of the State of New York Bank officially changed the name of the bank to the State of New York National Bank.

The brick building at Wall and John Streets, now occupied as the bank's installment credit office, was built in 1865.

All Enemies to Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Cubans were told Tuesday night it doesn't matter whether the Democrats or the Republicans win the U.S. election because both will be bad for Latin America.

Communist leader Blas Roca said in a radio-television appearance: "There are some candidates who wouldn't be as bad as that madman Goldwater but both parties are enemies of Latin America."

ing unjust discrimination," said the leader of the march, the Rev. Andrew Young.

Young was struck in the mouth, knocked down and beaten but not hurt seriously. Wiping at a cut on his lip, Young shrugged off questions whether he would ask for federal protection.

He is an aide to the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, who was scheduled to arrive here today.

300 in March

Tuesday night's march started from St. Mary's Baptist church, a few blocks from the downtown area. The target, as in past marches, was the old slave market in the city park near the riverfront.

Nearly 300 demonstrators walked quietly downtown without incident. As they headed back toward the church they ran into trouble. White marchers were singled out.

A big white man, weighing about 230 pounds, pummeled to the pavement the Rev. William England, 33, Boston University chaplain, who is white. The assailant then methodically kicked and stomped the chaplain, slumped with his hands over his head.

Negro Boy Helps

The thud of the kicks was punctuated with groans from the victim. A slender Negro boy about 12, threw his body over the chaplain.

Policemen attempted no arrests of the assailants.

An injunction by U.S. Dist. Judge Bryan Simpson opened the way for a renewal of night marches, banned by police order May 28 after white youths attacked newsmen during a night protest.

But 76 were counted as Rockefeller's supporters, two had offered themselves as Goldwater men and four ran as uncommitted.

Besides Rockefeller and Young, the other eight to be named as delegates-at-large will be in the governor's corner, giving him a total of 86 of the 92 votes.

Rockefeller has vowed he will fight for a platform that reflects what he calls progressive Republican principles. His spokesmen undoubtedly will collide with members of the GOP's conservative wing, which regards Goldwater as its leader.

Po'keepsie Town Assessment Roll Shows Big Jump

Town of Poughkeepsie's assessment roll has increased approximately $6,500,000 from last year's figure of $44,954,104, according to Town Assessor Robert Lane.

Lane made known that on the basis of a reassessment recently completed in the town, plus new construction, the town assessment total is $51,545,104, only $14,246,602 less than the total assessment last year of the City of Poughkeepsie, which was $66,700,706.

The town assessor noted that there has been an increase of about $4,000,000 on exhisting properties and $2.5 million in new assessments he anticipates reassessments he anticipates there will be a reduction of at least $2 per $1,000 of assessed valuation from the present $26.72 tax rate, provided spending remains at the present level.

Lane said that the greatest share of the increase in assessments has been given to owners of commercial properties. The last townwide reassessment was in 1954.

The assessor said he conducted the reassessment with Walter Donnaruma, Kingston, formerly of the State Board of Equalization and Assessments and Haynes Jorgensen, former Town of Poughkeepsie assessor, and Arthur Plog, assistant town assessor, as consultants.

Katrine Man to Attend Active Duty Training

The 15 officers of the Albany Selective Service Section of the New York Army National Guard including Maj. Harold J. Twiss of Lake Katrine depart this weekend for a two-weeks tour of annual active duty training at Hanscom Air Force Base in Bedford, Mass.

These officers will participate in a conference, directed by National Selective Service Headquarters, with other National Guard officers and Reserve officers of the various armed services assigned to Selective Service duty in the New England states.

Commander of the Albany unit is Colonel Robert Rienow of Ravena, an author and professor of government at State University in Albany.

This year the active duty training is focused on staffing State Selective Service Headquarters in the event these officers are called for full-time duty. A highlight of the conference will be a visit by National Selective Service Director General Lewis B. Hershey who will address the conferees.

Plattekill Fetes 150 Dignitaries From Puerto Rico

Governor Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico and the Lady Mayor of San Juan, Felisa Rincon, who had been scheduled to visit the Town of Plattekill Monday on a good-will mission, were detained in Washington and were unable to accompany the group of Puerto Rican dignitaries who paid a visit to the town.

The Town of Plattekill was selected as a community representative of an area in which a large number of Puerto Ricans reside as a part of a tour for vising Puerto Ricans.

Among the 150 guests who were entertained by the Town of Plattekill residents Monday was the S. Polance Abreu, speaker of the Puerto Rican House of Representatives, and over 40 mayors from Puerto Rica.

Received at the entrance to the town by town officials and civic leaders, the government representatives joined a motorcade to the Villa Nueva where a luncheon-dinner was served followed by a speaking and entertainment program.

Joseph Martorana, Town of Plattekill supervisor, extended greetings to the visiting officials and expressed appreciation for their visit to Plattekill. Other speakers in addition to Abreu included Adrian Torres, president of the Mayor's Association of Puerto Rica and Leo Cabranec, executive director.

56th Annual Parley Ends Today

Governors Conference Brings No Big Opposition to Barry

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The annual Governors Conference, which has had all the aspects of a miniature Republican convention, ends today with Sen. Barry Goldwater galloping almost unchallenged toward the GOP presidential nomination.

The 56th annual convention hasn't produced a moderate Republican opponent for the conservative senator from Arizona.

Skip the Challenge

But none of the GOP governors who had claimed that Goldwater's views are not in the mainstream of Republican thinking wanted to take on the senator.

Latest to bow out was Gov. George Romney of Michigan. He announced through his press secretary Tuesday that he would not become an active candidate. Romney said he would accept a draft, but wouldn't go back on a 1962 commitment to Michigan voters not to seek national office this year.

This announcement came after Nixon said he had urged Romney to run, and Romney said he had been urged by some fellow governors to make the race and would consider it.

Earlier, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania retired from the field after former President Dwight D. Eisenhower put on a go-and-stop operation in his behalf. Eisenhower urged Scranton to make himself more available, then advised the governor not to join any cabal against Goldwater.

Rocky Only Opponent

This left Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York as Goldwater's only avowed opponent. And it was evident that none of the other governors, nor Nixon, wanted to support him.

Nixon, who flew out of town after his strenous efforts to launch a stop-Goldwater movement failed, warned party moderates that there is less than a 50-50 chance of preventing Goldwater's nomination.

He told a news conference in Baltimore that if Romney fails to actively seek the nomination it will go to Goldwater on the first ballot at the convention in San Francisco next month.

Nixon said both Rockefeller and Scranton are virtually out of the race and his own prospects are remote.

Nixon called his efforts to get a governor into the race an attempt to create a "third force" between Goldwater and Rockefeller. Asked if he wasn't trying to stop Goldwater after having assured the senator prior to the June 2 California primary that he wouldn't join in such a move, Nixon replied:

"Many Goldwater supporters would so construe it. I don't."

Nixon said he was trying to advance a candidate who would represent the principles of the party as they are thought of in the industrial states of Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and California.

Nixon said he plans to meet next week with Eisenhower. He said Eisenhower, who talked with Romney at the conference, has spoken highly of the Michigan governor.
